Copeland Pleads for Congress to Quit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's wealth destruction program was under consideration in the senate today in the form of a 254 million dollar tax bill reported by the finance committee. It was blasted as a "snare and a delusion," a "bungling budgetary burlesque," a "fiscal fiasco," and a species of "midsummer madness" conceived in the "picnic spirit of irresponsibility."

Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware, both Republicans, turned heavy artillery of ridicule and derision upon the measure and a motion to recommit and kill it for this session, made by the former, was ardently supported by Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York, a Democrat.

The motion to recommit, with instructions to the finance committee to report out a bill at the next session, was defeated on a roll call vote of 55 to 19.

He Finds Congress Sick.

Senator Copeland, a physician, long has contended that congress is sick at heart and in mind and in no condition to legislate. Today he renewed this plea in supporting Senator Vandenberg's motion.

"Newspapers report that more than 100 members of the other body are ill and I know that many members of this body are," he declared. "If that is true, what's the use of staying here to pass this bill that will result only in destruction? Let it go back to the committee for further study in the light of ultimately balancing the budget, so that we may begin to put our house in order."

Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the finance committee, sat patiently under the thundering uproar of protest and denunciation, with all of which, it is well known, they privately agree. Nevertheless they were confident that the motion to recommit would not prevail and determined that President Roosevelt should have his way, Hear Only Prepared Speeches.

The leaders were solaced by the temper of the opposition remarks, for they indicated clearly that there will be no prolonged effort to defeat the tax program. Debate took the form of prepared speeches for the record, for it was obviously futile to do anything else. Senator Hastings summed up the Republican attitude in these words:

"I do not propose to try to delay the passage of this bill. I do not propose to try to amend it. I want it to stand out as one of the Roosevelt accomplishments. I want those who agree with him to put their stamp of approval upon it. If Mr. Roosevelt thinks that he has made political capital for himself and his party, let him make the most of it, but my prediction is that when the next campaign is over and before the time comes for any part of the income taxes levied in this bill to be paid, Mr. Roosevelt, if reëlected, will be urging upon the congress a real tax bill and one that affects millions of our people who are being deluded by this thing that is now before us."

Program "Never Justified."

Senator Vandenberg delivered the principal attack upon the tax bill, arguing from the dual premise that there is no excuse for any tax measure at this time and no justification at any time for such a program as that proposed by President Roosevelt.

"If we must have an ill-timed and ill-starred, tax bill," he declared, "should it be a tinfoil measure which snipes inconclusively at wealth, but which will neither produce revenue commensurate with our spendings nor achieve any useful social purpose; or shall we be honest with our problem and, pursuant to the temporary theory of the finance committee's majority before it marched up the hill and down again, seek such schedules as do not wholly stifle economic progress, but which clearly notify the American people that a painful pay day may be just around the corner, that prejudicial wealth taxes are but a drop in the bucket of our prodigal disbursements, and that our whole

Hunt Motive in Park Official's Slaying

TANGLED CLEWS OBSTRUCT QUIZ IN RIDE MURDER

Chicago police last night were confronted with one of the major murder mysteries of recent years in the slaying of Kenneth A. Morrison, 47 years old, assistant controler of the Chicago consolidated park district. Morrison, an expert accountant, known as a hard working, family loving man of exemplary character, was found shot to death in his own automobile in front of 628 Alaska street, on the near north side, at 6 o'clock in the morning.

The most baffling aspect of the case was the apparent lack of motive. Robbery obviously did not figure in the case, since the victim's valuables were intact. After an all day investigation police said they were unable to find the slightest evidence of habits or connections that would enmesh him or cause any one to want to kill him.

Suspect Park Deal Mystery.

On the last night of his life Morrison had worked until 10:50 o'clock at the voluminous detailed bookkeeping attendant upon the consolidation of the city park districts. He was engaged specifically upon the transfer of the old west park properties.

In the absence of concrete evidence police were turning last night to a possible theory that the slaying was the result of some one's desire to gain possession of records or documents that figured in the transfer, or that the accountant had uncovered some shortage or other irregularity and had refused to help cover it up.

In testing this theory, however, police did not lose sight of another possibility that Morrison's death was brought about by a disgruntled employé of the park board. Neither did they neglect a thorough investigation covering half a dozen other fronts.

Find Note from Woman.

The theory that a disgruntled employé might have killed Morrison was given some support by the finding of a note, apparently in a woman's handwriting, in one of his pockets.

The note said: "You are the ugliest creature God ever made, I do believe." The note had been signed, the police said, but the signature had been torn off.

Finding of this note also gave some strength to a surmise that an affair with a woman might have led to the murder. This premise, however, was unsupported by any other facts uncovered during the day.

Continuing the investigation along these lines, the police learned last night that Morrison frequently had driven several girl employés of the park district to their homes in his automobile.

In opposition to both the disgruntled employé and fund shortage theories General Superintendent George T. Donoghue said that no employé had been fired from Morrison's department in recent months. He stated also that had Morrison uncovered any outstanding irregularities in the books of the various park districts upon

HAILS SELF REAL INVENTOR OF NRA, BUT FACES EVICTION

Greenwich, Conn., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Greenwich man who claims to have originated the NRA scheme before the country's industrial recovery has been given until next Monday night to vacate his apartment, for arrears in rent.

That order was issued today by Justice of the Peace William S. M. Fiske, following a hearing of the contentions of the man who has been called the "daddy of the NRA," Frank E. Vanderhoof, and his landlord, Dominic A. Roina, lawyer. Mr. Vanderhoof has a sheaf of letters from President Roosevelt.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut and several members of congress support his claim that he suggested the NRA plan to high government officials before it was put into operation. For a long time he has been trying to get official recognition.

Wives Jailed in Bookie Raid; Call Husbands

There were a dozen unhappy reunions at the Shakespeare avenue police station last night after Capt. Patrick Gallery notified husbands that their wives had been arrested in a handbook raid and would be held until called for.

The handbook was at 3403 Fullerton avenue, where the police raiders arrested 45 men and 20 women, taking them all to the station in patrol wagons.

Singling out the four keepers who gave their names as Harry List, Sam Dubow, Albert Madarset, and Joseph Kucera, Capt. Gallery let the other 41 men go home.

Finds No Relief Clients.

Capt. Gallery then turned to the women.

"How many of you are on relief?" he demanded. There was a little nervous laughter, but no hands were raised.

"All right, then, I'll trouble you all for your names—your right names and addresses," said the captain. There was a wail of protests.

"Those of you who are married," said Gallery, "I'm going to let your husbands know where you are so they can come and get you out of here. If you give me fake addresses you will have to stay here."

The captain made the phone calls himself. Husbands were told that if they wanted any dinner they had better come and take their women home to cook it.

Women's Bets Recovered.

The men came and Gallery saw to it that the wives got their bets back from the pocket of List, the keeper. There were heated family quarrels under way as some of the couples left the station.

In another raid Sergt. Frank O'Sullivan's squad located a handbook at 1513 Milwaukee which was camouflaged above a candy shop.

Six men were arrested and 150 patrons driven out.

Sam Zito, operator of a showboat anchored off Navy pier, yesterday paid the government a $10 penalty for failure to exhibit his federal liquor license. He claimed that the license had been blown off the wall by the lake breezes and that he finally placed it in a drawer.

Cartoonist Reviews Airplane Section of Hemispherical Tour

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 14.—This marks the end of the airplane section of our trip. A short review may be of interest.

FIRST—Two days over the Caribbean, Miami, Fla. [July 21], to Cristobal, Panama Canal Zone, 1,803 miles.

SECOND—Four days of flying along the west coast of South America, Cristobal to Santiago, Chile, 3,663 miles.

THIRD—One day of flying, Santiago to Buenos Aires over the Andes and the pampas, 757 miles.

FOURTH—Two days of flying, Buenos Aires to Santos, 1,220 miles.

The total is 7,714 miles.

It has been a delightfully interesting experience. After the first hour, one thinks only of the picture and not of the altitude, confidence in the planes and pilots entirely removing apprehensions throughout the greater part of the trip.

Certain sensational high spots stand out. The Jamaica flight, through tremendous cloud masses banked above the mountains, with the latter obscured, was a memorable experience in cloud effects on a gigantic scale. The last stage of the flight to Santiago over the Andes foothills at an altitude of 12,000 feet, with an ocean cloud bank rolling in and obscuring the landing place at Ovalle, provided several minutes of intensely undivided attention.

This experience was similar to that of Col. R. R. McCormick when he was obliged to land in a Sikorsky through clouds over the Blue Ridge mountains.

SUE OVER ERROR; WRECKERS RAZE WRONG HOUSE

Suit for $5,000 damages was filed in Circuit court in Joliet yesterday by the heirs of Peter Cleary against the Tax Security company of Peoria for wrecking Cleary's house. The Peoria concern obtained title to the property on lot 12, block two, of the Luther Woodruff subdivision in Joliet and ordered a wrecking company to tear down the house. The wrecker made a slight error and destroyed the empty Cleary house, which was located on lot 11 of the subdivision. The suit followed.

Bus Upsets; 33 Injured After Democrat Fete

Thirty-three men, women, and children were injured, eight of them seriously, yesterday afternoon when a double-decked chartered Chicago Motor Coach struck a small sedan and skidded off the road and overturned near the intersection of Cicero avenue and the Southwest highway in Oak Lawn.

The bus was returning from a Democratic picnic sponsored by Horace Lindheimer, committeeman of the 5th ward and assistant county treasurer, which was held at Maple lake, 95th street and Wolf road, in Palos township. There were seventy persons in the bus.

Eight Remain in Hospital.

Twenty-five of the 33 injured persons went home after receiving treatment at the Little Company of Mary hospital. The eight whose injuries were so serious that they were compelled to remain at the hospital last night are:

MRS. ESTELLE MAYFIELD, 23 years old, colored, 350 East 56th street.

MRS. KATHERINE REEVES, 27 years old, colored, 5704 South Park way.

MRS. SABANE CAVELL, 83 years old, 5222 Lake Park avenue.

DOROTHY ARMSTRONG, 22 years old, 6140 Greenwood avenue.

Most of the seriously injured were suffering from broken bones and internal injuries. None was in danger of death, according to physicians.

Witnesses Accuse Driver.

Frank Reech, 49 years old, 5305 Maryland avenue, was driver of the bus. Willow Springs county highway police said witnesses told them the driver failed to heed the stop sign at Cicero avenue as he was driving east in the Southwest highway. Too late he saw the automobile of J. A. Butler, Streator, Ill., coming south across the intersection.

Reech attempted to swerve the heavy bus out of the path of the smaller machine, witnesses told police, but the front end of the bus struck the rear end of Butler's car. The bus then skidded for 100 feet east, careened off the road to the south, sheered off a wooden power pole, and overturned in the ditch.

Reech Asserts He Stopped.

Most of the injured passengers received their hurts in the crash, but some of them incurred bruises and cuts in the panic that followed when they tried to fight their way out.

On the complaint of Butler, Oak Lawn police charged Reech with going through a stop sign.

Reech told highway police that he stopped for Cicero avenue, and then started across the intersection. Butler's car, traveling south, suddenly cut across his path, Reech maintained, and the right front end of the bus struck the right rear end of the automobile.

SENATE ORDERS HIS ARREST; 'NO,' SAYS O'CONNOR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The two houses of congress were locked in mortal conflict tonight. Leaders in the senate and the house were alarmed at the possibilities inherent in the war over the custody of Howard C. Hopson, head of the Associated Gas and Electric Utilities System.

The senate late today cited Hopson for contempt, charging that he had spurned a subpena demanding that he appear before a lobby investigating committee of that body.

The house, which had located Hopson last Monday and served a subpena upon him, was up in arms over the affront upon its dignity caused by the senate's action.

To Jail or Not to Jail.

"He'll go to jail for this insult to the senate," stormed Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the senate lobby committee.

"He's in my custody and the senate has no right to summon him. It can't get him," stoutly retorted Representative John J. O'Connor [Dem., N. Y.], chairman of the house lobby committee.

The battle between the two houses came just as the leaders were hopefully predicting an early adjournment. Debate over the tax bill in the senate and on various bills in the house was threatened with delay because of the quarrel.

Hopson, and his attorney, W. A. Hill, of Boston, who was also cited for contempt by the senate committee, must appear tomorrow noon before the senate and attempt to explain why they should not be punished for contempt of the upper body. But the chairman of the house committee says the senate can't have him.

Business of Entire Senate.

This impasse and the subsequent proceedings will occupy the attention of the entire senate. The leaders hope to curtail discussion, but the feelings of both houses are wrought up and the hearing may well take up much time.

Hopson was unsuccessfully sought tonight by the senate sergeant-at-arms. Attorney Hill was speedily located and served with the citation. Hill announced that Hopson would not attempt to evade service and would appear tomorrow morning.

The senate took action against the portly little utility head and his lawyer after Senator Black charged that Hopson had openly defied the senate committee by refusing to appear in answer to a subpena. It is the expectation that Hopson and his lawyer will attempt to defend themselves against contempt proceedings by showing they have been all day in the custody of the house committee. It was reported that the house would be asked to approve a resolution asserting that Hopson was in the custody of the lower body and that the senate should not interfere. The leaders shuddered and began to recast their predictions that congress would adjourn next week.

JURNEY'S HUNT FOR HOPSON

The futile search for Hopson by Chesley W. Jurney, sergeant at arms of the senate, was a thrilling feature of the late afternoon developments in the case. Jurney is a model of senate floor dignity. He wears a gray frock coat while engaged in his regular duties. But this afternoon, after consultation with several of his subordinates, he changed into a dark alpaca with a white-edged vest. His white collar was high and stiff. A pearl stickpin adorned his black and white tie. His shoes were black and white. He fixed his pince-nez glasses, firmly adjusted the wide black ribbon with a gold clasp until it hung neatly. A modest purple and red handkerchief peeped from his breast pocket. He picked up his cane, clapped on a straw hat, and nodded to two deputies.

Start Hunt in Limousine.

The three men first motored in the sergeant at arms' expensive limousine to the fashionable Mayflower hotel. The decorum of this march was somewhat marred by the pursuit of a number of taxicabs filled with reporters and cameramen.

The hunt led to room 509 of the hotel where Hopson's attorney, W. A. Hill, was quartered. A message upon the door testified that Mr. Hill had been called by telephone at 4:19 p. m. Mr. Jurney tapped loudly upon the door. After a wait of several minutes he retired, baffled, to the lobby.

There Mr. Jurney, his deputies, the reporters and photographers gathered in a loud and noisy group and discussed the next step to be taken. Mr. Jurney was open to suggestion. He was meditating over a proposition to adjourn to the cocktail lounge when Attorney Hill was detected slinking into the hotel barroom. The reporters and photographers were after him in full cry, Mr. Jurney bringing up the rear in manful fashion. The sergeant at arms finally pushed through the throng.

With a Big Gold Seal.

"I am the sergeant at arms of the senate," announced Mr. Jurney. He presented Attorney Hill with a document which bore a big gold seal.

The lawyer order a Scotch and soda and regarded the document with a jaundiced eye.

"I have heard about that," he remarked, tucking it into his pocket. "I'll be there. And Mr. Hopson will probably be there, too."

But Attorney Hill would not volunteer any information concerning his client's whereabouts. Somebody mentioned that he had heard some one else say that Hopson might be in a hotel in Alexandria, Va., and then Jurney and his aid motored over to Alexandria to find no trace of the missing magnate.

"Hopson will appear at the house committee hearing tomorrow morning," he remarked. "He can be served then. There's no sense in all this rushing about. You can't duck a senate subpena."

New Dealers With Lobbyist.

Mr. Jurney's search for Hopson, carried on until the late hours of the night, was futile, but it had its amusing interludes. For example, Mr. Jurney came upon two New Dealers and satellites of President Roosevelt when he invaded the hotel room of B. B. Robinson of Chicago, a lobbyist prominently identified with the elusive Hopson. They were Marvin H. McIntyre, a White House secretary, and L. W. [Chip] Robert, socially prominent and crooning assistant secretary of the treasury.

When Mr. Jurney went to the room in the Shoreham hotel he was met by the host, Amon G. Carter, publisher of a leading Texas newspaper. Mr. Carter protested that the story of the presence of McIntyre and Robert should not be carried over the wires, because his paper was a subscriber to three of the press services represented among the attendant mob of reporters. It was not carried.

SENATE IS IRASCIBLE

The elusive Mr. Hopson's troubles with the august senate began as he left the house committee hearing. At that hour, 11:20 a. m., he was served with a subpena demanding that he appear immediately before the senate lobby committee. Instead he jumped into a taxicab and eluded all pursuers.

Following his disappearance the five senators composing the committee sat upon their elevated throne-like seats waiting in a dignity which gradually faded as the hours passed. A large crowd giggled as it watched the faces of the senators become flushed with anger. Cameramen took turns flashing the vacant witness chair.

Patience Exhausted.

From 11:20 a. m. until 1 p. m. the senators waited. Then they took a recess until 3 p. m., announcing that Hopson would surely be cited if he did not appear then. From 3 p. m. until 3:30 they fidgeted again. Then came a telephone call from Attorney Hill pleading for another half hour while he attempted to find Hopson. At 4 p. m. senatorial patience was exhausted and the five committee members fairly trotted over to the senate to obtain some balm for their wounded emotions.

In the senate chamber the five much disturbed committee members drew up a contempt citation and hurried it to the secretary's desk. Action was temporarily delayed by debate on the tax bill.

Then Senator Black explained the situation to his colleagues and the motion to cite Hopson and the lawyer was approved without discussion and without a record vote.

Chairman O'Connor came over to the senate chamber and made a futile effort to get the action delayed. He conferred hastily with Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, insisting that the senate had no right to cite Hopson while he was under subpena to the house committee, which found him first.

Senators Make Dire Threats.

Senator Black and his colleagues have not hesitated to predict that they would "tear Hopson to pieces" when they finally are permitted to examine him.

The motion to cite Hopson recited that he and his attorney, Hill, had resisted an attempt to serve Hopson with a subpena yesterday by bodily force. It continued with the assertion that Hopson had deliberately refused to obey a subpena served upon him today as he left the house hearing room.

The war between the two committees was thus brought to a climax. Their battle for publicity in connection with the lobby inquiry started more than a month ago, when both obtained $50,000 appropriations to investigate the same subject. Each had varying success in the headlines until the house committee scored a coup Monday by locating Hopson, a fugitive for three weeks and regarded as the star witness in the lobby investigation.

Permits House to Find Him.

Hopson, 5 feet 4 inches and 230 pounds, is reported to have permitted the house committee to find him in Newark, N. J., last week. An investigator stayed with him until Monday, when they both drove to Washington.

In his two appearances before the house committee he has been treated courteously, with one notable exception today when a Georgia congressman offered to kick Hopson out of the hearing room if he did not withdraw an assertion that the congressman was not a gentleman. Hopson withdrew the remark.

Cynical observers have professed to see some connection between Hopson's anxiety to testify before the house committee and avoid the senate committee and the recent revelation that Chairman O'Connor's brother, Basil O'Connor, a lawyer, had received a $25,000 fee from the Associated Gas system.

ARRANGE FOR GUARDS

Before the house committee hearing this morning precautions were taken to guard Hopson from the senate subpena server. He was spirited under a heavy guard of police to the hearing room. Emerging, however, he was caught in a press of the crowd and Joseph McCarthy, senate investigator, stepped up and shoved the subpena into his hand. Hopson scanned it, smiled briefly, then thrust it into his pocket and hurried away.

The hearing opened with the committee members commenting upon reports that they were protecting Hopson from the senate subpena servers.

"This man is here subject to call of this committee at any moment," Chairman O'Connor declared. "We

HOPSON DOUBLE FINDS WASHINGTON ANYTHING BUT SAFE, QUIET TOWN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—From the near "double" of Howard C. Hopson, much-sought chief stockholder of the Associated Gas and Electric system, tonight came the declaration that it isn't safe to be in Washington these days.

Comfortably seated at a table in a local hotel taproom, the "double," who gave his name as Thomas Burton Humphreys of Philadelphia, said he had been "detained" by government agents from 1 to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

"But I didn't tell them anything," he said.

found him first and thereby rendered a service to the whole country. This committee has established other facts before another committee. This committee has repeatedly stepped in and followed every move we have made. This is no race, but if it is, another committee is racing after us."

Clashes with Cox.

Hopson's testimony concerning his various companies ran along tranquilly until Representative E. E. Cox [Dem., Ga.] asked him:

"As a matter of fact, aren't you planning to cash in on these low levels of stocks by buying them up after they have been made practically worthless with the expectation that they will regain value if the Wheeler-Rayburn bill is defeated?"

Hopson glared at the congressman.

"I resent that inquiry," he shouted. "No gentleman would have asked it."

"Unless you withdraw that remark I'll kick you out of this room," shot back Cox. "You'll go out scarred up more than you came in."

"I withdraw it," said Hopson in a mild tone.

He recited at length his travels while both committees had been seeking him. He had returned from Florida in June, he said, and spent some time at his homes in Andover, N. J., and in Scarsdale, N. Y. He admitted calmly that he had spent "four or five days" in Washington while squads of investigators from the two committees had been searching for him. He remained in seclusion at the home of a "Col. Pierce" in Virginia until he returned to one of his offices in Newark, where he accepted the subpena of a house investigator.

Registered Under Cover.

He always registered at hotels under the name of his chauffeur, Thomas McCarthy, or some other employé, he said.

"When a man is subject to various annoyances such as I am, he must adopt some such subterfuge," he told the committee.

"I've been a sick man," he continued. "I spent all winter trying to get my health back. Recently I blew up again, and when this investigation came up I wanted time before subjecting myself to the sort of ordeal the senate committee would force upon me. Every bit of information I could possibly give has already been spread upon the record many times.

"As far as the Black committee investigation is concerned, none of it has had much to do with lobbying. As far as this committee is concerned, I haven't heard of it doing anything unfair—yet."

He testified that he "believed" the Associated Gas system had spent "eight or nine hundred thousand dollars" in opposition to the Wheeler-Rayburn utility control bill.

"Fraction of Destruction."

"That's just a small fraction of the 300 million dollar equity in our companies which would be destroyed if the bill becomes law and remains law," he declared.

Hopson again returned a polite refusal to inquiries about his sources of income. He said he resented being "placed in a show window."

He estimated the worth of what he had deeded his family [he is a bachelor] at "less than a million." In 1929, the face value of the same securities was about 12 millions, he added.

N. Y. DEFICIT HAS NEW DEAL TOUCH, SAYS REPUBLICAN

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—In a statement issued tonight from the Republican state committee headquarters Assemblyman Herbert Brownell Jr., commenting on the $97,029,788 state deficit made public today, scathingly denounced the economic tactics of the state and national administrations. Declaring that "the largest deficit at the end of a fiscal year in the history of the state represented a typical Lehman situation with a Roosevelt flavor," he added:

"Once again Gov. Lehman has shown himself to be what President Roosevelt termed him, 'my good right arm.' It is true that Gov. Lehman has not yet incurred a deficit of $3,472,000,000, which was Mr. Roosevelt's contribution to the nation for the fiscal year ending on June 29 last, but given time, Mr. Lehman may yet equal in the state Mr. Roosevelt's deficit in the nation."

Restored Pensions for 1898 Veterans to Be Automatic

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Adjustments will be made automatically and promptly under the bill signed yesterday by President Roosevelt restoring $46,000,000 annually in payments to veterans of the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection, and the Boxer rebellion. None of them need make application for their pension increases or restoration to the rolls, Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, announced today.

SENATE ORDERS FOUR CONTEMPT ARRESTS IN THE LAST 20 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The senate has ordered four persons arrested for contempt in the last twenty years, but none of the cases furnished the complications supplied today by Howard C. Hopson and William A. Hill.

The Associated Gas and Electric magnate and his lawyer, cited for contempt today for their defiance of a senate investigating committee, furnished an issue thickly hedged by legal entanglements because of subpenas already accepted from a house committee for their appearance there, and a threat of a house warant for Hopson's arrest.

Which committee will keep jurisdiction furnished meat for much argument tonight on Capitol Hill.

The most recent senate contempt cases were those of William P. MacCracken and L. H. Brittin, the former a lawyer, the latter an aviation official. MacCracken refused to give a senate committee some papers relating to aviation contracts. Brittin tore up the papers.

Brittin went directly to jail and served ten days. The MacCracken sentence was upheld by the Supreme court before the lawyer went to jail for his ten days.

One of the best known contempt cases was that of Harry F. Sinclair, the millionaire oil magnate, in 1927. Sinclair refused to answer questions in the teapot dome oil inquiry.

Instead of conducting the trial itself, however, the senate turned the case over to the District of Columbia Supreme court and Sinclair was found guilty of contempt on four counts. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $500 on the charge.

Another senate arrest for contempt grew out of the teapot dome inquiry. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, was arrested for defying the investigating committee. He obtained a writ of habeas corpus and later was acquitted in District of Columbia Supreme court on charges of refusing to answer the committee's questions.

Records of the senate library showed various other cases over the last century.

SENATOR SAYS RELIEF WORKERS INCREASE DOLE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Senator McCarran [Dem., Nev.] charged to newsmen tonight that case workers in Harry L. Hopkins' relief administration had encouraged families to go on the dole to lengthen their own jobs.

Asserting simultaneously in a formal statement that he expected Hopkins to order payment of prevailing wages on works progress projects, McCarran accused the work relief director of an attitude similar to that of the case workers.

"These workers are the ones who go out and say to a family that was just getting along 'you should be on relief,'" McCarran said. "They're holding their jobs because they are case workers. The more they hold on relief the longer the jobs last. And the longer Mr. Hopkins transports them across state lines the longer he keeps his job."

ASK JURY ACTION IN GIRL'S DEATH.

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Mrs. Anna Taylor, 36 years old, 8634 Herndon street, a midwife, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murder by abortion in the death of Miss Mary Elkstead, 23 years old, 4312 South California avenue, who died yesterday in the Auburn Park hospital.

Midsummer Madness.

"The President knew exactly what he wanted and why he wanted it—which is more than the rest of us know, even now. The result is a bill which, despite any possibility of rationalizing amendments, is born of a pell-mell statesmanship which has had no adequate permit or chance to study the whole problem in all its implications.

"It is midsummer madness; nothing else.

"It is in this picnic spirit of irresponsibility that we are asked to deal with the desperately important matter of the public credit and the resources of all our taxpayers. Not with just the little group of victims who are presumed to have been isolated for this specialized assault.

Sheer Tax Sophistry.

"We chatter about revenue in millions while we confront deficits in billions. This is sheer tax sophistry. It is a bungling budgetary burlesque. It lacks any element of the prudence for which the President assumes to speak. But it does have one virtue. It does prove to the average citizen of modest means that the heaviest possible taxes which may be accumulated from the rich, as proposed in the bill, even when augmented by increased burdens in the lower brackets, as originally proposed in the senate bill, will not even pay the present bills for our Gargantuan expenditures. It is useful for the average citizen to know that he, finally, must help settle the accounts."

Minority Objects to All.

A finance committee minority report, filed today by Senator Hastings and Senator Jesse H. Metcalf [Rep., R. I.], objected even to the title of the bill, which is: "An Act to Provide Revenue, Equalize Taxation and for Other Purposes." The minority members suggested this substitution:

"An Act to Confiscate Property; to Discourage Business and Prevent Its Expansion; to Destroy Incentive and Discriminate Against Ability, Brain, Ambition, and Enterprise; to Create Greater Inequalities in the Inequitable Distibution of Existing Tax Burdens; to Promote Unemployment and to Obstruct Recovery; to Jeopardize the Financial Position of the Government; and for other Improper Purposes."

The report said a bill bearing this title might properly originate, and might be expected to originate, in the White House, the constitutional requirement for revenue bills to originate in the house of representatives having no application.

BLUE EAGLES ONLY WASTE PAPER NOW TO POST DEPARTMENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—NRA emblems and other material connected with the Blue Eagle era are so much "waste paper" now to the post-office department.

In a letter to postmasters titled "Coöperation with the National Recovery Administration," W. W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general, today directed that all NRA material be removed from bulletin boards, that reëmployment agreements, certificates and similar materials be forwarded to state heads, and:

"All other NRA material to be destroyed or disposed of as waste paper."

ALBERT B. FALL DEFIANT AS HE FACES EVICTION

Three Rivers, N. M., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, defied eviction tonight from Three Rivers ranch, up for sale under a mortgage foreclosure of R. M. Sands, general manager of the Petroleum Securities company.

"I have received an eviction order, effective tomorrow," said Fall, "but I do not intend to leave. I am going to fight eviction and I am confident I can retain my home."

Fall served a 1 year prison sentence on a charge of accepting a bribe from Doheny, his friend of prospecting days, in the Teapot Dome case. Doheny was acquitted on a charge of giving the bribe.

SON'S BIRTHDAY AT HYDE PARK LURES PRESIDENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt at his press conference today expressed the hope that he might be able to clean up his affairs and spend a few days at his family home in Hyde Park, N. Y.

The President added with a smile that on Saturday his son, Franklin Jr, will observe his 21st birthday and he would like to participate in the family celebration.

If the President decides to be with his son he will leave Washington about midnight tomorrow.

John Forfeits Bond.

Irvington, N. Y., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President, took advantage of a careful explanation given him by the police here today. He failed to come to court to answer a charge of driving 54 miles an hour. Judge James J. Layden declared John's bond of $10 forfeited. Then police announced the case was closed.

GOV. TALMADGE ASKS ROOSEVELT FOR 'CORRECTION'

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was called upon today by Gov. Talmadge of Georgia to state to the press that he was in error concerning his recent review of the Georgia school relief situation.

"By all rules of fair play," Talmadge said, "the President should give a correction to the press."

The President stated in a recent letter to Representative Braswell Deen [Dem., Ga.] that it appeared common school appropriations had been diverted to pay state debts at the same time the federal government was helping Georgia keep the schools open. Talmadge denied that this was true.

DAVEY TO DODGE NEW DEAL TEST BY OHIO VOTERS

Ruling on Special Election Up to Court.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Both before and after conferring with President Roosevelt today Democratic Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio asserted that he will not call and cannot be compelled to call a special congressional election until next year.

Unless, therefore, the Ohio Supreme court rules otherwise, the Democrats will be spared the test of popularity of the New Deal in Ohio for which the Republicans are clamoring with all the ardor inspired by their victory in the Rhode Island by-election. The Republicans are demanding a statewide by-election in Ohio to fill the vacancy created by the death last week of Democratic Representative at Large Charles V. Truax.

Seek to Dodge Test.

The Democrats, from the President down to precinct captains, are not hankering for any more showdowns on the New Deal at this time, particularly in a politically pivotal state like Ohio, where a defeat would indicate rather impressively the turning of the tide against the Roosevelt administration on the eve of the presidential election.

There has been some talk among Illinois Republican congressmen of demanding a by-election in Illinois to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Congressman at Large Michael L. Igoe to take the job of United States attorney at Chicago. The Republicans are confident that Illinois would go Republican in a by-election. Illinois Democratic congressmen profess as much confidence that Illinois would indorse the New Deal and argue that a by-election would only be a useless expense.

In a taxpayer's suit Judge Roy H. Williams today issued a writ of mandamus to compel Gov. Davey to show cause why the Ohio Supreme court should not compel him to call a by-election at once. Apprised of this action, Davey said that, while under the Ohio law he might be compelled to call the election at this time, there is no restriction of his discretion in fixing the time of the election.

Could Set Vote Next Year.

He could call the election to take place next year at the same time as the regular election.

By the time of the regular election next year there will be only two months of the Truax term remaining and Ohio will have been without full representation throughout the session of congress beginning next January. Whether the governor's theory of his discretion is sound doubtless will be passed on by the Ohio court.

"I am not going to call a special election," said Gov. Davey. "It would cost half a million dollars and our counties can't afford it. They are nearly bankrupt now."

"Are you afraid of an election?" he was asked.

Not Afraid, Says Davey.

"Not at all," he replied. "I am quite sure it would result in a Democratic victory. But we don't need any more Democrats in the house. The majority is big enough already."

In the senate Gov. Davey's call at the White House afforded Huey Long, the Louisiana "kingfish," an opportunity to amuse himself and the galleries with a brief discourse on "The laborer is worthy of his hire." Huey picked up a newspaper and proceeded as follows:

"Headline: 'Democratic Governor Refuses New Deal Test in Ohio.' Next headline: 'Conference at White House to Talk Relief Problems.' It looks to me, Mr. President, like Gov. Davey came and brought along the basket."

Long Recalls R. I. Vote.

Long recalled the "disastrous" result of the New Deal test in Rhode Island, which he said was called by another Democratic governor not so well advised as Gov. Davey.

"But they know better now," he declared. "Little Rhode Island taught them a lesson. Gov. Davey comes down to the White House and says: 'You don't want that test in Ohio to occur. With my right hand I announce that it won't occur. With my left hand I hold out the basket.' I only hope, Mr. President, that Gov. Davey gets his reward from the 5 billion dollar campaign fund, for I believe that the laborer is worthy of his hire."

After emerging from his conference with the President the governor said they had not discussed the Ohio by-election at all. Politics had figured "very little" in their talk, he said.

The conference had been on Ohio's request for 15 or 20 million dollars of federal relief funds for construction of state institutions. After the conference the White House made public a letter from the President to the governor stating that the government would make an outright grant of 45 per cent of the amount requested and would lend the other 55 per cent on "legal security."

Special Laws Needed.

The President requested the governor to consult Public Works Administrator Ickes on the preparation of legislation to be passed by a special session of the Ohio legislature to carry out the program.

The late Representative Truax was elected representative at large in 1934 with a lead of 156,624 over his Republican opponent. Representative Bolton of Ohio, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said today he was sure the Republicans could and would elect a successor to Truax if only the governor would call the special election.

He predicted that the Republicans would pick up from 75 to 100 seats in the house in the election next year and said that it was well within the bounds of possibility that the G. O. P. next year would win a majority in that body. The Republicans would have to make a gain of 112 seats to control the house.

Turns to Economies

Aimee Semple McPherson, west coast evangelist, is through with husbands and marriage. Christ's second coming is at hand. The country has been on a wild spree since the world war. And Angelus Temple is only about $59,000 in the red. These were the observations made yesterday by Mrs. McPherson as she paused between trains en route from California to Atlantic City, where she is to lecture over the week-end. The evangelist stated she would speak on "That Prodigal Son Called Sam," mixing evangelism and economics.

CONSTITUTION DAY GROUP FINDS 'RIVAL' FOR SOLDIERS' FIELD

Sponsors of the plan for a big Chicago celebration of Constitution day on Sept. 17 filed an application yesterday for the use of Soldiers' field for the occasion.

When the application was presented at the offices of the Chicago Park district it was found that another application was on file for the same day and there was suspicion that forces hostile to the proposal to commemorate the adoption of the federal constitution were at work.

Nobody at the park headquarters ever had heard of the organization which had applied for the field nor of the individual who signed the application.

Inquiry revealed that the organization in question which is called "Save America," apparently is the private device of a young south side real estate man, Louis T. Orr Jr., who incorporated "Save America" with the aid of two "dummy" incorporators about six weeks ago.

After these facts had been gleaned, Julius H. Miner, director for the Constitution day committee, was of the opinion that his application for Soldiers' field would not be obstructed by the application from Orr.

Both applications now are in the hands of George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the park district. They will be acted upon at the next meeting of the commissioners on Sept. 3.

LOOK KINDLY ON KNOX.

Hampton Beach, N. H., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Republican politics has begun to warm up in this old state. There seem to be two elements in the G. O. P. here, one headed by former Senator George H. Moses, Gov. Bridges, and Senator Henry Keyes; the other headed by former Gov. John G. Winant, now serving with the league of nations in Geneva. Winant has been mentioned as material for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Moses-Keyes element today declared itself favorable to Frank Knox, Chicago newspaper publisher, who also is head of a Manchester newspaper in this state. An outing of the Rockingham County Republican club today was the occasion for an address by Mr. Knox, and Moses and Gov. Bridges also were speakers.

As to Mr. Knox's candidacy, Gov. Bridges said:

"I believe he may be assured of the active support of the New Hampshire delegation."

"We'll be lucky if the Republican candidate sits with us here today," said ex-Senator Moses.

The field however, was left open to other candidates in the New Hampshire presidential primary next March, the first to be held in any of the states. Bridges urged that the party send an unpledged delegation to the national convention, a stand Moses also has taken and which was endorsed by Knox in his speech.

Several hundred Republicans from all over the state attended the outing.

Evanston Bond Proposal Loses, 929 to 1,211, in Vote

Evanston voters yesterday defeated a proposed $200,000 bond issue to defray in part the cost of repaving and resurfacing projects on 30 streets in the suburb. According to unofficial returns of the special election, only 2,140 votes were cast. There were 929 votes recorded for the issue and 1,211 against.

HOOVER TO SEE G. O. P. LEADERS ON VISIT HERE

New Effort Is Launched to Oust Johnson.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Herbert Hoover is expected to hold a number of important conferences with Republican leaders from the central west in Chicago tomorrow.

It was announced in New York yesterday that he intended to start today on his return trip to his home in California. At the same time reports were coming in that invitations had been sent to old friends in states adjacent to Illinois that the former President would be at the Drake hotel tomorrow and would be pleased to receive callers.

The number of political leaders who called on him in New York following his first political press statement since he left office—the one issued in Chicago last Sunday — aroused a strong belief that he definitly has begun a program of activity that will be renewed here.

Expect Leaders to Attend.

So far as is known none of the Chicago Republicans received advance invitations to come to the Drake, but it is surmised that the local field could be covered by telephonic communication. Thus it is believed that two former senators, Charles S. Deneen and Otis F. Glenn, may appear at the hotel with others, such as Silas H. Strawn and George F. Getz, treasurer of the Republican national committee.

The Chicago Republicans, almost without exception, feel that Mr. Hoover is not a candidate, and that his present activity is not indicative of personal ambition. Some of them have talked with him recently, and they are convinced that his challenge to the present administration was prompted entirely by his feeling of duty as titular head of the party.

It is understood that some midwesterners declined to take part in the Springfield Grass Roots conference if it was to be a "Hoover affair" and received assurances traceable to his own lips that he hoped the meeting would take on no such character.

Factional Strife Flares Again.

The former President's choice of a time to pay a more extended visit than usual to Chicago was unfortunate so far as Illinois Republican affairs are concerned. Tomorrow is scheduled to see another renewal of bitterness within the G. O. P. state committee, this time intended to oust Justus L. Johnson of Aurora as chairman and to reelect his successor.

Thirteen members of the committee signed the call for a meeting of the body at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in parlor K of the Hotel Bismarck. The thirteen included all of the ten members from Cook county and three members from downstate congressional districts. The latter are William R. Alle of Peoria, 16th district; R. R. Bookwalter of Danville, 18th district, and John H. Searing of Carbondale, 25th district.

Chicago Bloc Resolute.

It is understood that the Chicagoans who planned the meeting hope to elect Searing, former state's attorney of Jackson county to Johnson's place, although it is said the Egyptian never has taken part in a statewide campaign.

The Chicagoans declare that the only thing that will prevent this program from going through will be the lack of a quorum. Johnson himself is confident there will be few downstate members present.

"The Republicans as a whole," he said, "are tired of committee squabbles. They are interested only in constructive effort for party welfare. Any effort for general progress will get my fullest support and cooperation, but petty bickering and efforts to tear down should not be tolerated.

"In that I believe most Republican voters are with me. They want a united party with a wide open invitation for everybody to participate. They will not approve of maneuvers attempted to permit the naming of the next state ticket by manipulators."

Chairman Johnson also called attention to the fact that the movement to oust him comes almost entirely from Cook county, which in campaigns always operates by itself while the state chairman directs downstate activities.

There is a big legal question whether the committee has any authority to oust Johnson or to name a new chairman. The primary law is entirely silent on this subject and many lawyers contend that when he was elected it was for a full two year term expiring next April.

MOTIVE HUNTED IN RIDE MURDER OF PARK OFFICIAL

Seek Two Who Ran from Parked Death Car.

which he had been working, he would have made it known immediately. Superintendent Donoghue said this had not been done. He added emphatically that the accountant could have come into possession of no facts in his work that would have been of value to any outsider.

Forty Minutes Unaccounted For.

The mystery deepened when a systematic police inquiry accounted for all of Morrison's time and movements during the day and night save the forty minutes between 10:50 p. m. when he left the park commission's offices in the old World's Fair administration building, 13th street and Leif Ericson drive, until his car was parked at 11:30 p. m. at the spot where the body was found.

Alaska street is a dead end paved street one block long. It is near the intersection of West North avenue and Ogden avenue, in a poor neighborhood—far from Morrison's south side home at 7318 Harvard avenue.

When found, the accountant had been shot three times. Police were certain that he was slain before the car was driven to the Alaska street address. Just where the shooting occurred or under what circumstances remained a mystery.

Complexities Impress Sullivan.

At the start of the investigation, Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan said yesterday: "This is as strange and unusual a case as we ever have had to work on. Until we get something better to go upon we will have to call it a murder during an attempted robbery."

The day's investigation proved that Morrison was an unusually conscientious civil service worker who won his way to his post as park accountant through his own merits, and that he was a devoted husband and father to his wife, Ethelwyne, and his three children by a former marriage, Donald, 20 years old; Mary, 18 years old; and Allen, 11 years old. The story of the events of Tuesday night as brought to light by the police, follows:

About 8 p. m. Morrison telephoned to his wife at their home to tell her that he probably would work late in the park district offices.

Policeman Fixes Time.

He had worked until 1 a. m. several times in recent weeks, so she was not surprised, she explained.

As Morrison departed from his office at 10:50 he exchanged a few words with Joseph A. Kass., a south park policeman who is the night guard. Kass told Chief Sullivan and Capt. Andrew Barry of the Hudson avenue police, that Morrison was alone, and that he walked immediately to his automobile, which was parked near the building doors, and drove away.

Some time within the next forty minutes Morrison met his killers, was shot, and his body was driven to Alaska street.

The Alaska street address is a 20 minute drive from the park district office. Thus, with half the 40 minutes accounted for, police reasoned that Morrison must have met his killers and have been shot during a 20 minute interval.

Morrison was known to be an abstainer, but on the assumption that he might have met the slayers at a north side tavern police conducted a quiet search among the drinking resorts of the area, showing his photograph to proprietors and bartenders.

Women See Car Arrive.

At about 11:30 p. m. on the night of the slaying several women residents of the neighborhood saw the black sedan draw up to the south curbing in front of 628 and stop. One of the women, Mrs. Anna Blazek, whose home at 1532 Frontier street, looks down Alaska street, noticed the car particularly, she told police, because its headlights were shining into her windows.

Peering out, she said, she saw two men, both of them tall and both wearing dark clothing, get out of the car. Hurrying toward Frontier street, they turned north to North avenue and disappeared. As they passed her house, she related, one turned to the other saying: "Come on, hurry. Don't look back."

The car was not noticed again, apparently, until 6 a. m., when Violet Faedtke, 15 years old, 641 Alaska street, peered into the rear seat and saw the body. The straw hat was askew on the head and the butt of a cigaret was between the lips. A trickle of blood down the chin frightened the child. She informed her parents, who summoned a Hudson avenue police squad.

Shot at Close Range.

Morrison's body was not at first identified. The police discovered that he had been shot in the right cheek, in the left lung, and in the abdomen. There were powder burns around all three wounds, showing that the shots had been fired at close range from a .32 caliber pistol. The body had been propped into a sitting position.

Scattered about the floor of the car were personal effects, papers, a wallet, a handkerchief, a number of cards, a handful of silver coins, and spectacles. Several of the pockets in the coat and trousers had been turned inside out as if in a hurried search. Money evidently was not the object of the search, however, for police found $22 in one pocket.

The silver coins were of particular interest to investigators. Altogether there were nine quarters, five nickels, and many dimes. This indicated, the police said, that if Morrison had visited a tavern he might have played a slot machine while waiting for the men he was to meet, since he was not a drinker.

The body was identified in a short time after it was found by Mrs. Morrison, who had informed police at 6 a. m. that her husband had not come home all night and asked them to search for him, explaining that she had awakened at 1:30 a. m. and found his bed unoccupied. She immediately telephoned to the park district offices, calling her husband's private number, but got no answer.

Asks Police to Aid Hunt.

She then asked south park police to send a squad to the office to find her husband. When the policemen arrived there they found the building locked and unlighted. By the time they reported these facts to her, Morrison's body had been found and she was asked to go to a mortuary at 736 West North avenue to certify the tentative identification made from cards found in the car.

An inquest was opened during the afternoon and continued until Aug. 30 at the county morgue after the widow and Mrs. Blazek testified briefly. Mrs. Morrison, stunned and tearful, then was questioned by Chief Sullivan and Capt. Barry, but insisted that her husband had no enemies.

She added that Mr. Morrison had no property, and that he had little or no life insurance. She said he was born in Minneapolis, the son of the late Donald Morrison who was one of the oldest members of the Winnepeg Grain exchange. There were three sons in the family, all of whom engaged in the grain business with their father.

From 1906 until 1918, police learned, Morrison was in the grain business, chiefly as a purchaser of flax for the firm of Spencer, Kellogg & Sons, Buffalo, N. Y. He then became treasurer of the Sizer Forge company, Buffalo, N. Y., and served for a short time as secretary-treasurer of the company.

Victim's Business Career.

Leaving the Sizer company he went to Canton, O., where, for twenty-two months he was auditor and efficiency expert for the United Alloy Steel corporation. He then came to Chicago and worked from July, 1927, until September as an auditor for the Bain banks, then a flourishing chain. Then for one month he worked for an accounting firm here and was recommended to the south parks as an accountant by John Bain, head of the bank chain, since defunct, who was also a south park commissioner.

Morrison became a civil service employé soon afterward and was advanced when he displayed particular capacity to the position of chief accountant. He remained with the south parks until the park consolidation, when he was given the post of assistant controler for the whole system.

The importance of this biography, police asserted, was that it showed Morrison to have been in comfortable circumstances for many years. His income they estimated, had been between $300 and $500 a month during this time. There were no instances of financial hardship or poverty.

After thoroughly sifting the maze of facts gathered in their day's investigation, the police outlined an alternative theory, not accepted seriously as yet, but considered only as an outside possibility.

If Morrison death had been the result of mistaken identity, they said, it would explain the lack of concrete evidence and their inability to find a motive for the slaying. It also would explain why there is no trace of outside associations in their record of his doings during the last few weeks.

Lieut. Welling Accidentally Killed in Home

LIEUT. WELLING KILLED AS PISTOL FALLS ON FLOOR

Veteran Detective Dies Dressing for a Funeral.

Lieut. Charles Welling, night squad supervisor at the detective bureau, was shot and killed accidentally yesterday when his automatic pistol fell from beneath the mattress of his bed and was discharged as it struck the floor. The bullet struck Lieut. Welling just below the heart. The accident occurred in his home at 4853 West Huron street.

Lieut. Welling had dressed hurriedly to attend a funeral, according to his daughter, Evelyn, 25 years old, and apparently the pistol slipped through the springs when the policeman raised the mattress to place the weapon in his pocket.

An Emergency Weapon.

Lieut. Walling had been carrying the weapon since he dropped and damaged his service revolver ten days ago. The pistol was a .25 caliber Mauser automatic with the firing pin protruding at the rear. The weapon apparently was discharged when this pin struck the floor.

A coroner's jury deliberated less than two minutes in the afternoon before returning a verdict of accidental death.

Born on Oct. 27, 1883, Lieut. Welling joined the police force when he was 28 years old. Two years later he was made an acting detective sergeant and won promotion to a regular sergeancy in 1921. He became a lieutenant less than a year later.

Veteran of the Bureau.

Except for a short period at the Lawndale station two years ago, Lieut. Welling had been on duty at the detective bureau since he became a policeman.

Lieut. Welling was known as one of the most efficient policemen in the department, and also as one of the most affable. He won creditable mention seventeen times and was given extra compensation for meritorious service three times.

Surviving are his daughter, Evelyn, and two sons, Charles Jr., 14 years old, and James, 27 years old, 215 North Central avenue. His wife died three years ago. Also surviving are two brothers, Sergt. Robert Welling of the Warren avenue station and E. A. Welling.

SUITOR SLAYS GIRL, A CALLER, THEN HIMSELF

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Philip Ritchie, 40 year old plumber, killed the girl who had rejected his proposal of marriage and a caller at her home tonight and then took his own life.

The young woman, Irene Miller, 23, fell in a burst of fire when Ritchie walked into her home and found Sidney Lipkin, 28, calling on her. Lipkin, with five bullets through his body, died on the way to a hospital.

Mrs. Tena Miller, mother of the girl, said Ritchie threatened to shoot her, but instead ran into an adjoining room and fired a bullet into his temple.

Mrs. Miller told police Ritchie, a former roomer in the home, had called to return a ring and photographs to her daughter. As he entered the room where Miss Miller and Lipkin were seated he opened fire with a pistol.

Detectives said they found a note in the slayer's pocket indicating he had intended to kill the girl. "I want Irene buried with this ring on her finger," it read. Ritchie offered his body to the University of Michigan for experimental purposes, they said.

Detective Chief Fred W. Frahm said Lipkin had a police record of minor offenses and was detained for questioning in 1929 in connection with the St. Valentine day massacre in Chicago, but later was released

ARGENTINE PRESS GAG LAW UNDER DEPUTIES' FIRE

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York News.]

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 14. — The government refused to be interpellated at today's session of the chamber of deputies on the decree putting press agencies and newspaper correspondents under heavy cash bond and establishing a strict censorship on outgoing news.

The chamber had invited minister of the interior, Melo, to attend the session to explain the motives which the government had for issuing the decree. Instead of attending the session Melo sent a note signed by himself and President Justo explaining that the government has not yet put the decree into force. Melo added that as a result of the many protests received the decree has been sent to the attorney general for a ruling as to its constitutionality and that as the attorney general's ruling has not yet been announced the government does not believe this the proper time to make any explanation to the congress.

The deputies are particularly interested in questioning Melo about the decree because it puts the press under federal control by presidential decree whereas the constitution specifically prohibits congress from doing this by legislation.

$100,000 AIRPLANE TO BE TAKEN UP FOR ITS FIRST TEST TODAY

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—(AP)—A new $100,000 airplane, described as the fastest and most expensive land racing plane ever built, was given finishing touches today.

The trim craft, expected to do 365 miles an hour, probably will be taken up tomorrow for its first test.

The owner, Howard Hughes—sportsman, film producer, and millionaire oil tool manufacturer—personally supervised today's check-up.

Friends of Hughes said the young aviation enthusiast will pilot the plane himself in the national air races Aug. 30.

MAYOR ADVISES CUT IN CIGARET VENDING LICENSE

Mayor Kelly submitted to the city council yesterday an ordinance to reduce cigaret vending licenses from $100 to $50 a year on Jan. 1, 1936. The measure was referred to the council committee on license, and the council is expected to approve it at the next meeting on Oct. 2.

"I believe that a reduction in the amount of license fees for cigaret sales will stop present bootlegging and eventually increase the total revenues to the city," Mayor Kelly said. "At present many small dealers can't afford the $100 annual fee, and consequently they take out no license at all, but sell cigarets on the sly."

Louis Rixmann, city collector, estimated that the city receives $600,000 a year from cigaret license fees.

MOVE FURNITURE OF DR. WYNEKOOP OUT OF OLD HOME

The furnishings in the old Wynekoop home at 3406 West Monroe street, where Rheta Wynekoop was slain on Nov. 21, 1933, were moved out last night as A. Romano, owner of an adjoining apartment house, who purchased the house several weeks ago, took possession. It has been vacant since Dr. Alice Wynekoop was convicted of the murder of Rheta, her daughter-in-law. She is now in the women's reformatory at Dwight, serving a 25 year term. The Wynekoop furniture will be stored in Glencoe.

AIRMAIL LAW GIVES ICC RULE OVER FLYING RATE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the new air mail bill. Among other things it gives the interstate commerce commission jurisdiction over rates, provided the contractor supplies satisfactory service. It also permits variation of the pay rate between the present 33 1-3 cents a mile upward to a 40 cent absolute top.

Henceforth, under the new law, the postmaster general is to establish not less than three primary or transcontinental routes and such secondary routes as he sees fit, but not to aggregate more than 32,000 miles or 45,000,000 airplane miles a year. He may extend a route 250 miles without new competitive bids.

Contractors who held air mail contracts previously ruled unlawful are barred from further mail carrying. No contractor may have more than one primary and three secondary routes. Present contractors may continue service subject to satisfactory performance.

BLONDE RELATES LOVE FOR BOSS; SLAIN BY WIFE

Shooting Occurs After Separation Plans.

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Haggard and semi-hysterical, Mrs. Etta Reisman, 35 years old, wife of the proprietor of a chain of beauty shops, admitted today that she had shot and killed her husband's blonde secretary, Virginia Seigh, 23, in a fit of jealousy early today on the lawn of the Reisman home in Robinswood, Queens.

Mrs. Reisman was arraigned before Magistrate Georgio Gurgio in the Flushing court and was held without bail for examination Aug. 21 on a charge of homicide. Her husband, Arthur, sat silently in the last row of seats during the arraignment, his gaze directed at the floor.

Woman Questioned at Length.

District Attorney Charles P. Sullivan of Queens county questioned Mrs. Reisman for an hour. He said he wanted to investigate further before deciding whether he would seek a first degree murder indictment.

Mrs. Reisman repeated to him substantially the same story she had told the police. She said she and her husband, whom she married about twelve years ago, had agreed yesterday afternoon to separate. She was to receive $30 a week and the custody of their 9 year old son, Elias.

Reisman returned to his home late, but had enjoyed a few drinks, and remained seated in his car in the driveway, where an argument ensued with his wife, her stepdaughter, Annette, and Miss Seigh all taking part. Miss Seigh had lived with the Reismans for several years.

Overhears Conversation.

Mrs. Reisman finally went into the house. From her bedroom window she overheard Miss Seigh tell Annette that she and Reisman loved each other. Mrs. Reisman said that she went to her husband's room and took his pistol from its holster. She went downstairs and out a side door into the driveway.

"Is it true that you love my husband?" she said she asked Miss Seigh, who was standing beside Reisman's car. The young woman answered that it was.

Mrs. Reisman said that she lifted the pistol with both hands and fired one shot at Miss Seigh, who was only about three feet from her. Miss Seigh staggered along the driveway about twenty feet and collapsed on the lawn.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily, if this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

UKRAINIANS TAKE MUSIC FESTIVAL CHORAL CONTEST

Sing in Finals Saturday at Soldiers' Field.

Only 3 Days More!

Only three days remain in which to buy tickets for the Chicagoland Music Festival Saturday. Thousands of reserved seats have been sold, but thousands more still are available. They may be had at the Tribune Public Service offices at 50c each.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

The Ukrainian chorus of Chicago, sparkling in the peasant holiday costumes of the ancestral homeland, made the ballroom at the Drake hotel ring last night as the group triumphed in the Chicagoland Music Festival finals for mixed choruses in Cook county. The Civic Choral society of Chicago took second place and the Uptown chorus third.

It was one of the most tightly contested competitions in music festival history, for the judges were forced to call the three groups back to the stage a second time to determine the winner. The three groups were told to sing again the contest number, MacFarlane's "In Pride of May," a fast, rollicking tune.

The Men with the Baions.

George Benetzky is director of brightly clad Ukrainian singers. The The Civic choral group, organized last February, is directed by William F. Mullen, who was a boy soprano with the Paulist choir 10 years ago. Emerson Abernethy director of the Uptown chorus, organized two years ago.

While the judges conferred on the upper balcony, the ballroom was led in community singing. Then the judges, Arthur Dunham, George Calder and Edward Clissold, were introduced to the throng and the decisions announced.

The Ukrainian group won the mixed chorus contest the first three years of the festival. It will sing in the grand finals of the mixed chorus division on Saturday afternoon, opposing picked choruses from downstate Illinois and other states. The winner will be introduced as the victor at the sixth annual festival concert Saturday night in Soldiers' field.

THE DAISIES DANCE

A preview of how Soldiers' field will look when transformed into a field of dancing daisies, one of the spectacles of the Chicagoland Music Festival, next Saturday night was given at the Aragon ballroom yesterday when 350 young dancers from the north side rehersed their roles.

When the dance pageant officially takes place, the field will contain not 350 but more than 1,000 daisies, their white petals and yellow hearts swaying in the night air, for the north side children will be augmented by equal numbers from the west and south sides.

The result, judging from the rehersal of yesterday, will be a spectacle of rare beauty, executed to the strains of the waltz from the ballet suite of Tschaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty."

The Dancing Daisies Appear.

The pageant opens with Mendelssohn's "Capriocco," to the accompaniment of which the dancers run into position on the field. Their bodies, clad in brief tunics of leaf green, are the stems. Their arms, covered with green sleeves, ragged, as center. These are the buds of the daisies. Opened, they simulate a daisy in full bloom.

Grouped around the field as naturally as daisies in a green mead, they first sing of themselves—the chorus from Anita Owen's "Sweet Bunch of Daisies." Out rings their childish trebles: "Sweet bunch of daisies brought from the dell . . . "

Then the dance begins—slowly, to waltz time. In perfect unison, the children raise their parasols. The daisies are opening for the day.

The Fierce Storm Descends.

Then comes a slight movement of the wind. The daisies sway from side to side. The music becomes wilder. A storm approaches. The daisies dance wildly. They bow near the ground. The music is tranquil again. So are the daisies.

The north side dancers are directed by Miss Betty Jones of the Betty Jones School of Dancing. The west side dancers, who will reherse at the Community Recreational Center this morning, are directed by Miss Mayblossom Macdonald. The south side dancers, who will reherse today at the Trianon ballroom, are directed by Mrs. Ermie Schultz. The dance was composed by these three teachers.

At 7 o'clock will be held the Chicago-Cook county vocal finals and at 8 o'clock the annual Hallelujah Chorus rehersal, under the baton of Noble Cain, general choral director of the festival.

The vocal competition takes on added interest because of an announcement made yesterday that a second radio contract is being offered to the winning woman singer of the festival. The fifteen county finalists who will sing tonight are:

PERJURY STORY HIT BY LAWYER FOR CALIFORNIA

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The state of California today began its efforts to refute an aged man's sworn testimony that he perjured himself in 1917 in identifying Thomas J. Mooney, San Quentin life termer, as the man who timed the Preparedness day parade bomb which killed 10 people.

John MacDonald, 63, a city hospital patient here said under oath yesterday that he had perjured himself at the original Mooney trial. He told his story to a special referee named by the California Supreme court. Mooney is seeking freedom.

William Cleary, deputy attorney general for California, spent most of the day hammering away at MacDonald on cross-examination. The hearing frequently was interrupted by clashes between Cleary and John Finerty and George Davis, attorneys for Mooney.

Finerty accused Cleary on several occasions of "misleading" and "bulldozing" MacDonald.

SCHOOL BOARD ASKS $12,007,238 U. S. CASH IN BUILDING PROGRAM

The board of education yesterday adopted a resolution petitioning the federal Public Works administration for a grant of $12,007,238, to cover its proposed building program.

The program calls for the construction of three new high schools, 11 new elementary schools, additions on 18 schools totaling $4,690,000, and the construction of three recreational centers totaling $189,000. The construction will provide space for 25,000 pupils. The program is estimated to provide 4,388,324 man hours of labor, according to Frank S. Righeimer, special attorney for the board.

The new high schools listed under the program are Rembrandt, 76th street and Bennett avenue, $1,200,500; Taft, Natoma and Bryn Mawr avenues, $1,200,500; and Kellogg, 106th street and Avenue A, $1,200,000. The recreational centers will be located at Foster and Damen avenues, Roosevelt road and Central avenue and 85th street and Indiana avenue.

EVANSTON SEEKS $78,389 U. S. CASH FOR RECREATION

Uncle Sam was asked for $78,389 yesterday to pay for ballroom and tap dancing, lether work, pottery, girls' club work and other recreations in Evanston. An application for this amount was sent to Washington by Illinois officials of the federal works progress administration, the WPA.

According to the proposal, Evanston will contribute $10,416 in local funds to carry out the program.

Charles T. Byrnes, superintendent of the Evanston bureau of recreation, said that recreational activities which had been carried on under the old emergency work relief setup would be expanded. Among other activities will be athletics of all kinds. Classes in various crafts will be held at the Evanston schools and at the Y. M. C. A.

The project will employ 97 persons for a period of eleven months.

Civic Groups Plan Appeal for Rigid Ban on Posters

Approximately 25 representatives of civic and women's clubs in Chicago and Cook county will visit Mayor Kelly today to urge that city ordinances against posting signs, bills, placards, and stickers on poles, fences, trees, and vacant buildings be strictly enforced. William F. Stetzer, president of the Cook county civic council, will head the delegation.

Group Would Angle for Maximum Grant.

General landscaping and related work should compose the first construction phase of Chicago's lake front exposition project, in the opinion of a special committee of the Chicago Exposition authority.

Such landscaping and accompanying "recreational improvements," committeemen said in a meeting yesterday, would come within the classes of enterprises for which the federal Works Progress administration controls employment. Hence, it was explained, the exposition authority might obtain direct government grants for these activities instead of merely loans.

Beautification Desirable.

The landscaping and recreational part of the project is expected to cost $6,000,000 or $7,000,000. Ralph H. Burke, deputy WPA administration for Illinois, remarked at the meeting that lake shore beautification was of itself a necessary and worthwhile undertaking.

As a basis for the grant of United States funds, 180 acres in Burnham park on the site of A Century of Progress will be leased to the Exposition authority by the Chicago Park district for "cultural, educational and recreational purposes," according to a statement given out after the committee meeting by Walter L. Gregory, president of the authority.

Urge Preparing Application.

The committee voted to recommend at the meeting of the full authority of ten members on Tuesday that fiscal and engineering plans and data be prepared at once to accompany the application for government money.

The committeemen who attended yesterday's session are Chairman Charles S. Peterson, Bernard J. Majewski, Chancellor Thornton and Robert S. Abbott.

The city council approved yesterday the appointment of John Nash, secretary to Mayor Kelly, to the Exposition authority in place of Max Epstein, who resigned because he is not a resident of the city.

Wins Divorce, Charging Husband Struck Her

Mrs. Anna M. Stocks, 36 years old, 5718 North Richmond street, was granted a divorce yesterday by Superior Judge Charles A. Williams from Joseph P. Stock, 37 years old, an engineer employed at the Aragon ballroom. She charged cruelty, alleging that her husband struck her on two occasions when she remonstrated with him for escorting an unnamed woman from the ballroom.

PEOPLE IN U. S. MISUNDERSTAND ME: LADY ASTOR

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Lady Astor, the American born member of parliament who has done some plain talking of late about birth control, said today her increased mail from America led her to believe some people misunderstood her.

Some of the letters approved her stand, but others didn't she added.

"I support carefully supervised birth control on the grounds of health," she explained. "I know of the horrible sufferings of many working class mothers, when they have children too frequently or when they try to prevent them by operations. The latter method is illegal, but nevertheless it is practiced much more frequently than many realize."

SAVES PENNIES; WILL WED.

Lake Worth, Fla., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Abner E. Stokes, fireman, poured out 2560 pennies and a 50 cent piece for a marriage license. Harriet B. Fliehman, teacher, explained: "I promised to marry Abner whenever he was able to learn to save the pennies for the license."

PRESIDENT PUTS SIGNATURE ON SECURITY BILL

Stages Scene for Movie Camera Men.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—With flashlights bursting in the air and to the Klieg light's bright glare, President Roosevelt signed the "historic" social security bill this afternoon.

The event was elaborately staged by Mr. Roosevelt to give, as he put it, as much publicity as possible to his social reform measure. To that end he delivered what he termed a few kinds words in behalf of the bill.

Will Sound from Screen.

The few kind words were not for the invited guests, but were delivered to movie cameras. From the sound screens of the country the words will make an appeal to the unemployed and aged voters in the 1936 campaign.

In rhapsodizing on his measure the President said: "If the senate and house of representatives in this long and arduous session had done nothing more than pass this bill the session would be regarded as historic for all time."

The signing took place in the cabinet room of the executive offices. The eyes of the members of the senate finance and the house ways and means committees followed the course of the presidential pen on the bill.

Bill's Sponsors Present.

Other onlookers were Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, ardent advocate of the measure, and Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], who sponsored the bill in the senate. A few members of the White House staf on tiptoes peered into the room.

As the signature dried the President smiled for photographers. Then movie cameramen were brought in for the reading of a prepared statement. The guests filed out as the President began speaking.

"Today a hope of many years' standing is in large part fulfilled," Mr. Roosevelt read. "The civilization of the last hundred years, with its startling industrial changes, has tended more and more to make life insecure. Young people have come to wonder what would be their lot when they came to old age. The man with a job has wondered how long the job would last.

Gives Some Protection.

"This social security measure gives at least some protection to thirty million of our citizens who will reap direct benefits through unemployment compensation, through old age pensions and through increased services for the protection of children and the prevention of ill health.

"We can never insure 100 per cent of the population against 100 per cent of the hazards and vicissitudes of life, but we have tried to frame a law which will give some measure of protection to the average citizen and to his family against the loss of a job and against poverty-ridden old age.

"This law, too, represents a corner stone in a structure which is being built, but is by no means complete—a structure intended to lessen the force of possible future depressions, to act as a protection to future administrations of the government against the necessity of going deeply into debt to furnish relief to the needy—a law to flatten out the peaks and valleys of deflation and of inflation—in other words, a law that will take care of human needs and at the same time provide for the United States an economic structure of vastly greater soundness."

Congratulates Congress, Too.

The President congratulated "all of you ladies and gentlemen, all of you in the congress, in the executive departments, and all of you who come from private life, and I thank you for your splendid efforts in behalf of this sound, needed, and patriotic legislation."

Only a few remained to receive the congratulation.

Mr. Roosevelt closed with his remarks that if the present congress had done nothing but pass this bill the session would be regarded as historic.

The bill, which had a long and stormy course in congress, reached the White House last Friday, after it cleared its last hurdle when the senate adopted the conference report, already agreed to by the house. The report eliminated the Clark private pension amendment.

The bill has three main features. It provides, first, for outright grants to the states to pay $15 a month to persons over 65 years, providing that the states pay the same amount or more and provides for other welfare grants.

The second feature of the bill is its provision for a federal old age insurance system for those now employed with a tax on employés and employers. The theory of this provision is that those now employed will build up their own old age annuities. The tax will begin in 1937.

The third provision seeks to induce the states to enact unemployment insurance legislation by levying another payroll tax on employers only and allowing them to deduct as much as 90 per cent of the federal levy if a similar tax is enacted and put in effect in the state.

Ratio of the Benefits.

The taxes on employés are not to apply to that portion of a salary above $3,000 a year. The benefits will range from $10 to $85 a month depending upon the pay level and length of service. The taxes start at 3 per cent but gradually increase to 9 per cent by 1949.

Senator Bennett Clark [Dem., Mo.] attempted to amend the second section of the measure. He proposed to exempt industries that have voluntarily built up retirement plans, equal to or better than the federal proposal, from the federal contributory tax.

PREVAILING WAGE FOR WPA IS NEXT STEP, SAYS SEN. M'CARRAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Senator Pat McCarran [Dem., Nev.] asserted today that the Works Progress administration planned to issue soon an administrative order establishing the "prevailing wage principle" for the 4 billion dollar program. His statement said that the order would not establish "the full prevailing wage scale," but "is a step in the right direction."

Immediate inquiries of high relief officials brought expressions that they were ignorant of any plans to change the basic relief wage structure, which has been the source of "strikes," notably in New York City. Harry L. Hopkins, WPA chief, could not be reached for comment.

President Roosevelt has reiterated that the "security wage" established for the WPA program would be maintained; any extreme modification of these scales would represent a radical change in policy.

Asks Congressional Quiz of Film Field 'Immorality'

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An all inclusive investigation of the motion picture industry, including charges of "immorality" against it, was proposed in a resolution introduced in the house today by Representative Sirovich [Dem., N. Y.].

Says Husband Bit Rug; Asks Los Angeles Divorce

BARONESS FREED ON BOND IN ROW OVER PASSPORT

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Baroness Natalie Ziluca, who has been confined on Ellis Island for nearly six weeks for overstaying her visitor's passport, was released today when bond of $1,000 was posted for her. Baron Geno Ziluca, the girl's uncle, was released last week on bond.

BARONESS NATALIE ZILUCA.

The baroness was vague about her plans. She didn't know how long she would be allowed to remain in the country. She had no plans beyond joining her uncle, the baron, probably at the Beekman Towers. While she had little to say for publication, she willingly posed for photographers, joking with them in her accented English.

The baroness and her uncle came to New York more than a year ago. The baron opened a restaurant, Fouquet's, a glittering duplicate of a Paris rendezvous, but it was not successful. Then a relative in Italy—the baron said it was a brother who was angered because he, too, had lost money in the restaurant venture—notified the immigration authorities that the baron and his niece had remained in America over the legal time.

Father Jailed for Hiring Thugs to Beat Children

Bay Shore, N. Y., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Frank E. White, 53, Brooklyn undertaker, was in jail today under a 30 day sentence imposed on his wife's charge that he hired the seven thugs to beat up their son and daughter last week. He also was fined $50. Three of the thugs were captured after John White, 21, and his sister, Margaret, 19, were beaten in their home here.

N. Y. WILL DENY STRIKERS RELIEF, LA GUARDIA HINTS

But Statement Comes as One Gets Dole.

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Works Progress administration strikers will not be given relief by the city administration, Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia indicated today in the first official intimation of the city's course in the strike situation.

The mayor's statement was in conflict with one of the day's incidents. It came about the same time Thomas Martin, a WPA striker, received $5 for food and a $23.50 voucher from Rosetta Fisher at the Bronx home relief bureau because he had six children and his wife was ill.

Strikes Despite Higher Pay.

Martin was working on the Astor building project prior to the time it was taken from the old emergency relief works and continued under the PWA. At that time he was paid $60 a month and given supplemental relief because he had six children and his wife was ill.

When the WPA took over the Astor project his wages automatically were raised to the "security" level of $93.50 a month. Martin, who has been in this country since 1929 but who has not yet obtained his second naturalization papers, walked off the job, however, when the union strike was called Aug. 6. He did not go back.

Meanwhile, his $23.50 check from the home relief bureau continued. This regular check was within a few hours of being ready for him when he went to the relief station today.

Family Hungry, He Says.

At the station he told Miss Fisher his family was hungry, and after a telephone conversation with Charlotte Carr, bureau head, Miss Fisher advanced him $5. A few hours later he received the supplemental check.

A decision on whether these supplemental checks will be continued for workers whose WPA income is greater than their old relief pay is expected in a few days in the home relief bureau.

The pertinent question today, however, was whether Miss Carr's approval of the food check for Martin constituted the decision that the home relief bureau would care for WPA strikers, as David Lasser, chairman of the workers' unemployed council, claimed.

Holds Food Isn't Relief.

"Martin was not given relief," said Mayor La Guardia when the question was taken to him. "He was given food."

"Is it fair to assume, then, that strikers will not get home relief," the mayor was asked.

"Nothing is fair to assume," he responded, "except that the city administration will not scab on the federal government."

Previously President Roosevelt had barred use of federal money for home relief for striking WPA workers.

In other aspects the strike was dormant today, although union leaders continued to assert they were making progress. Figures on the number of workers out were not forthcoming from Administrator Hugh S. Johnson's office.

Representatives of the unions in all boroughs met, and George Meany, executive manager of the Central Trades and Labor council, declared that at least 1,000 men were on strike.

50 Forced to Quit.

Zanesville, O., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—More than 50 WPA workers allegedly were forced to leave their jobs today as all works progress administration projects in Zanesville and Fultonham were brought to a standstill.

L. C. Gibson, regional WPA director, said agitators caused the men to leave the projects because of fear of violence.

GROUP IN HOUSE CALLS COAL BILL AUTOCRACY MOVE

Republicans' Report Hits Measure.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An accusation that President Roosevelt's "must" Guffey coal bill is designed to institute a move toward a "centralized, burocratic autocracy under executive control" was made officially tonight by a group of house Republicans.

The view was expressed by six members of the ways and means committee in a report on the bill submitted to the house. It was dropped into the hopper as New Deal leaders in both house and senate spread the report that the bill would be jettisoned in an adjournment rush.

Would Set Up Commission.

The bill would set up a new national bituminous coal commission to enforce a wage, hour, and trade practice and price fixing code like that under NRA. A tax would be levied against all coal, but rebates allowed to those operators who adhered to the code.

The Republican report said that congressmen and the President took an oath of office to "defend the constitution." Therefore, the Republicans argued, "we feel that it is improper for the President and members of congress to throw upon the courts the whole burden of considering the constitutionality of proposed legislation."

"The duty of members of congress to 'support and defend' the constitution will have been performed in connection with this or any other bill only if, after having made up their own minds as to its constitutionality, they vote as their judgment and conscience dictate," the report said.

Cites President's Stand.

"In his advocacy of this legislation, the President continues to show his apparent disregard for constitutional limitations and his desire to institute fundamental changes in our governmental system looking to the establishment of a centralized burocratic autocracy under executive control.

"These objectives can be reached only by the creation of an unjust and unwarranted antagonism to the constitution and the Supreme court to the point where the people would countenance the necessary changes in the fundamental law.

"We will not be put in the position of having helped to arouse such antagonism by forcing upon the latter [court] the entire responsibility for declaring this legislation unconstitutional."

The report was signed by Representatives Treadway of Massachusetts, Bacharach of New Jersey, Crowther of New York, Knutson of Minnesota, Reed of New York and Woodruff of Michigan. Representative Jenkins [Rep., O.], who favors the bill, did not join in the report.

Red Cross Sends $100,000 to Chinese Flood Area

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Expressing deep regret over the loss of life in flood stricken areas along the Yangtse and Yellow rivers, the American Red Cross today sent $100,000 to the Chinese government. Red Cross officials described the number of homeless in these areas as "appalling." The donation was in Chinese currency.

SHIP STRIKERS ASK ROOSEVELT FOR "FAIR" DEAL

Demand Union Recognition to End Walkout.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Four thousand striking employés of the New York Shipbuilding corporation appealed to President Roosevelt today to attempt a fair settlement of their 14 week old strike which has tied up 50 million dollars' worth of navy contracts.

In a telegram to the President, strike leaders said union recognition must be obtained before the walkout will be ended. The union also seeks wage increases and other objectives.

Although strikers rejected the government's five point arbitration plan and accused Secretary of Labor Perkins and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Henry L. Roosevelt of being unfair to the workers, they still looked to Washington for aid in settling the dispute.

Martial Law Declared.

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Gov. Ben Ross declared martial law late today in Teton county where pea field workers were threatening trouble in a strike demanding increased wages.

Col. Fritz Hummel of the Idaho National Guard, was ordered to proceed immediately to Driggs, Idaho, with 150 guardsmen.

Illinois Plant Closed.

Oglesby, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Operations at the Lipson Brothers' garment factory were ordered stopped by Sherif Ralph H. Desper today after 30 women pickets prevented a score of girl workers from reporting for duty. He said the factory would be closed until a decision is reached by a federal labor conciliator, to whom the company and representatives of the International Ladies' Garment Workers had agreed to submit their dispute over a claim of $6,000 in back salaries.

Strikers Riot in Dubuque.

Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—More than 500 strikers and sympathizers rioted here today when the Carr, Ryder & Adams company attempted to resume operations in its sash and door factory. Cars carrying strikebreakers were attacked at the factory gates. Three cars ran the gauntlet, but two others were turned back. About 1,150 union millworkers are on strike at the plant.

5,000 Workers at Parley.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Five thousand clothing workers left their jobs here today to attend conferences with their employers called in a move to revive NRA wages and minimum working hours until June, 1937.

Officials of the local headquarters of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America directed the employés to assemble at meeting halls and clinch the proposed agreement through reregistration of manufacturers' contractors.

The agreement provides for a 36 hour week and a sufficient increase in rates of manufacturing operations to guarantee the workers the minimum wages stipulated for the men's clothing code under the now defunct NRA. It was worked out by representatives of the workers and of the Baltimore Clothing Manufacturers' association.

New Violence in Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Police received reports of new violence in the Omaha street car men's strike today. Car Operator T. R. Haley said he was struck under the eye last night by an iron bolt apparently shot from a sling shot. Another operator reported bricks were thrown at his car.

ADMITS DRIVING AUTO THAT KILLED BOYS ON HIGHWAY

Death of 2 Solved; Faulty Vision Confessed.

Michael C. Stirn, 143d street and Raney's lane, Orland Park, admitted after four hours of questioning yesterday that he was the driver of the automobile that struck and fatally injured two boys on the Southwest highway near 131st street last July 22.

The boys killed were John Pitzmeyer, 14 years old, 6853 Ridgeland avenue, and George Maloney, 12 years old, 6736 Ridgeland avenue. They were hit while returning to their home with a stray dog which they had found.

Stirn confessed after the lengthy questioning in the coroner's office by Chief Deputy Coroner Victor L. Schlaeger and Drs. John A. Larson and Verne W. Lyon, psychiatrists. He had previously insisted that the boys were struck by a speeding automobile ahead of him.

Blinded by Lights, He Asserts.

In his confession Stirn said he was blinded by the bright lights of an approaching car and at the same time was aware of another automobile coming from behind to pass him. Believing the two cars would crash headon, Stirn said, he veered off the pavement to his right onto the shoulder of the road and his automobile struck the boys whom he had not seen.

The arrest of Stirn yesterday followed the investigation of the accident that has been carried on by Sergt. Francis Donahue of Coroner Walsh's office.

Stirn admitted that his vision is faulty. He will be held in custody until the inquest is resumed.

Farmer Freed of Suspicion.

John Bornet, 49 years old, a farmer living near Mokena, was released yesterday after being arrested the night before on suspicion that it was his automobile that killed the boys.

Arselino Blanco, 38 years old, 3625 Emerald avenue, died in St. Paul's hospital yesterday a few hours after he had been struck by the automobile of a hit and run taxicab driver at Halsted and 55th streets.

Blanco's death and three others yesterday increased the 1935 trafic toll for Cook county to 569. Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 451 had been killed in automobile accidents within the Chicago city limits this year and 10,092 injured. The other victims yesterday:

Richard Samway, 19 years old, 924 Vernon avenue, Glencoe. Died in St. Francis hospital in Evanston of a skull fracture incurred when the automobile in which he was riding collided with another at McCormick boulevard and Oakton street. Six other occupants of the cars were slightly injured. Robert Robertson, 20 years old, 544 Sterling road, Kenilworth, driver of the car in which Samway was riding, and Harold Lindsay, 22 years old, colored, 6423 Vernon avenue, driver of the other car, were held by the Niles Center police.

Kasper Roth, 67 years old, address unknown. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Tuesday evening when he became confused as he crossed Peterson avenue and Kedzie avenue and was struck by an automobile driven by Carl Schwengel, 28 years old, 4303 North Hermitage avenue.

John Kapusilka, 59 years old, 1619 North Damen avenue. Fatally injured when he was struck by a motor truck at Damen and Wabansia avenues.

Milk Trailer Crashes in Elgin.

Passing motorists and pedestrians narrowly escaped death in Elgin when a trailer tank loaded with 13,500 pounds of milk broke from a truck in the business district and smashed into four automobiles parked at the curb, spilling the milk into the gutters.

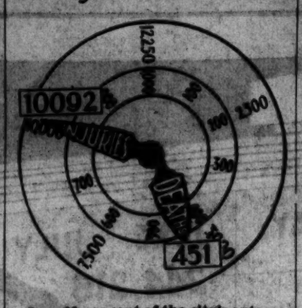
Roland Amend, 3920 North Le Claire avenue, Chicago, driver of the truck, which is owned by the Castino Transport company, 2367 Logan boulevard, told police that the air supply which operated the brakes failed as he was driving down an incline.

Auto Crushes Child of 4 on Way to Grocery

Petersburg, Ind., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Joan Madison, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow Madison, was struck this afternoon by a car driven by Mrs. Nellie Critchlow of Washington, Ind. The child's hips were crushed, her skull fractured and she suffered internal injuries. She probably will die. Her mother had sent her to a grocery.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll



Over 96 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

USE 'DISORDERLY' CHARGE TO EVADE NEW TRAFIC CODE

In order to circumvent the new state trafic code many suburban policemen and justices of the peace are charging trafic violators with disorderly conduct instead of the proper trafic violation. Thus they retain jurisdiction of the cases and assess fines, according to First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley.

Prosecutor Crowley yesterday ordered Justice of the Peace Charles A. Braun of Dixmoor to bring his court records into the state's attorney's office this week. He acted on the complaint of Michael Bernstein, 1520 South Pulaski road, that he had been arrested for passing a stop light in Dixmoor on Aug. 9, but had been fined $15 for disorderly conduct.

All of the principals involved in the case of Richard Van Loo, a Flossmoor farmer who told Mr. Crowley Tuesday that he had paid a $5 "fine" to Policeman Robert Greco of the Dixmoor department, also are to be questioned by Mr. Crowley.

FORT DEARBORN MASSACRE TO BE RECALLED TODAY

The 123d anniversary of the Fort Dearborn massacre will be observed this morning with ceremonies in front of the London Guarantee and Accident building at Michigan avenue and Wacker drive, the site of the old fort. Mayor Kelly has proclaimed the day as Fort Dearborn day.

The Junior Association of Commerce and other organisations are in charge of the program, which will begin at 11:45 o'clock. Mayor Kelly and Barnet Hodes, city corporation counsel, will speak and a wreath will be placed below the plaque at the southwest corner of the Michigan avenue bridge. Members of the Fort Dearborn post of the American Legion, Naval officers, and Boy Scouts will participate in the program.

After the ceremonies at the site of the fort an automobile caravan will proceed to 18th street and Prairie avenue, where another wreath will be placed on a tablet marking the massacre scene.

DRAWS 20 DAYS AND $100 FINE AS DRUNKEN DRIVER

Oscar Abatte, 21 years old, 6612 North Ashland avenue, a barber, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve 20 days in Bridewell by Judge Frank M. Padden in South State street court yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. The automobile he was driving crashed into a safety island at Michigan avenue and Pearson street early Sunday.

Clarence Dean, 21 years old, 2634 Flournoy street, who was arrested Sunday after his automobile struck and injured George White Jr., 25 years old, 438 North Austin boulevard, at California avenue and Harrison street, was sentenced to serve five days in the Bridewell.

West Side Parks Police Safety Contest Winners

The west side division of the Chicago park district police department yesterday was announced the highest ranking division for July in the district's six month accident prevention contest, which started July 1. The announcement was made by a committee of judges, composed of trafic experts, headed by Otto K. Jelinek, trafic engineer for the park district. The division will hold for one month a plaque donated to the contest by Robert J. Dunham, president of the park board. Patrolmen T. F. Mahoney, west division; L. P. Cardwell, south division; Thomas Dunleavy, north division, and Richard E. Sandberg, west division, were awarded honor keys for accident prevention work.

URGE RIGHT TURN BE MADE ON NEW FLICKER SIGNAL

BY HAL FOUST.

An entirely new control signal, a flickering red arrow, is suggested by a party of Chicago trafic experts who returned yesterday from a week's investigation of the right turn on the red light as practiced in New York and Detroit. From their observations in these two cities they believed that such a turn, mingling with flowing cross trafic, would be adaptable for approximately half the seven hundred signal controlled intersections in Chicago.

The red arrow, which would burn during the red disk interval, would require a stop preliminary to the right turn. In Detroit such a preliminary stop is required in making a right turn on the red disk. In New York the practice is not to stop before the turn on the red. Neither city uses a red arrow.

Leslie Sorenson, Chicago trafic engineer, who headed the survey party, said that crews of relief workers will be assigned immediately to check vehicular and pedestrian movements at likely intersections to select the 300 or 400 where the right turn on the flickering red arrow will be a convenience without a hazard. He estimated the cost of the additional equipment and of its installation at not more than $20 an intersection.

Laws Must Be Changed.

Before the proposed system can be put in operation it will be necessary for the city council and the Chicago park district to pass ordinances. In all probability the special session of the legislature this fall also will need to amend the otherwise faulty new Illinois trafic code. The code authorizes the use of a green arrow to indicate a right turn without a preliminary stop, and it authorizes cities or park districts to permit a right turn on the red light, but there is no reference to a red arrow.

This legislative action is necessary, if for no other reason, to protect motorists from civil suits growing out of any accident while performing the new maneuver. A simple police order would not give this protection.

"From this week's investigation in Detroit and New York," said Mr. Sorenson, "I'm converted to the idea of permitting turning cars to mingle with moving cross-trafic. At some intersections, such as at Monroe street and Michigan avenue and at Foster avenue and Sheridan road, this turning should be continuous without the delays of a preliminary stop and indicated by a green arrow.

Stop at Hazardous Corners.

"At a much greater number of intersections there should be a preliminary stop before the turn into moving trafic, a stop that will reduce the hazard of collisions with other vehicles or with pedestrians. Such intersections would be marked with the red arrow. A similar red arrow could authorize a left turn on the red where such a maneuver is advisable.

"At a third type of intersection, where pedestrians' requirements should dominate motorists' convenience, all turns should be made on the green only.

The original idea for the red arrow came from George Barton, engineer for the Chicago Motor club, who was likewise converted by the Detroit and New York study in his attitude toward turning vehicles into moving cross trafic. A third member of the survey party was Stephen I. Witmanski, Chicago park district commissioner. The board's engineer, Otto K. Jelinek, previously has indorsed the right turn on the red.

HODES RULES ALCOCK CAN BE REMOVED AS DEPUTY POLICE HEAD

The way was cleared for the ouster of John H. Alcock as deputy commissioner of police yesterday when Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes gave an opinion that Alcock can be removed and the office of deputy commissioner abolished under recent state legislation removing all Chicago police officials above the rank of captain from the civil service lists.

Police Commissioner James P. Allman, who has not been friendly to Alcock since he succeeded the latter as head of the department in 1932, asked for an opinion on Alcock's status shortly after the legislature approved the new civil service law. Allman was out of the city yesterday, but he previously has indicated that he would dismiss the deputy commissioner as soon as he received the opinion. The office of deputy will go unfilled.

Alcock, a veteran in the force, twice has been acting commissioner. When Allman took office, however, Alcock was left virtually without duties and with only three policemen in his command. He draws a salary of $8,000, and his pension, when retired, will be $4,000.

CONVICT 7 NUNS OF SENDING GOLD OUT OF GERMANY

Fined $7,000; One Sent to Prison 4 Months.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 14. — Seven nuns from the convent of the Good Shepherd were convicted today of sending money to branches of their organizations abroad in violation of the currency laws. Fines totalling $7,000 were imposed and one nun was sentenced to four months in prison.

The court was lenient with six nuns, taking into consideration that they already had spent several months in prison. Their lawyer pleaded also that they were in penitent mourning for two nuns, one of whom died of a stroke when police raided the convent. The other died during detention.

The nuns were charged with sending $125 in gold to a convent at Conradshammer, near Danzig, and attempting to send $9,000 to a convent in Angers, France. The nuns were seized when they tried and failed to secure a state permit to transfer the money. The sum was confiscated as part of their sentence.

Three Monks on Trial.

Three monks of the Society of Merciful Brothers, which has branches in the United States, are on trial. They are accused of illegally transferring to the Netherlands, or of failing to declare their possessions, various sums aggregating $54,000, including a credit of $3,700 in the Buffalo, N. Y., branch.

Near Bayreuth 34 boys of a Roman Catholic charity organization participated in gymnastics in their own camp. Since the government has ruled that only the Hitler Youth may take care of physical training of youths in camps, the Catholic organization was dissolved.

An official of the ministry of agriculture ordered leaders of farmers to prevent farm youths from enlisting in church organizations, reserving them for the party organization.

Criticize Salvation Army.

Protestants received less attention in German reports today. The Salvation Army is the only Protestant group which was criticized publicly. It was charged with failing to show sufficient respect for the Swastika.

While Jews are trembling in fear of what the speech here tomorrow by Julius Streicher, leading anti-Jewish agitator, may hold in store for them, the black uniformed Hitler Guards attacked German branches of American photographic firms, charging that they still employ Jews. The Hitler Guards urged a boycott of the American firms.

Reports from Dortmund said school children were engaging in anti-Jewish manifestations by sneaking up behind persons coming out of Jewish shops and pinning cards to them reading:

"I am a traitor to my people because I bought from a Jew."

Canadian Released.

Dr. Gebhard Mosl, Canadian who was arrested at Munich for criticizing the anti-Jewish drive in a private conversation, was released today without an explanation and left immediately for England.

Mosl told the British consul that after he had been held for 48 hours, constantly clamoring for the right to see the English consul, the chief criminal inspector of Munich told him:

Orders Prices Held Down.

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, "economic dictator" of the third reich, took a hand himself today in the fight against mounting prices by ordering price supervising offices to prevent "every unjustified rise."

An official communique said Schacht, minister of economics and president of the reichsbank, had instructed the supervisors "to watch the development of prices most carefully, so that general orders concerning prices be lived up to exactly, and strictly prevent all infractions of price orders as well as every unjustified rise in prices."

Army sources scoffed at a report from a Vienna newspaper that an early military or reichswehr dictatorship in Germany was expected.

MRS. EDWARD F. HUTTON.
[Acme Photo.]

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Counsel for Mrs. Edward F. Hutton affirmed tonight that she and her husband had separated.

Hutton, one of the founders of the American Liberty league and chairman of the board of the General Foods corporation, is an uncle of the Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz Reventlow.

Mrs. Hutton's lawyer, Henry A. Uterhart, denied that his client was planning to seek a Reno divorce.

MASSACHUSETTS CENSURE DRAWS REPLY OF NAZIS

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Massachusetts house of representatives' resolution condemning "abhorrent" Nazi persecutions raised the ire of Nazis today.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels' newspaper Angriff, under the headline "Hypocritical Impudence," said editorially on its front page:

"It is a case of seeing a splinter in a neighbor's eye and no beam in your own. We do not hang Jews who attack women; we do not lynch men of another race; we do not indulge in shameful excesses such as characterize the strikes in the United States. To us the Boston structures appear clownish and not motivated by a sense of moral responsibility, but simply hollow bumptiousness."

Columbus, O., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Norman Eader, 7, was drowned in the Scioto river Friday. When his body was not recovered, his father, Charles Eader, telegraphed President Roosevelt for assistance. BRITAIN MENACES MUSSOLINI WITH THREAT OF FORCE

May Urge League to Apply Sanctions on Italy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Unless the three power conference on Ethiopia, which opens here Friday, leads to "substantial progress" in the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, Great Britain will ask the league of nations council on Sept. 4 to use sanctions against Italy.

This warning was reported delivered to Premier Pierre Laval today by Capt. Anthony Eden, British minister for league of nations affairs.

Eden and Sir Robert Vansittart, permanent undersecretary of the British foreign office, who arrived last night, had a long preliminary conference with the French premier. The British objective, it was understood, is to line up the French in advance to bring united pressure on Premier Mussolini's delegate, Baron Pompeo Aloisi, who is expected tomorrow.

Call Dispute League Question.

In their conversation with Laval the British officials emphasized the fact that both countries are members of the league and that the Italo-Ethiopian dispute is a league question. This was a hint to Laval that if he does not back up Eden in the three power negotiations Britain will wash its hands completely of European security.

The British likewise insisted that there must be an immediate showdown and that on no account will Mussolini be allowed to use the deliberations of the arbitration commission as a pretext for further stalling.

While details of Eden's talk with Laval were not revealed, the position of the three powers on the eve of the conference has narrowed down to a question of whether Italy is to have political or only economic control over Ethiopia. The British position, accompanied, it is understood, by definite new offers, is that Mussolini can have almost any economic concession demands if he does not go to war.

Mussolini Asks Mandate.

Mussolini's position is that Italy must be accorded a more or less outright mandate over Ethiopia. The French are half way between, and while insisting that Italy technically must respect the league of nations covenant they wish to leave some loophole for political as well as economic concessions.

It is possible that a compromise which is unofficially mentioned here would be to institute a régime of capitulations in Ethiopia similar to that in Turkey before the war—in other words, unrestricted Italian immigration with extraterritorial rights for Italian immigrants.

If Great Britain adhered to the policy at which Eden hinted pretty explicitly in his conversation with Laval today, it would mean either dissolution of the league of nations or else collective sanctions against Premier Mussolini, involving the risk of a European war.

Stop Massacre! Ethiopia Pleads.

GENEVA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Ethiopia dispatched a fervent appeal to the league of nations today to have many nations remove an arms embargo against her, asserting otherwise she faced "massacre" from Italy.

The joint appeal and protest was placed before the league secretary general by Tecla Hawariate, Ethiopian minister to France, acting upon instructions of his government.

It called Italy "all powerful" and Ethiopia "weak and pacific."

"There is no manufacture in Ethiopia, either public or private, of arms or munitions of war," the missive said. "The imperial Ethiopian government today finds it absolutely impossible to obtain means of defense outside its own frontier.

"Is that real neutrality? Is it just? Will the council allow this unequal combat to continue? Will the council assume the responsibility in the eyes of the world for allowing these preparations to continue unchecked for the massacre of a people which constitute a menace to none?"

7th Transport in Week Sails.

ROME, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The steamship Gange, carrying 2,000 troops, many officers, and a heavy cargo of war supplies, sailed tonight for east Africa, the seventh transport to depart within a week.

Premier Mussolini, faithful to his promise of keeping the nation's armed manpower undepleted in Europe despite the African expedition, ordered all men of the military reserve classes of 1911, 1913, and 1914, who have had only three months' training to report for further duty. Several thousand are affected.

Italy Fortifies Aegean Isles.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Reports that Italy is building fortifications in her Dodecanese Islands and arranging hospital accommodations there for her east African soldiers reached Athens today. A Reuter's [British] News agency dispatch from Athens said the islands, lying in the Ægean sea off the coast of Asia Minor, have been placed under martial law and that a severe blockade is being enforced.

The Islands of Leros, the dispatch added, has been made into a fortress.

60,000 Ethiopians on March.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie has dispatched 60,000 troops to positions behind Ethiopia's eastern borders, preparatory for a quick southward drive on Italian Somaliland in the event Italy invades his kingdom.

The troops will be concentrated in the Harrar region, it was learned today. Thus placed, they can quickly be moved into Ogaden, the Ethiopian district on the frontier of Italian Somaliland.

Ethiopian war leaders anticipate an Italian advance from Eritrea toward Adowa, to the north of Addis Ababa. Such a movement would be countered by the Ethiopian advance to the south, it was pointed out.

Meanwhile, the French cruiser Dumont d'Urville arrived off this port today and took up a position commanding all approaches to Djibouti from the sea and from the Somali hinterland.

Tonight at 10 o'clock, over W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune will present John T. McCutcheon in a radio broadcast from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

The Tribune cartoonist, now on an air voyage to Europe via South America and the west coast of Africa, will take off tomorrow for Germany in the Graf Zeppelin. In his broadcast tonight he will review the detail of his trip so far.

LAUNCH FORMATION OF NATION-WIDE GROUP TO HELP ETHIOPIANS

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The first definite step toward the creation of a nation-wide organization to combat what is termed "Italy's deliberate violation of the code of international ethics," and to aid Ethiopia in preserving her political and territorial sovereignty by peaceful means, was taken here today at a meeting of the provisional committee on the Ethiopian crisis.

More than fifty representatives from various religious, educational, and social organizations of the city attended. Dr. Thomas J. Jones, educational director of the Phelps-Stokes fund, presided. Others present were the Rev. John LaFarge of the Editorial Staf of America; Dr. Sidney E. Goldstein, chairman of the social service commission of the American Conference of Rabbis; Emery Ross, secretary of the African welfare committee, and Dr. George R. Haynes, executive secretary of the race relations department of the Federal Council of Churches.

Those present voted to adopt a plan of organization calling for the creation of an executive committee of 25 persons as well as a general committee of 150 persons. The latter committee will be formed of persons in various points throughout the country, while the executive committee will meet in this city.

ACCUSES BRITAIN OF SELLING OUT ETHIOPIA TO DUCE

Lloyd George Bids for Labor Support.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Former Prime Minister David Lloyd George made a strong bid today for the coöperation of the Labor party in putting over his "new deal" scheme which was rejected by the government.

Addressing a gathering of trade union leaders in London the veteran liberal statesman criticized the national government's economic and foreign policies. He declared there is no use trying to put his plans into operation until the present administration is thrown out.

"One Thing in Common."

"We have one thing in common," the war time prime minister told the trade unionists. "None of us believes or ever believed in this national government. It is a combination in which the reactionaries drawn from every party are on top. My profound conviction is that if, during the next election, their mandate is renewed, it will be a calamity of the first magnitude."

He accused the government of destroying the league of nations and scathingly denounced what he called the government's timidity in connection with the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. Referring to the pending three-power negotiations in Paris he asked:

"Are they discussing how to prevent Premier Mussolini from destroying the independence of a friendly power which is a member of the league? Not at all. They are just discussing what measure of economic, strategic and political control can be given to Italy without war—how they can deliver Ethiopia 'on the cheap' to Italy."

Claims Jobless Data False.

He charged that the government is not telling the truth regarding the unemployment situation, contending that in this respect conditions are better in Japan, France, Germany, and Russia than in England.

Prosperity in itself is no cure for social and economic evils, Lloyd George asserted. He insisted that the whole economic system needs reconstruction.

"It will depend more on you than on any other section of the community whether this sort of thing is going on," he told the trade unionists.

Angry German Challenges Whole Fraternity to Duel

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—One man has challenged the whole of the Saxo-Borussian student corps to a duel, it was disclosed today. Nazis dissolved the fraternity recently because a company of its members presumed to discuss in a jocular fashion Reichsfuehrer Hitler's manner of eating asparagus. This irreverence aroused the ire of a letter writer to such an extent that he requested the dean of Heidelberg university to forward his challenge to members of the fraternity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Aug. 14.—The cordial friendship with which the Ethiopians regard the United States was demonstrated this afternoon when W. Perry George, retiring chargé d'affaires, paid a farewell visit to Emperor Haile Selassie I. The emperor gave him a gold watch and a set of small diamonds bearing the royal monogram.

The gift was unusual. Diplomats customarily get a decoration, but the emperor gave the watch to George as a sign of personal friendship and a token of the fact that the United States is one of those rare countries not seeking anything from Ethiopia. George spent an hour with the emperor who served tea, followed by champagne.

The American colony is sorry to see George go. He is credited with doing a great deal to uphold American prestige and improve relations.

FORMER AUSTRIAN GENERAL, 20 OTHERS JAILED BY CZECHS

MARIENBAD, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Two writers who are brothers were arrested for investigation today shortly after Rudolf Kraus, 72 year old former general in the imperial Austrian army, was jailed pending trial on undisclosed charges.

Karl and Konrad Leppa, the brothers, are sons of Karl Leppa, who was arrested Sunday for the same reason. Kraus often corresponded with Konrad, who is a writer on military subjects and the biographer of Gen. Alfred Kraus, brother of the defendant.

The former officer was arrested on the demand of the ministry of defense. There were rumors he is accused of espionage and others that he was arrested for making derogatory remarks about the republic. It appeared definite a civil and not a military court will try him. Kraus is a Czech citizen but gets an Austrian pension.

4 Killed as Hurricane Sweeps Over Budapest

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

SLASHES WIFE AND SELF.

Walter Wnek, 47 years old, 2635 Armitage avenue, yesterday attacked his wife, Caroline, 41 years old, with a razor and then slashed himself. Both were taken to the county hospital in a serious condition. Police were told Wnek had been upbraided by his wife for drinking.

SEARCH MUD FOR VICTIMS OF DAM BREAK IN ITALY

Troops Relieve Natives Marooned in Hills.

ALESSANDRIA, Italy, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Fascist Blackshirt troops and regular army soldiers sloshed through 43 square miles of tragic mud tonight, fighting a peacetime battle to relieve hundreds of inhabitants marooned by the Lake Orsiglieto flood.

Officials estimated that 250 persons were killed when the powerhouse dam near Ovada burst yesterday. Many of the bodies have not been recovered. The 15,000,000 cubic meters of water stored behind the dam wreaked nearly $25,000,000 worth of damage to buildings and crops.

First aid stations manned by military surgeons and with soldier nurses were established in the area. The stations were crowded with the hurt and sick.

Army Engineers Rebuild.

Estimates as to the number of dead ran originally as high as 1,000, and rescue working officials said they believed the final total, after the wreckage has been thoroughly explored, would run much higher than the 250 dead listed officially.

To aid the work of succor, army engineer battalions are laying temporary roads and bridges through the valley. Four of these latter replace bridges wiped out by the wall of water which rushed down the valley below the dam.

King Victor Emmanuel went into the area from his summer home near Turin to give his consolations to his stricken subjects. Premier Mussolini through Secretary Achille Starace of the Fascist party ordered every resource of the Fascist militia, the regular army and the civil government to deliver aid to the sufferers.

Gate Keeper Victim.

The watchman at the Ovada dam was one of those killed. An investigation showed that when he heard the rush of waters down the mountain, following a cloudburst, he ran to open the discharge valves on the dam in an effort to lessen the shock of the rising tide of waters.

Even as he twisted frantically on the valve control the dam gave way. The watchman, his family, and his house were overwhelmed. The waters raced out for 32 miles down the valley. In its first plunge, the water dropped 125 feet to the valley below the dam.

Among the dead are supposed to be a number of wealthy persons from Genoa who made the mountain region their summer resort. The outstanding hero of the flood, a man who saved seven from drowning, is an automobile mechanic of Ovada, Tristan Gionsa.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

HOW COMES THE REVOLUTION.

I.—SHORT INTRODUCTION TO EVERYTHING.

The New Deal divorce of the constitution may not be further along just now than residence at Reno, but separation is admitted. The country is on notice. Many things squarely meet the eye. Some do not. There are accomplished facts. They explain and they predict. Comes the revolution, but how?

The politicians in congress won't tell. Very likely they couldn't. Theirs but to do and lie. Some of the brain trusters could if it were their purpose, which it is not, to unroll a chart and explain everything. At some stages a revolution is eased along. A tremendous change has been made in the American form of government already without attracting much attention, if any, to its real nature. With little examination of its true character it has been eased in. Appearing as nothing formidable, it has attained its growth.

Lincoln, in a celebrated speech on the Dred Scott decision, said that when we see a lot of framed timbers, different portions of which we know have been gotten out at different times and places by different workmen, and when we see these timbers joined together and see them make exactly the frame of a house or mill, all the tenons and mortises exactly fitting and all the lengths and proportions of the different pieces exactly adapted to their respective places, then we find it impossible not to believe that there was a common plan or draft drawn up before the first lick was struck.

From the timbers on the lot, from the material delivered on the ground, from the orders for material to be delivered, and from the contracts signed it is possible to see what sort of a house is to be built and is being built for the new Kerensky-Roosevelt state, the socialized democracy. The builders think that they are at Runnymede for a new charter of human liberties. They may be mistaken. They may have lost their way.

It is the purpose of several editorials to examine the framed timbers, the tenons and mortises of the new house. In approaching the material it may be useful to consider the historical background. That will be the undertaking in the next editorial. We'll go back to Sinibaldo de Fieschi in the thirteenth century. But don't reach for your hat. He came upon a great political idea, now going strong in the U. S. A.

WARNING.

The local governments for the most part are appropriating 90 per cent of their estimated revenues from general taxes. The other 10 per cent is reserved for the loss and cost of collection.

The practice is a guarantee of future insolvency. Not since 1928 has the collection amounted to anything like 90 per cent. The second and final instalment of the 1933 real estate taxes became delinquent three months ago. The personal property tax became delinquent earlier in the year. Today the county collector has taken in barely 60 per cent of the total billed. He has collected only 65 per cent of the 1932 levy, now more than a year overdue.

Governments which collect 60 or 70 per cent of their taxes and spend 90 per cent are headed for bankruptcy. If present trends continue we shall again have unpaid teachers, policemen, firemen, and hospital employés. The ease with which money can be borrowed by local governments these days may postpone the defaults by a few weeks or months, but the laws of arithmetic cannot be repealed.

As the principal local governments, which do the spending, are in the hands of the Democrats and all the officials charged with collecting the taxes are Democrats, the responsibility for bad financial management will be easily fixed.

FRANCE'S WEAKNESS.

The founders of our republic had no illusions regarding pure democracy, and provided representative government as a curb upon its excesses. They were fully aware, likewise, of the danger of tyranny in an unchecked central government, and the constitution carefully limited the powers of the federal government and reserved those not specifically granted it to the states and their people.

The first French republic, on the other hand, was built upon the wreckage of a centralized, absolutist government. The structure was further centralized in the early days of the revolution by the abolishment of the old royal provinces as governmental units, to prevent them becoming rallying points for counter-revolution, and their replacement by the smaller, artificially bounded departments whose officials, then, as now, were appointed from Paris.

This centralization persists in France to this day. Combined with the tendency in recent decades toward state socialism, it has placed on the direct or indirect pay roll of the national government a proportion of the population scarcely conceivable to an American, even in these days of the New Deal.

This burocratic army, and the venality of parliamentary representatives which is a natural incentive to direct action, are the principal threats to democratic government in France today. The French civil servants put their perquisites above the welfare of the nation. When Roosevelt goes the United States will face a similar problem of subduing an army of burocrats, but it is hard to imagine that struggle reducing us to the straits in which the French find themselves. Our civil service does not constitute an army.

France, with a far more homogeneous population and far less pressing regional problems than the United States, is a conspicuous example of the weaknesses of overcentralized government. State rights are a bulwark against usurpation of power by the federal government and its employés.

RHODE ISLAND'S KANGAROOS.

Among the causes of New Deal defeat in Rhode Island was the kangaroo Supreme court of the state. The episode was the most discreditable in modern political history in this country. It was an attack upon the integrity and permanence of the state judiciary, planned and delivered by men whose political fortunes had been made under the Roosevelt banner.

The summary punishment given the Democratic party by the Rhode Island voters has brought general attention again to the affair. It is recalled that last New Year's day, before the newly elected governor, Green, the New Dealer, took office, he and his adherents swept down upon the legislature and the Supreme court. First two Republican senators were denied their seats. That gave the conspirators a majority in each house which they at once used to remove all the Supreme court justices. The legislature then elected new judges to the court, removed the sherif of Providence county, and abolished the public safety board of the city.

Some state troops had been called out in anticipation of trouble in the legislature. When the law enforcement officers were ousted the governor and his associates had complete control and the expelled justices had no recourse but to submit, a submission which seems to have been made less painful to them, if not less humiliating, by the proffer of pensions. For each of these buccaneering acts the Rhode Island New Deal dictators had a shadow of authority, but that only made the abuse of it the more scandalous. The old constitutional provision that the legislature might remove a judge clearly demanded a good and sufficient cause in an individual case. The cause against these justices was that they were Republicans. A legislature can deny a seat to a duly elected member, as we know here in Illinois. It is in ordinary cases disgraceful enough, but in Rhode Island it was to advance a general conspiracy against government properly established.

Taken as a whole, the Rhode Island episode was worse than anything Huey Long has been condemned for in Louisiana. He would have approved of it thoroughly and he might even envy the achievement and wish that it were his own. No people could feel reasonably safe when their institutions are subject to such attacks and when the integrity of their highest court is destroyed by such political turpitude. Popular resentment in part accounted for the thorough repudiation given the New Deal in the congressional election. The affair of course does not end there.

The outrage is still an open wound seriously affecting the health of Rhode Island government. How much deeper the offense goes after it has gone to the depth of political rascality has not yet appeared, but the decisions of the kangaroo court since its assuming of the false robes of judicial office are questionable. In some legal opinion they are invalid. That issue will arise later. Cases decided by the kangaroo court may have to be retried.

When the membership in the legislature has been changed, as it should be, the judges who accepted such advancement to the Supreme court will, of course, be removed for cause, and good cause. Justice will hardly be satisfied if the matter rests there. Men who accepted the judicial places made available by such means cannot be regarded as innocent of connection with the conspiracy. They were willingly its beneficiaries and thus have assumed responsibility for the grave injury done the court which they now compose.

Editorial of the Day

THE CAUSE OF HIGH PRICES.

[Battle Creek Enquirer-News.]

While threats of a state-wide boycott of retail butchers in protest against high meat prices, outgrowth of a Detroit housewives' strike, isn't likely to take shape, the seeds of discontent are certain to lie in fallow soil for months to come.

The retail dealers aren't to blame for high prices. Even the striking Detroit housewives recognize that fact, their leaders declaring the boycott is being aimed at this class as the only effective protest which it is possible for them to make.

Retail prices are based on packers' prices. And the packers have their alibi. As one declares: "Conditions causing high meat prices are fundamental. They began with the scarcity economics which led to the slaughter of little pigs at the instance of the department of agriculture and were augmented by the drouth conditions which resulted in the slaughter of 7,000,000 head of starving cattle a year ago."

Existing processing taxes also come in for their share of blame. At present they amount to two and a quarter cents per pound on liveweight hogs. They cannot be passed on uniformly. They average perhaps three cents per pound on dressed hogs. The poorer cuts bear only a fraction of the whole tax. Fancy hams, chops and bacon bear an average of perhaps five cents a pound tax.

Surveys reveal that hogs coming to market average only 45 to 50 per cent of normal. Due to the little pig campaign and drouth, hogs on the farm average only 75 to 80 per cent of normal.

Strikes, boycotts can do little toward lowering prices regulated by the fundamental law of supply and demand.

Even while sympathizing with the Detroit housewives, it must be admitted they are pursuing a wrong and dangerous method.

The hope is that the strike is not spread further.

WAKE-LINE MAIL BOX.

DEAR HARVEY: I have just returned from Dyche field, where the All-Star collegians had their first workout tonight. A survey of the boys at this time cannot fail to impress one with the overwhelming odds against them. It is comparable with putting a college team in early October against one at the height of training at the climax of the season.

The task of training, sorting, and welding these some forty-odd college boys from different elevens into a smoothly running machine, fit for a supreme effort two weeks hence, appears well-nigh insurmountable. Surely they will have to be 30 per cent superior to the Bears, man for man, to overcome the handicap of the organized team play of their opponents.

It is a one-sided combat according to natural odds. I am praying that the youngsters' fervor during the match will be a major factor—exaltation has won many a football game. How interested and excited I am! Won't it be grand fun?

Yours, Arthur H. Curtis.

Without a catcher, without a pitcher, with one infielder (Herman), without an outfielder, they are in the first division and fighting for the pennant. My chapeau is off to them.

So they're not going to tax the incomes of us little fellows earning $800 to $1,000 a year—that is, NOT YET. But they'll come to it. Every other kind of tax has been imposed, including the sales tax mulcting of small fry, to provide jobs for slothful politicians and to furnish money to the shiftless. This New Deal is a joke. Forgotten man? Well, he's not the fellow who works and tries to provide a living for his family. He's remembered all the time with more and more taxes for scandalous waste. Disgusted Small Fry.

Wake-Line: Often we see misquoted that "Money is the root of all evil." The origin is from the Bible in Paul's second letter to the Corinthians. He did not say that money is the root of all evil, but that LOVE of money is the root of all evil. There is a great difference.

If one loves money, he will, if necessary, do anything to get it, and the cause of most crimes is the love of money. On the contrary, money, if properly acquired and used, is the root of all good things in life. C. G. D.

THE USE OF OXYGEN IN CYANOSIS.

EVER since the discovery of oxygen by Joseph Priestley and the recognition of its importance by the French chemist Lovoisier its essential rôle in the operation of the human body has been studied. Early in the nineteenth century an ingenious English chemist-physician, Thomas Beddoes, conceived the idea that disease could be cured by breathing various types of gases and among them he included oxygen. It was at Beddoes' Pneumatic Institute in Bristol that Humphrey Davy, then a youthful laboratory assistant, discovered nitrous oxide gas and many of its properties.

Despite the impractical nature of some of Beddoes' theories, the medical use of oxygen has been reported from time to time and within recent years its life saving properties have been clearly demonstrated.

The principal symptom that calls for oxygen is known as cyanosis. This means that the blood is receiving too little oxygen, and the face [particularly the lips], the tip of the nose, and the extremities [hands and feet] will appear dusky or bluish in shade.

There are some perfectly obvious causes of cyanosis: [1] any obstruction to the flow of air to and from the lungs; [2] reduction in the lung area; [3] failure on the part of the heart to pump the normal amount of blood.

While the lung capacity, heart power, etc., may be sufficient to provide the blood with oxygen for ordinary use, whenever there is an increased demand for oxygen on the part of the tissues there may be an inadequate supply and, hence, cyanosis. Should we exercise strenuously we will note that the heart rate is increased and that breathing is more rapid. Suppose we exercise violently and continue to breathe at the normal rate—sixteen to eighteen times per minute—the chances are that some degree of cyanosis will develop. Breathing is increased in order to supply the extra oxygen needed by the tissues.

A number of diseases are accompanied by insufficient oxygen in the blood. In pneumonia, for example, the air sacs and even the bronchi may be filled with fluid and cells, shutting off the entrance of air. This results in a reduction in the area of the functioning lung. In severe forms of bronchitis there may be so much exudate thrown out into the bronchial tubes that interference with the passage of air is marked. Again, when there is stretching or dilatation of the air sacs themselves, as in emphysema, the oxygen exchange is interfered with and cyanosis follows.

We are quite familiar with the cyanosis of the face that develops after a severe coughing spell. This is particularly noticeable in children following the intense paroxysms that attend whooping cough.

Heart disease may cause cyanosis because of the failure of this organ to pump sufficient blood through the lungs. Valvular heart disease, particularly if the heart muscle has weakened, is a fairly common cause.

When cyanosis occurs we have positive evidence of interference with the nutrition of the tissues, and if it continues for any length of time damage to muscles and organs will result. The body was planned to function on a certain consumption of oxygen and whenever this is reduced the tissues will be correspondingly starved. For this reason when cyanosis develops the use of an oxygen room may be invaluable. The gas may also be administered through a tube placed in the nose or by means of an oxygen tent. These devices are now in everyday use in modern hospitals.

A pneumonia patient may be struggling for air with a third of the lungs shut off because of disease. Breathing is greatly accelerated—40 times or more per minute—but even this added physical effort is not sufficient to supply needed oxygen and the face may be cyanotic. Let this patient enter an oxygen room where the concentration is 50 per cent or higher and the effect is often spectacular. Respiration slows, extra heart effort ceases, and the normal color returns to the skin.

Cyanosis, then, means lack of oxygen from some cause, and the relieving remedy—not cure—is oxygen.

CYSTITIS.

M. R. S. writes: What causes cystitis and what can be done for it?

REPLY.

Cystitis is inflammation of the bladder, the result of some type of infection. The urine often contains a considerable quantity of pus. Urinary antiseptics and irrigation of the bladder may be required. Bacteria can gain entrance to the bladder either from outside the body, from the kidneys, or possibly extend from adjacent infected tissues.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—New light on the beginnings, art, and culture of the British races is awaited daily following the departure for Dorchester of Dr. Mortimer Wheeler of the London museum and a score of foreign archæological experts, including Americans, Chinese, and students from countries nearer home.

They are working on an excavation begun last year at Maiden castle. There is not a brick nor stone laid upon another to justify its being called a castle, in the conventional European sense of the word. But long before the Saxons, Danes, or Normans had arrived the local inhabitants had already given the place the style and title of Mey-Dun. This, in early Celtic, signified "mound of strength." In later days it became Maiden castle.

Archæologists are intrigued because excavations made by the University of Chicago at Meidun in Egypt bear a strange resemblance to those of this immense mound—loftier than St. Paul's cathedral and unique owing to its "step formation." Outside Wasta, Egypt, on the Nile, four hours' journey from Cairo, Americans have worked on another Meidun which also has a "step formation."

British and eastern archæologists are interested in this coincidence which points to the conclusion that Celtic culture is definitly allied to the culture of the Pharaohs.

Exactly like its counterpart on the Nile, this unmatched work of Celtic Britain rises from one step to another in three stiff climbs, each of 200 feet. The early Egyptians built in stone and chose a site high above the Nile. The Celts chose a site on the flat, low lying lands and built a step pyramid of earthworks.

Why? The same query applies to the Roman camp near by. Both these civilizations, centuries apart, had reason, it is plain, to fortify themselves at Dorchester. Against whom? ask the archæologists.

Dorchester is ten miles from Weymouth. The whole of this coast was in early times scoured by merchant or piratical ships of Phoenicia. Some theorists suggest that Egyptians who had escaped the lash of the master masons of Egypt's great works were aboard these ships and brought to Mey-Dun the secrets of Meidun. The latter is a tomb. The former is both fortress and tomb.

The excavators have already discovered at Maiden castle that the early British, long before the Romans came, had a high civilization. They have furthermore discovered that the Romans took possession of the fortification which they could admire and use but not emulate.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

Recent studies of identical twins carried out by Prof. H. H. Newman of the University of Chicago show that there is no unusual mental, spiritual or telepathic connection between twins when they are separated. He found that such twins usually had similar emotional reactions, even when reared apart, and that a given situation would likely affect both in the same way if they were both present, but not if one was absent. This is only one of the many erroneous ideas which are common regarding twins.

WITHOUT GLASSES.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 12.—In connection with your new "Regal" type, I am quite certain you will be interested in my story concerning it.

As a rule I read your paper while riding on the "L" each morning and read it from the back sheet to the front, so I did not notice the announcement on the front page. I wear glasses for reading and close-up work. As Monday morning was unusually breezy I decided to wait for the reading until later. A few minutes after this, however, I thought I'd look at the headlines anyway and in doing this commenced reading without my glasses some of the rest of the articles. I said to myself, "My eyes must be improving and perhaps after a while I will not need glasses." Finally I reached the front page, and then came on the article about the improved Regal type.

You will know then by my own experience the type used is a considerable improvement, especially when it was with not much discomfort to read without the aid of glasses. C. W. DITTMAR.

ISN'T FIVE BILLION ENOUGH?

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Our past periods of prosperity were brought about by prolonged wars which created a demand for labor and materials and caused wide redistribution of money. After a war had ended, prosperity usually remained for a while because the high wages of wartime had created a vast market for goods which sustained a period of capital development.

Obviously something must be done to absorb the present surplus of labor which keeps wages down at bare living levels; otherwise our civilization will surely decay like those which have gone before. We do not want another prolonged and destructive war. So, why not have the government employ all of the unemployed for constructive purposes at a decent minimum wage?

STANLEY W. MORTEN.

INCONSISTENCIES.

Osceola, Ia., Aug. 7.—From the reasoning of our so-called wise men it appears that the worst calamity that can befall a nation of people is to have plenty of everything needful.

Through all the plans and schemes of these great financial heads there are three unmentioned privileges that stand out in bold relief to the intelligent reader:

1. An oversupply of the necessities of life is starving the people.
2. We can't have plenty unless we make a scarcity.
3. Cut production to a volume that we can control and we'll make you pay for it.

I have no time for, nor sympathy with, the theory that overproduction makes a depression. Its only effect is to make commodities easier to obtain, thus simplifying the problem of subsistence.

WILLIS MILLARD.

THE FORD FORTUNE.

Highland Park, Ill., Aug. 12.—The writer is not a partisan of Mr. Ford and never owned a Ford car, but it is probable that no other fortune in the United States at the present time is more efficiently used for the welfare of the people of America than Mr. Ford's. He employs thousands of workers at high wages, and he was the pioneer in making an economical and effective means of transportation available to the average citizen.

No one can charge Mr. Ford with wasting his fortune in riotous living or using it in a dictatorial manner, unless his refusal of a Blue Eagle was such. It would be interesting if a brain truster would tell us how Mr. Roosevelt's followers, after they have confiscated Mr. Ford's fortune, would use it more effectively for the benefit of the people. The futile efforts of the administration minions in other lines will give an idea of the results. N. S. MAYO.

YES.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Can the continued improvement in American business which started with the Supreme court NRA decision be explained somewhat as follows:

1. American business, disturbed ever since the 1932 election, was stalemated right up to the time of this decision.

2. The NRA decision, in the opinion of thinking people, was the first step toward a return to sanity.

3. As the so-called leaders veered still more away from sane and intelligent reasoning, sober minded Americans began to recognize that after all our present rulers can create little real damage before the fall of 1936.

4. Therefore as the likelihood of reelection of the present brain-busters grows less and less, business gets better and better. It won't be long now.

WEST SIDER.

LET 'EM EAT CAKE.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—It is just too bad. It looks like our President and the whole United States government will allow nineteen million dollars to be spent for sports playgrounds, golf courses, swimming pools, etc., when it is impossible for the landlords and landladies to collect the back rent for their rooms that have sheltered the people that are on the relief for from four to six months.

At the stations if they are asked, "Where is the money going to from the 3 cent tax?" they will answer, "The money is being used for other good causes." ONE OF THEM.

HOROSCOPE.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Allow a layman to read the horoscope of four years of the New Deal.

1933—In brains we trust.
1934—No rains, but dust.
1935—Roosevelt says you must.
1936—New Deal goes bust.

CLAIM MDIVANI PRINCE BURNED UP HUTTON MILLION

Report Dowry Went for Yachts, Polo Ponies, Cars

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Prince Alexis Mdivani's extravagant taste in polo ponies, exotic voyages, champagne parties, high powered cars and yachts ate up, before his tragic death Aug. 1 in an automobile accident, the $1,000,000 dowry given him by the Hutton family on the occasion of his marriage to Barbara Hutton, heiress to the Woolworth 10 cent store millions, now the Countess Kurt von Haugwitz-Reventlow.

This information was conveyed to THE TRIBUNE today by friends close to both the Huttons and the Mdivanis. Confirmation was given by the Danish count, Barbara's present husband, who is now staying at the Ritz in Paris with his bride on what was meant to be a honeymoon trip, but on which he has found himself drawn into the hornets' nest of the tangled finances of his wife's former husband.

Calls Wealth Stories Fantastic.

"The stories emanating from New York regarding the enormous wealth of Prince Alexis being 4 to 10 million dollars are purely fantastic," the count said.

Barbara denied that she would meet the Mdivani brothers, Serge and David, who will arrive tomorrow. She said she has no interest in the present proceedings and that she assumes that Prince Alexis left any money he might have had to the Mdivanis.

In passing she denied rumors that she is expecting an interesting event with the comment that she would not tell it even if it were true. She and the count will resume their honeymoon trip Friday, going to Venice.

Lived Beyond Annuity.

According to THE TRIBUNE'S informants Prince Alexis not only devoured most of the million dollar dowry but lived far beyond the $60,000 annuity settled on him by the Huttons at the time Barbara divorced him.

He had no other resources, having been penniless at the time of his marriage to Barbara, despite a previous marriage to wealthy Louise Astor van Alen.

The debts reported left by Alexis are going to constitute a problem and a friend of the Mdivanis intimates that the clan will make an effort to have the Huttons settle them in the event Prince Alexis willed any residue of his estate to Barbara.

$184,000 in Gems Lost in Crash.

BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Authorities began a search tonight for a fortune in jewelry reported lost by Baroness Maud von Thyssen in the automobile crash Aug. 1 which cost the life of her companion, Prince Alexis Mdivani.

Her husband, Baron von Thyssen, said the baroness had a satchel containing jewelry worth 2,800,000 francs [$184,000] when Mdivani's automobile left the highway and overturned.

Hospital officials denied seeing the bag when the baroness was brought unconscious to the hospital.

The baron said the satchel contained a number of diamond bracelets, two diamond necklaces, brooches and other jewelry. The baroness was reported at her hospital to have lost the sight of one eye in the accident.

REVEAL JAP ARMY FOUGHT SALE OF LAND TO FORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 15 [Thursday].—Opposition of the army to the sale of land to the Ford Motor company was disclosed today in a statement issued by the Tokio Bay Reclamation company. According to the statement, the Ford company contracted to purchase in April. Soon thereafter the army demanded annulment of the contract.

The company then consulted with various government departments as to what to do. The department of commerce and industry warned that if Ford bought the land future circumstances would interfere with the Ford plans and that consequently it was advisable to inform Ford to this effect before handing over the property.

This was done, but the Ford company did not heed the advice and insisted on obtaining the property. So the Tokio Bay company asked the government for compensation for breaking its contract, but this was denied and consequently it carried out the terms of the contract.

U. S. INTERVENES IN FLIGHTS OVER PERUVIAN AREA

Accused of Acting for Existing Air Line.

BY C. N. GRIFFIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 14.—The recent flight of one of four Condor planes owned by the Tampa, New Orleans, Tampico Airlines, Inc., on a reconnaissance trip over 4,000 square miles of territory in the gold-bearing region of the Inambari river of southern Peru has had a diplomatic repercussion here, it transpired today.

The flight has drawn a rebuke from the United States ambassador, Fred Morris Dearing, directed to Hugh Wells, leader of the expedition, and a note of protest from the United States department of state to the Peruvian government.

The flight was made with Wells and Cornelius "Scotty" Burmood of Chicago as pilots with seven passengers, including two Peruvian military flying officers.

The Envoy's Letter.

The ambassador's letter, addressed to Wells, said:

"The fact of these flights has been communicated to the state department, and I am obliged under instructions just received to point out to you and your associates that the flight of unlicensed planes by unlicensed pilots is a flagrant violation of the regulations of the commerce department.

"Under further instructions from the state department a note has been addressed to the minister of foreign affairs requesting that the four planes now being detained at the request of our government be prohibited from leaving the ground as long as they remain in their present status of unlicensed planes."

The planes have been detained since the beginning of April. Wells charges that a clique within the state department is deliberately attempting to ruin his enterprise because of threatened competition with an existing international American-owned air line.

Peruvian Officials Puzzled.

The Peruvian officials here are frankly puzzled by the existing embroglio and resentment has been expressed in influential quarters at what is regarded as an unwaranted intrusion of the United States ambassador in a matter regarded as wholly within Peruvian jurisdiction. The planes entered Peru with full authority of this government and complied with all international requirements.

It is understood that Wells is negotiating for the formation of a Peruvian National Airways company, backed by wealthy local interests engaged in exploiting the rich gold lands of the eastern rivers which now can be reached by planes.

The sale of three Condor planes to Chile and five to Ecuador in recent weeks also complicated the situation, as the United States government had previously blocked the deal to sell the four Condors now here to the Peruvian government.

CLUB'S "AFFRONT" BRINGS SECOND JAP OBJECTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—For the second time in ten days Hirosi Saito, Japanese ambassador to the United States, interrupted his vacation in his Connecticut summer home to lift his voice at the state department against irreverent treatment of Emperor Hirohito at the hands of American humorists.

Saito's visit today was occasioned by the merry-making of members of a Seattle, Wash., hunt club last Saturday. One member of the club portraying Emperor Hirohito pulling a jinrikisha containing a fellow member, who portrayed Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

No Formal Protest.

The Japanese ambassador made no formal protest but delivered representations against the burlesque. Representations in the diplomatic word for an unofficial protest which need not be answered formally.

Saito informed Under Secretary of State William Phillips that the Japanese people had deeply resented the Seattle "hunt" as an affront to their emperor whom they regard as a divine personage.

Recall Aug. 4 Incident.

In the same words last Aug. 4 he carried a formal protect against a caricature of the emperor in the magazine Vanity Fair. The cartoon depicted the emperor as drawing a jinrikisha containing the Nobel Peace prize in a group entitled "unlikely historic situations."

In soothing tones Secretary of State Cordell Hull then told the envoy that this government has no control over freedom of speech and the press. Mr. Saito asked that the state department do whatever it could and expressed the hope that his protest would halt further slights to his emperor.

Gets Congratulations

Mrs. Kenneth F. Rich, a resident of Hull house for almost twenty years, was being showered with congratulations yesterday upon her appointment to succeed the late Jane Addams as head resident of the social service center. The appointment was announced Tuesday. Mrs. Rich has been director of the Immigrants' Protective League of Chicago for the last ten years and a lecturer at the University of Chicago. She will begin her new duties on Oct. 1.

$30,000 Bail for Widow Facing Retrial for Killing

Bond of $30,000 was set yesterday by Acting Chief Justice John C. Lewe of the Criminal court for Mrs. Suzanna Madoian, 31 years old, pending her retrial on a charge of killing her estranged husband, Leo, a laundry worker, two months ago. A jury in the first trial was discharged last Saturday when it failed to reach a verdict. Mrs. Madoian said her husband was shot accidentally when he picked up a revolver to frighten him in a quarrel.

WIFE RELATES COL. LINDBERGH'S WORST MOMENT

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh probably never has been nearer death in all his adventurous career than in 1931 in the Yangtze valley in China. He was on an errand of mercy at the time, says Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, in "North to the Orient," her first book, published today.

She tells the story of the 1931 flight to China by way of the Canadian wastes, Alaska, Siberia, and Japan. She tells that Col. Lindbergh took off one morning from Nanking for Hinghwa, in the worst of the flooded district. "Carrying with him in the plane a Chinese doctor, an American doctor and several packages of medical supplies. . . . In less than an hour they had completed a trip which would have taken days by canal. The plane landed on flooded fields outside the city walls. A few stray sampans were the only signs of life on the calm waters."

The Chinese doctor finally persuaded one sampan to pole up to the plane and lowered a package of medicine into the boat. The starving people in the other boats decided that the package contained food; other sampans closed in, their occupants begging pitifully for something to eat.

"Desperately the three in the plane tried to keep away the sampans, which threatened to puncture the pontoons. One boat had a fire aboard and it was dangerously close to a wing of the plane. The crowd increased and grew sullen. Col. Lindbergh drew his revolver, but hesitated to use it."

"Suddenly a man stood up and put his foot on the left pontoon," continues Mrs. Lindbergh. "As though at a signal, the rest surged forward. They had begun to board.

"My husband . . . whipped the gun from the right side to the left quickly, shooting straight up in the air as he turned. Each side thought some one had been shot on the other. . . . Slowly they edged back."

JAP ARMY CHIEFS ACT TO BOLSTER UNITY, DISCIPLINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 15.—[Thursday.]—Calling on Premier Admiral Keisuke Okada today Senjuro Hayashi, war minister, reported on a special conference of the army's "big three" yesterday at which the need of action toward unity and stricter discipline in the military service was seen.

The three officers were: Field Marshal Prince Kotohito Kanin, chief of the general staf; Inspector General of Military Education Gen. Jotaro Watanable and Hayashi.

Prince Kanin recommended that precautions be taken against the spread of wild rumors and that punishment should be meted out to those in the army attempting to disturb unity and discipline.

The question of army discipline arose following the slaying last Monday of Lieut. Gen. Tetsuzan Nagata, director general of Japanese military affairs, by a fellow officer. The killing allegedly grew out of the army shakeup in which Watanabe succeeded Gen. Jinzaburo Mazoki as inspector general of military education.

PARLEY ADOPTS PLANS FOR UNION OF METHODISTS

Dream a Step Nearer, but Still Faces Hurdles.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The United Methodist church, formed out of a reunion of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church, was born yesterday, at least in the minds and according to agreements of 50 commissioners of these three churches meeting at the First Methodist church in Evanston.

But plans adopted here have many hurdles to leap before the quarter century old dream of a united Methodism in America is realized. The union plan must face debates before the general conferences of the three churches, two of which occur next May and the third, in the southern church, in 1938. If approved by a two-thirds majority vote in the general conferences, the plan must be ratified by a three fourths majority of the total votes cast in all annual conferences in the three bodies.

Six Regional Areas Planned.

As a result of yesterday's debate on a name, it was decided to omit "Episcopal" from the title of the reunited church, and call it the United Methodist church.

Six jurisdictional or regional conferences as revealed Monday night by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, Macon, Ga., will be the key to the reorganization plans, it was learned last night. It appeared that the jurisdictional conference plan would be approved by the joint commission. Two of these projected conferences are the northeast, including New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland; and the southeast, embracing Virginia, Tennessee, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, Cuba, and Porto Rico.

Illinois in North Central.

West Virginia is included in the north central conference with Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio, while the south central area includes Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas. The western conference includes all the remaining Pacific coast, Rocky mountain, and plains states, together with Alaska and Hawaii.

The sixth conference is nation-wide and provides a separate unit for all colored work of the united churches. It will be known as the Central conference.

HAROLD TEEN—A NEW LOW IS REACHED

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Orville Knapp, blond bandmaster from Hollywood who is to replace Wayne King at the Aragon and W-G-N Oct. 1, dropped into town yesterday to complete business details for his forthcoming engagement. Knapp came by air from the west and is flying back today to return to his orchestra which is playing at the Beverly Wilshire hotel, a favorite spot of movie folk.

Knapp renewed acquaintance here with Harold Stokes, W-G-N dance orchestra director, with whom he played when they were both undergraduates at the University of Missouri. They both performed with a campus outfit—the Quadrangle orchestra. Knapp also dropped in on Joe Sanders at the Blackhawk who gave him his first job after he left school. Knapp recalled that he had appeared on W-G-N years ago when playing with the old Nighthawks at Lincoln tavern.

Several years ago he returned to musical enterprises and two years ago organized the orchestra which he is bringing to the Aragon. He got his first big radio break playing for President Roosevelt's last radio birthday party. His orchestra features an electrically amplified steel guitar, an electric organ, and saxophones.

Swimming instructions will be brought to listeners by Tom Robinson, swimming expert of Northwestern university, who has trained many a world champion, when WBBM picks up the first lesson for an eight year old girl at 10 a. m. Saturday morning. The Chicago park district has arranged to pick up the program at pools, field houses, and beaches for the benefit of 14,000 in its swimming classes.

The All-Star football game will be broadcast by W-G-N and the Mutual net and by NBC on the night of Thursday, Aug. 29. Bob Elson and Timer Layden, Notre Dame coach, will handle the W-G-N-MBC broadcast, and Hal Totten and Russ Winnie of WTMJ, Milwaukee, will be at the microphone for NBC. W-G-N will be the only local outlet.

Pat Kennedy, Irish ballad singer, will have a program of his own shortly on NBC. Last year the former Ben Bernie soloist was heard on CBS. . . . Virginia Clark, who plays the lead in the W-G-N-CBS "Helen Trent" program, has been taking a lot of vocal lessons and is likely to bob up as a singer on the air soon. Incidentally, she started as a songstress on WJJD several years ago, but gave it up for acting. . . . Lyle Smith, an orchestra leader, new to Chicago, opened an engagement at Lincoln tavern and over NBC last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Henry Breasted Jr.

Wears Gown Made in 1906 for Mother

Couple Leave for East to Sail for Europe.

The lovely white organdy gown Miss Helen Ewing wore yesterday afternoon for her wedding to James Henry Breasted Jr. was so similar to modern fashions it was hard for the guests to believe that her mother had worn the dress on her wedding day in 1906. The short veil was of billowy tulle and the bride's bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

The service, beautiful in its simplicity, was read by the Rev. Butis McHatton at 4:30 o'clock at the Lake Forest home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hull Ewing. Then there was a reception for the relatives and intimate friends and after this Mr. Breasted and his bride left by motor for the east.

Next week they will sail for England since Mr. Breasted is going to enroll this autumn for two years of study at Oxford. Mr. Breasted's parents, Dr. and Mrs. James H. Breasted left the city immediately following the wedding in order to sail for Europe on Friday. They are going to Rome where Dr. Breasted will attend an archæological conference.

The gowns that the attendants wore in the wedding were very much in keeping with that of the bride. Miss Katherine Ewing, the bride's sister as maid of honor, was gowned in turquoise blue organdy and Mrs. Charles Eskridge Saltzman and Miss Jane Trowbridge, the bridesmaids, wore apple green organdy. Instead of hats they had in their hair delicate wreaths of daisies that matched their bouquets.

Thomas P. Cook of Kingston, N. J., served Mr. Breasted as best man, and ushering were Robert Walker of New York, and Frank Allen.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Fallon of 2845 Sheridan place, Evanston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Catherine, to John A. Naghten, son of Mr. and Mrs. James I. Naghten, 3240 Lake Shore drive. The wedding will take place late in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Bart of 5455 Melrose avenue announce the engagement of their sister, Pearl Marie, to Charles Walker of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker of Springfield, Ill. The wedding will take place next spring.

Study Abroad Appears to Be More Popular

BY JUDITH CASS.

THAT a European education is becoming more and more a factor in the life of young women whose families can afford it is made evident by the number of debutantes who have had a year or two abroad after finishing at American schools. Each year we write of them in increasing numbers, young ladies who study in Paris, in Rome, in Florence, or who travel about the continent with a touring school.

It is not often, however, that we find plans for such a continuance of school days interfering with the thrills and fun of making a debut. This is just what has happened to Miss Carlotta Lagorio, for her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Lagorio, have postponed her debut and she will go to Italy for one or two years. Miss Lagorio will leave for Rome the end of September and her mother will join her next year for the spring and summer. Mrs. Lagorio and her daughter are in Chicago for a few days, but they will return shortly to their summer home at Delavan Lake, Wis., where they will stay until after their Labor day houseparty.

Another young woman whose debut has been postponed in favor of another year at school is Miss Mary Acher, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Kilroe of Lake Forest. About the first of September Miss Acher will return from England, where she has been a member of Prof. Trowbridge's International Students Union group, and after a few weeks in Lake Forest she will pack up again and leave for Florida. She is to be a sophomore at Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla., where Mr. and Mrs. Kilroe have a lovely new home which they purchased last winter. The Kilroes will leave about the same time and will tour around the south for a while before they settle for the season at Winter Park.

Miss Alma Acher, Mrs. Kilroe's elder daughter, is spending the summer acting with a stock company at the Pasquaney music colony in New Hampshire. Within the next week she is going to York Harbor to visit Mrs. Arthur Aldis.

Mary Jean Bartelme Returning From Europe.

Miss Mary Jean Bartelme and Miss Frances Glore, both of whom will be presented to society at teas on the afternoon of Sept. 11, will be able to draw upon a background of several months' study in Europe as well as their American education for conversation during the coming fall and winter. Miss Bartelme, whose aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Bartelme, and grandmother, Mrs. Ferdinand Eugene Bartelme, will present her at a reception in their home on Westmoor road, Winnetka, is returning Saturday or Sunday from a summer in Germany, where she joined a group of students at the University of Munich. She attended the music festival at Salzburg just before embarking for New York. Miss Bartelme spent two months last summer traveling all over Europe. She attended the North Shore Country Day school in Winnetka before entering Vassar college, where she will return for her sophomore year this fall.

Among other parties that have been planned for Miss Bartelme is the luncheon Mrs. William Ogden Green and Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter will give for her on Sept. 10 in Mrs. Green's Winnetka home. Mrs. Warren Corning also will entertain for the debutante.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Glore will celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary at the same time their friends will be coming to their Lake Forest home to meet their grown-up daughter. Miss Glore returned this summer from a winter at school in Italy, and she plans to go to New York soon after her presentation to take special courses there. Mr. and Mrs. Glore and the debutante are leaving for Harbor Point, Mich., today to be away until after Labor day.

Sally's Guests Have Theater Party Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Are all you winners ready for our party this afternoon?

If you're coming with me to see "Water Babies" at the Jack and Jill theater today you'd better be ready promptly and all set for a good time. Don't forget to bring your invitations with you.

Letters requesting invitations to "Curly Top" are piled up right here on my desk and I'm ready to start to work on them immediately. Judging from the mail, I guess Miss Shirley Temple is a popular young lady. I'm going to pick fifty of the boys and fifty of the girls who write the best letters to be my guests next Thursday.

I haven't had a chance to tell you about the gay stage show the lucky winners will see in addition to the featured movie. It seems to have been planned just to order for children, and just wait till you see it!

In addition to the regular Chicago Theater orchestra and the ballet of beautiful dancers we'll see Adele Nelson and her dancing elephants; Buster Shaw and his two midgets, Olive and George; Willie and Joe Mandel, who are acrobatic comedians, and Pete, Peaches, and Duke, who are dancers.

If you really want to come to see this show [and who wouldn't?] and have remembered to follow all our rules—perhaps you'll win an invitation! At any rate watch for next Sunday's TRIBUNE. You may see your name listed as one of the winners!

INGOLSTADT, Germany.—After the impressive grandeur of the Gothic cathedrals in other lands, the baroque churches of south Germany are a delight—if you happen to like the baroque. And I do. Yesterday we motored to an ancient Benedictine abbey—situated on a point of land near where the Danube and the Main converge—that is a triumph of southeast Germany baroque. The trip and the interior of the abbey will be an outstanding impression of this holiday jaunt.

HERE the Danube flows rapidly; barren rocks rise on either side to wooded heights, and the surrounding country is wild and romantic. The abbey is unimpressive from the exterior, and it was with some disappointment that we opened the door. Inside, we stopped in astonishment. The gleam of gold and silver, the amber light behind the high altar, the gay and imaginative decoration done in gilt and silver and stucco, the impudent angels laughing from pale mauve clouds, the holy figures in rich robes suitable for a ball rather than for spiritual reflection and good deeds, made the interior a sharp contrast with the austere marble and stone cathedrals of our acquaintance.

THIS abbey is one of the triumphs of a pair of brothers who were famous craftsmen—architects, painters, sculptors, and stucco workers in the early 18th century, the brothers Asam. Silhouetted against the golden light that falls from a concealed window above the high altar in this abbey at Weltenburg stands a gold St. George, larger than life, riding a silver charger that paws the earth impatiently. His sword is out of its sheath and the dragon writhes at his side. On the other side is the rescued maiden in a gold gown and with what appears to be an opera cloak lined with silver slipping from her shoulders. A golden robed prelate bows, his beretta in his outstretched hand. There are other figures, rich and beautiful, and the altar is framed by twisting marble columns. Above the nave of the church and beneath the dome, painted with a paradise in fresh and glowing colors, a great golden hoop is suspended. Cherubs climb over the edge of it, tumble from the stucco clouds, and the coloring and perspective used throughout the church are unbelievably beautiful.

There are little balconies, like opera boxes, on either side of the high altar, with angels holding back vermilion and gold brocaded curtains of plaster. While we gazed at the high altar a procession of black robed monks entered from a side door and knelt before the high altar. Their sedate mien and somber robes were in high contrast to the beauty of the church interior. . . . One wonders why the Asam brothers built and decorated churches instead of palaces and fashionable salons, for their art seems too light, too gay and too unspiritual for houses of worship. But the very contrast does, perhaps, make their work the more delightful. With a last lingering look at the gold gay vestibule and at the gold St. George and the silver charger, and the impudent angels, we left determined to hunt other Asam klosters and churches in Germany.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All kinds of small hats have come to town! Really tiny affairs, especially noticeable after weeks of huge flat summer wagonwheels of straw. There are some olive green "finds" in one shop that should please a lot of shoppers. They are clever, rakishly smart, first fall numbers that will do grand things for blondes, brunettes and copper heads. Most of them are cut boxy in outline, with front trim. One has three fringed flowers in a row across the top, another has a clipped rosette, and still another has a splashing big bow slanting sharply northeast by southwest. They are all-felt hats, with even the trimming of felt.

Another color to watch and gloat over is gray. There are any number of many toned gray felt hats. And you should listen to all the fashion whispers about gray. It undoubtedly will be one of the best fall colors. These gray hats come in small perky turbans and skull caps. And there are some excitingly brimmed new arrivals trimmed with dashing bits of scarlet velvet.

Next to the new hats in shopping interest come the newest ideas in costume jewelry. For the first tweeds and sweaters try the newest creations featuring dusky gold featherweight composition metal. There are stunning clips and chest pins tied in casually loose sailor knots to match large effective bracelets made of the same composition metal and tied in the same nautical manner. Chokers with graduate beads and earrings can be matched to the rest of the jewelry.

Other decorations for sport clothes, sweaters and tweeds are the pins, clips and bracelets of reddish brown wood with gold metal trim. This is ideal stuff for trimming; for swanky street and out of doors clothes of tweed and fuzzy woolens.

Familiar Motto Inspiration of Nursery Quilt

BY NANCY CABOT.

We're all acquainted with the motto which inspired this intriguing block for a child's quilt. Even the desire to carry out the motto is prevalent after youngsters gaze at the clever motif. The plain blocks and background for the applique blocks of "Early to Bed" may be of the same or contrasting shades. A pink ground, with flesh or cream color for face and hand, combined with soft blue, creates the favorite nursery color combination. Yellow, green, and white is another popular modern harmony.

Indian Soprano Will Sing in Chicago Opera

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The first soprano of American Indian descent is to be a member of the Chicago City Opera company this fall, Paul Longone, general director of the company, has announced. This artist is Mrs. Edwin F. Underwood, the wife of a Kansas City oil executive. She uses the native name of Princess Pakanli and is of Chickasaw and Choctaw descent.

She is to appear here in the leading soprano rôles in "Aida," "Il Trovatore," and "Cavalleria Rusticana." Before coming to Chicago she will sing "Aida" with the opera company at the Hippodrome in New York.

Mrs. Underwood was born in Ardmore, Okla. Her father was a white man, her mother a half blood descended from the Indian Le Flore, who almost a century ago led the Choctaw nation from Mississippi into Indian territory, now Oklahoma. She is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, where she studied singing, piano, and organ. Last season she sang in a number of radio broadcasts and also took part in a civic performance of "La Bohême" in Tulsa in a company which she had an important share in organizing. An audition with Mr. Longone and her engagement with the Chicago company followed shortly thereafter.

She was the soloist at the Oklahoma day celebration at A Century of Progress last summer, and those who heard her speak of her as having a voice of unusual quality and power. Among her other achievements she took first place in the voice and piano contests of Oklahoma in the biennial competitions of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Prairie Club to Hold Midnight to Dawn Hike Next Sunday

The Prairie club will conduct a midnight to dawn hike through the grounds of A Century of Progress and down through Jackson park next Sunday morning.

Before starting from the north gate the group will attend a special lecture to be given in the Adler planetarium by Dr. Philip Fox, director of the planetarium, on "The Sky Tonight."

The party is scheduled to reach Jackson park at 4 a. m. and will visit Wooded island and the Japanese and Rose gardens. Officials of the Chicago park district have arranged to open the facilities of the 63d street beach, where the club members will swim before having breakfast at the Southmoor hotel.

Miss Thirza Riggs, one of the leaders of the hike, has suggested that members bring flashlights.

A creamy mascara, runproof and smudgeproof, is as good for the lashes as it is becoming. It is now out in a new tube, with a midnight blue shade as well as a brown and black.

If you know your cosmetic news you'll have heard the interesting story of the mustache dressing that women took over and made a mascara of. In the old days only the dashing young blades who twirled their mustachios in a devilish manner bought this paste. Then an enterprising woman discovered that using it on her brows and lashes dressed them beautifully. The word got about in some mysterious fashion and today this creamy paste has made its way into woman's realm with a bang. It's one of our leading mascaras.

And now it's out in a new dress, with one new color to supplement the brown and the black of old. The new one is a beautiful midnight blue, very elegant for evening and not to be scorned by the blue eyed even in the harsh light of day.

You'll find this a completely satisfactory mascara and if your lashes have been slipping lately—getting all brittle and funny—you'll like it especially for its creaminess. They do claim that it's actually good for the lashes, which seems entirely plausible to us. It makes the lashes long and strong and lustrous and does not smudge as it darkens.

In its old form it was a bit difficult to spread on the little brush because it poured out of a small point. Now the mouth of the tube has been widened and given a slot which permits you to get just enough on the brush at a time.

This mascara is so creamy that it can serve three purposes. We know women who take up a bit on the finger and use it as shadow. Without using water it can be used as is for the lashes and in the same way it can be used for the brows. It darkens them and gives them body. It's especially recommended for unruly brows that need to be pasted down a bit.

This isn't expensive, but the tube is so constructed that its use would be economical at twice the price. There's no waste at all.

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

Nancy and Dick Heritage have been married for two years and are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by Edith Heritage, her mother-in-law, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage invites a friend, Mrs. Lane, and her daughter, Sylvia, for tea. Nancy pleads a dentist's appointment. The Lanes arrive just as Dick comes home. They are startled when they see Nancy's photograph, but Sylvia, who is interested in Dick, explains that Nancy had lived with them, and they'd had a misunderstanding, but bygones were bygones. Nancy returns home after the Lanes had left and has a quarrel with Mrs. Heritage, who threatens to leave, until Nancy apologizes. That evening Dick disappears. He returns later intoxicated. A taxi driver calls the next morning to collect fare for two girls and two men.

INSTALMENT XVI.

A MENACE TO HARTH AND HOME.

Nancy's method of dealing with the taxicab driver amazed Mrs. Heritage to the point where she was for once nearly speechless.

Nancy was thinking: "He lied to me. He said he went to his club and he was out with a mixed party."

The foursome, indicated by what the taxi man had said, had an illicit sound to a young wife's ears. Two women and another man, who had been dropped somewhere before Dick had got himself driven home. There must have been long stops, else the fare could not have mounted so enormously.

"Then I take it," said Edith "that you believed that man's tale! Where was Dick last night?"

"How do I know?" Nancy made a little gesture of despair. "But he wasn't home. It was nearly 3 o'clock before he came home."

"And was he . . . like what the man said?"

"He had been drinking," Nancy replied. On the whole it seemed to her that Dick's mother was taking this very calmly. She herself hadn't been too dreadfully upset in the early hours after the first shock was over. She had even felt sorry for Dick and loyally shielded him. It was the sort of "accident" that might happen to any man once in a lifetime; especially if he was very moderate in the ordinary way in his use of alcohol.

But now the aspect of the whole thing was altered. There had been women in it—strange women about whom no doubt Dick would have hesi-tated before introducing to his wife. Four of them—two of each—in a cab together; perhaps with their arms around each other, making maudlin love.

Nancy shivered. She felt as though she could not bear the idea of Dick's ever touching her again.

Perhaps he had been unfaithful. How could she know? In the dreadful condition he had arrived home in he might not know himself.

No mother could be pleased to discover that her son had been on such an orgy, but Edith Heritage was able to look beyond the actual misdemeanor and search for its motive; and she found the motive without any trouble at all. Dick was getting tired of his wife and this little suburban paradise into which Nancy had lured him.

But Dick mustn't be allowed to go to the dogs. Somebody must save him. Possibly it wouldn't be his mother, and apparently his wife hadn't it in her to deal with a highly strung boy like Dick. Nancy was out of the reckoning now, in her mother-in-law's opinion.

There was Sylvia Lane, however. Would a hint dropped in Sylvia's ear do the trick? "Poor Dick! That dull little wife of his is getting on his nerves, I'm afraid. Nancy is beautiful, but she has the brains of a dumbbell. She'll lose him if she doesn't watch out."

"If you are wise," said Edith to her daughter-in-law, "you won't hold this affair against Dick. You'll pretend it doesn't matter an atom."

"It does matter," said Nancy.

"You'll only make it worse if you go for him."

Nancy had read columns of the same sort of advice to young wives in the women's magazines, and were it not for the fact that she herself was the aggrieved party she might have been of the same opinion.

No one could know how she felt except a wife whose husband had behaved like that. She felt herself to be the most miserable creature on earth. She was simply stuck up on a pinnacle of loneliness where no human aid or sympathy could reach her.

It wasn't her pride that had been humiliated; her heart was crushed.

It flashed through her mind that this would not have happened if Dick's mother hadn't initiated that argument about the Lanes; ergo, it would not have happened if Edith had not come to live with them.

However, one was not going to start finding excuses for Dick all over again. If his temperament was so perilously balanced that a little family quarrel could drive him to drink and other women, then it was just as well to know what to expect.

If there was one thing Nancy Heritage prided herself upon it was her sense of logic. Poor Nancy! It bewildered her to discover that her logic went by the board at his first menace to harth and home.

How lightly did one consider other people's troubles. There was a woman across the street whose husband was notorious for his unfaithfulness, and even Nancy had said that probably his wife was in some way to blame.

To be fair to Dick, it must be acknowledged that he also was suffering, and not merely in a physical sense. His headache and general feeling of unfitness was satisfactorily dealt with at a chemist's. Dick had a naturally strong constitution which soon asserted itself, but he knew well enough that such an indulgence as last night's could not be repeated with impunity.

Quite commendably, he loathed himself. But where Nancy was concerned he had had a good letoff. That was Providence looking after him.

He wished, however, that he could remember definitly just what had happened beyond the fact that he had mixed inferior champagne with whisky. His friend had introduced him to two women and they had danced, but his memory of that interlude was not very clear. Some of the drinks he had paid for, and this morning there had been only a few shillings in small change in his purse. Enough, thank goodness, to get him to the office without borrowing from Nancy.

Nancy was an angel, a miracle of understanding, and he would never, never forget the way she had shielded his lapse from his mother. He really must do something handsome for Nancy. He hadn't been very gracious about the baby business and it was up to him now to make amends.

At lunch time he went into a toy shop in Holborn and bought a little, white, woolly dog which had a blue satin ribbon around its neck. Nancy would see the joke of that if he pointed it out to her. Wasn't a blue ribbon the accepted badge of sobriety? She might take it as a sort of pledge from him. As for the dog, both of them would always remember and sentimentalize over the fact that it was he who had bought their son's first toy. For of course the little blighter was bound to be a boy. And tonight he would bring home some more flowers—pink carnations, this time—and see to it that his beautiful mother did not appropriate them.

If only he could remember how last night's wild party had finished? Hadn't there been a bit of an argument about paying a cab fare?

Still, it was all over now.

The afternoon dragged a little, but as Dick had left the office early yesterday, he felt it was his duty to give better value for money today. It wouldn't have mattered very much, however. Work was all too slack. Another order had been canceled this morning, a big municipal housing scheme, and Dick's chief was somewhat down in the dumps.

At half past four Dick's telephone rang and when he spoke into it the girl at the inquiries desk said: "There's a young lady wishes to see you, Mr. Heritage, Miss Lane."

Dick's eyebrows went up. He had seen yesterday that Sylvia Lane was what might be termed a swift mover, but he certainly had not expected her to call upon him at his office, or indeed, to look him up so soon. He wasn't going to encourage that sort of a game, in any case.

Still, since she was here he supposed he would have to see her. He could let her know that he didn't quite like it.

"Send Miss Lane in," he told inquirers.

Miss Lane entered, preceded by the office boy, and immediately he set eyes on her—or to be more precise, when she set eyes on him—Dick Heritage was again made aware of Sylvia's glamor.

Party Quarrel Gossip Topic in Hollywood

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A battle of words that took place between Theresa Helburn, New York Theater Guild director, now with Columbia studio, and Jim Tully, the author, at one of the recent movie parties is still being hashed over in the different nooks and corners of Hollywood.

The incident came about, so goes the gossip, when Miss Helburn was introduced to Tully by the hostess. It appears that Miss Helburn didn't catch Tully's name and her failure didn't strike the author's fancy. He let out a tirade against everything and everybody connected with the guild and things "high hat." It wound up with Miss Helburn in tears.

Today Tully admitted that he had had words with Miss Helburn, but that he did not consider the affair of much importance and that the incident was closed so far as he was concerned.

Jack Oakie's chief interest at the moment is Vanita Vardon of New York. She formerly was with George White's Scandals and has been visiting here for several weeks.

One of the important sequences in Barbara Stanwyck's new picture, "Annie Oakley," for R. K. O., shows her skeet shooting. In spite of a shoulder pad the recoil of the shotgun has just about ruined her. She has had to wear her arm in a sling.

About a year ago Joan Crawford went to location at Chatsworth. On this visit the thermometer hit well over 100. When she was advised that her company filming "I Live My Life" would make a trip to this same district, Joan decided to prepare herself. She loaded down her car with every known device to keep cool, including 100 pounds of ice to chill water and make limeades. She got all of her paraphernalia laid out—and then it rained, a freak summer storm.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The Cuban mission, members of the Cuban Social-Economic league, headed by Jose M. Casanova, the president, who are here this week made the trip to Mount Vernon today, accompanied by the Cuban ambassador, on the President's yacht Sequoia. This morning they made calls upon Secretary Wallace and Dr. Leo Rowe, director general of the Pan-American union, and this afternoon on the return from Mount Vernon the mission entertained at a large cocktail party at the Mayflower.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Henry L. Breckinridge, accompanied by the latter's son, Oren Root Jr., and Miss Nancy Guggenheim, daughter of the former United States ambassador to Cuba, Harry Guggenheim, have gone to Bermuda to spend Col. Breckinridge's vacation at the Castle Harbour.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richberg and their daughter, Miss Eloise Richberg, are settled in the cottage they have taken at Rehoboth Beach, Del., for the remainder of the summer.

Virginia Bruce is one of the few remaining stars with long hair, but she may fall for a bob after all. Miss Bruce disclosed that every week she visits her barber and he snips off two inches from her tresses. The idea is that she is going to get her hair cut by slow stages, to see how she is going to like it. Miss Bruce believes bobs aren't feminine enough.

The San Bernardino mountains are going to have a thunderstorm that will drop between ten and fourteen inches of rain, but it will be Hollywood-made. The cloudburst is being manufactured for Ginger Rogers' picture, "In Person."

Tommy Lee and June Knight are romancing again.

Peggy Wood has returned from New York. Her husband, John A. Weaver, playwright, stopped over in Chicago on business, but is joining her later.

Nelson Eddy is going in for horseback riding, since he will play a Northwest mounted in "Rose Marie."

in the home of the Porter Allens in Winnetka will not be settled until their daughter, Miss Ellen Allen, returns from Chebeague Island, Me., some time after Labor day. But whatever the decision is, the debut will not take place before October because Mr. and Mrs. Allen hope to go to Mexico for September.

Makepeace-Hall Nuptials in East Today.

Mitchell D. Follansbee is in Stamford, Conn., for the wedding today of Miss Dorothy Makepeace and Donovan Hall, which will take place at 4:30 o'clock in St. John's Episcopal church there. Dr. Boyd Edwards of Mercersburg academy, Mercersburg, Pa., will read the ceremony, and a reception will follow at the Woodway Country club in Darien, Conn.

Mr. Hall, who is the son of Mrs. Agnes Hall and of H. Millard Hall of Chicago, will have the bride's brother, Russell Makepeace, for best man, and also will have several ushers. But the bride will have only one attendant, Miss Virginia Van Siclen of Jamaica, N. Y., who was her roommate at the Emma Willard school and at Vassar college. Mr. Follansbee will be an ushed. Mr. Hall and his bride will live at Marion, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr. returned Tuesday from a visit in Harbor Springs with Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Sudler. Mrs. Carroll Sudler may go to Baltimore to visit her family at the end of the week. The Alexander E. Kirks, who are summering at Glen Lake, are going to spend a long week-end with the Louis Sudlers shortly.

Before Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McDonald return from Georgian Bay, where they are cruising on their yacht until after Labor day, Mr. and Mrs. Orville J. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Herriott will go up to join them on the Mizpah. Commander and Mrs. Powell Crosley, the Otto Eitels, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Towns of Buffalo, Mr. McDonald's sister and brother-in-law, are on the Mizpah now.

Honore Palmers in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Honoré Palmer, who have been spending a few weeks in Bermuda, where their sons, Potter D'Orsay Palmer and Honoré, and the former's wife were with them, have returned to New York. They do not expect to come out to Chicago until fall. The younger Palmers remained in Bermuda. Mrs. Thomas Gowenlock, whom Mrs. Palmer invited to Bermuda, was unable to make the trip south because she is convalescing from an illness. Mrs. Gowenlock and her husband are staying quietly in town this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Lynde are at Marcelle, Minn., to remain until Aug. 21. At that time they will return to Winnetka to greet Mrs. Lynde's son, Frederick Janney, who is coming home on a month's leave from Annapolis. Miss Eleanor Janney returned recently from a visit with friends in the east and plans to enjoy the rest of the summer here. She will be away again when the football season starts. Her sister, Mrs. Janney Roby, is going to New York Sept. 1 for a fortnight.

Dr. and Mrs. Philip Miller sailed Tuesday on the Bremen to remain in Europe until Christmas. They will divide the next five months between Germany, southern Europe, the near east and Egypt.

Mrs. William A. P. Pullman and her children left yesterday for the Huron Mountain club to be away until after Labor day. Mr. Pullman will join them Sept. 1 for a long week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Paul Noyes are leaving Friday night for California and Washington state to be away three weeks. They will visit in San Francisco first and then go up to Seattle, where they will stay with Mr. Noyes' brother, John Noyes. The former Catharine Noyes and her bridegroom, Roger D. Shaw, have returned to West Plains, Mo., after a visit in Winnetka. They are building a new home on Mr. Shaw's ranch.

Busy Summer for Bremner Family.

With house parties, cruises, dinner parties, and fishing expeditions to a Wisconsin island, the Bremner clan has reached the peak of summer excitement. The former Alice Bremner returned Tuesday with her husband, David L. Drake, from a ten day cruise up and down the eastern coast on the Ralph Mills' yacht, Minoco, which is harbored this year at New York.

While Mrs. Drake has been away there has been a flurry of entertaining for Tom and Elna Crawford, who came from Newcastle, England, to be the guests of their American cousins.

Last week-end Miss Crawford and her brother visited Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bremner of Lake Forest, who entertained for them at a large party on Sunday. The Crawfords are with the Vincent A. Bremners of Wilmette now and expect to visit Mr. and Mrs. David F. Bremner over the week-end. They have found time between their visits with the four Bremner brothers, David F., Vincent A., James R., and John B., to golf and swim up at the Bremner island near Burlington, Wis.

Mrs. James A. Bremner has been giving a series of house parties all summer for her sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Truitt of Pomona, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Cushman Bissell of Lake Forest.

Mrs. Truitt with her five year old daughter, Terry, is here now. Mr. and Mrs. Truitt and Mr. and Mrs. Ryan came to Chicago several weeks ago in time for the double celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Bremner's birthdays, which are only a few days apart.

Among interested visitors at the Summer School of Painting in Saugatuck, Mich., recently have been the Walter Brewsters, David Leavitt, Charles West, Ralph Seymour, and Raoul Josset, the sculptor. This school, which is the oldest and largest of three such schools in Saugatuck, is affiliated with the Art institute, and has for its director Frederick F. Fursman, and for its instructors Francis Chapin and Edward Rupprecht of the Art institute. The school gave a circus parade in the best Beaux Arts fashion at the annual Arts ball last night at the Saugatuck town hall.

Mr. Chapin, who is 6 feet 4 inches tall, led the midgets, made up of children of artists studying there.

The other two art schools, the Tayor school and the A. K. school, headed by Alber Krebehl, took part in the ball. Judges at the ball were Clyde H. Burroughs of the Detroit Institute of Art, Sylvester Gerry of the Kalamazoo Institute of Art, and Mrs. John W. Norton of Chicago.

Mandel hall at the University of Chicago will be crowded tonight and tomorrow night for performances of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado" by the Chicago Comic Opera company. Prof. Algernon Coleman and Prof. William Scott of the University of Chicago are sponsoring the two performances as a benefit for the University of Chicago Settlement house.

"Cold Plates to Tempt Summer Appetites," a booklet of hot weather combination plates with recipes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

The search for cooling drinks leads thirsty throats to experiment not only with mere draught quenching beverages, but with a variety in drinkables calculated to sustain interest. So, fond as you may be of frosty lemonades or great glasses of iced tea, you're sure to be questing for quirks and tricks that will make such beverages more exciting.

The good black teas of India, Ceylon, Sumatra, and Java, with their delightful capacities for making fine iced tea, offer equally fine possibilities in the way of variations. Their subtle flavors may be enhanced and pointed up in dozens of pert ways.

HONOLULU TEA.

To two quarts of strong black tea infusion add the juice of 6 lemons, 2 cups of crushed pineapple and sirup, 1 cup of maraschino cherries (either whole or cut finely) plus their sirup, and a sirup made by boiling together two cups of sugar and one cup of water for 5 minutes. Chill and pour over crushed ice. This fine, fruity beverage, garnished with mint if you like it, serves around 20.

Prairie Tea.

Grated rind 1 lemon
1 pound sugar
1 quart water
4 teaspoons black tea
2 cups boiling water
3 lemons
1 teaspoon bitter almond extract
1 pint carbonated water

Add the sugar and water to the grated lemon rind and boil for 5 minutes. Steep the tea in the boiling water for 5 minutes, and mix the resulting brew with the lemon sirup, the juice of the 3 lemons, the flavoring, and, when thoroughly chilled, the carbonated water.

Or, if you'd take your tea in frozen form, you'll like these:

Frozen Tea Punch.

2 cups water
1 small bunch mint
2 cups orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
3 cups black tea infusion

Boil the sugar, water, and mint together for 5 minutes. Strain, chill, add the remaining ingredients, and freeze rapidly until mushy.

Loganberry Tea Ice.

2 cups black tea infusion
2 oranges
1 lemon
1 cup sugar
1 cup loganberry sirup

Combine the tea infusion with the orange and lemon juice, the sugar, and the loganberry sirup (drained from canned berries). Freeze quickly until firm, and serve topped with a green cherry or a sprig of fresh mint.

Other fruit juices, such as those of the cherry and the golden peach, combine equally well with tea in chilled beverages such as these:

Tea Ambrosia.

1 cup strong hot black tea infusion
2 cups sugar
1 cup canned cherry juice
¼ cup lemon juice
3 cups cold water

Dissolve the sugar in the hot tea. Chill, add the fruit juices, and pour over cracked ice.

Iced Nectar.

2 cups canned peach juice
2 cups black tea infusion
1 cup orange juice
1-3 cup currant jelly

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

DEFENDER AGAIN.

The duty of the defense does not end with the best play of your own particular collection of deuces, treys, and ten spots; you must also be a bulwark against which your partner can cushion his own feeble hand. One of the most important phases of the defense is constant, eagle-eyed watchfulness to prevent the declarer from trapping your partner in an end play. Remember! You rise or fall with the gentleman across the table from you.

South was under the impression that he held a good hand. Thus when he bid one spade and his partner raised him to two, his four came out like a clap of thunder. He did not even wait for East's pass.

The opening lead was a spade. So far as West and South were concerned, this was a battle of titans. North was dummy and out of the fray. As for East—well, we shall examine him later.

The spades were continued. After drawing trumps, South led the jack of clubs and East was in. East triumphantly returned a diamond. South took with the ace and played back another club. West perforce put up the nine spot and hoped that his partner would have enough sense to overtake. East did overtake, but it was only for the purpose of pushing back a second triumphant diamond. After that all was over. South took the diamond with the king and entered dummy with a spade in order to ruff out the third club. He then led a diamond and West was in.

West had the dubious pleasure of leading a heart into the ace-queen or leading a club, which South would ruff in his own hand, discarding a heart from the board. And as West said afterward, it was all East's fault. Why in the name of Hoyle and Cavendish hadn't East led a heart? Just one heart lead—that was all West asked.

Tomorrow's Hand.

Husband Often Feels He Is Neglected.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Although I am a married woman, and old enough to know better, I must ask your advice. My husband and I are fairly young, and not long married, and it looks as if we have come to the parting of the ways. Before our baby arrived he was all attention. He was an ideal husband, then. But since the baby's arrival everything is changed. He still provides for me to the best of his ability, but I see very little of him. When he comes home we have nothing to say to each other.

"I have protested, but he simply puts on his hat and walks out. I love my man and would do anything to win him back as he was. I have a lovely home which I keep immaculate, but he never notices anything like that. UNHAPPY."

Now, let's see! If the change came over the man with the baby's arrival, it might just be that your absorption in the child has put your big baby's nose out of joint. Such a thing has happened more than once. The big one feels he doesn't matter any more. He's hurt and mad and maybe goes off somewhere where he feels his importance is more respected. Childish, of course, but if you have such a child on your hands, perhaps you'd better not allow the other infant to absorb your interest quite so much. Save a generous portion of your affection and attention for the man.

In fact, we'd suggest that you step out with him nights now and then, leaving the baby in paid hands for an evening. Then you would have more to talk about. No doubt now you are so immersed in the infant that your conversation is all about him. Forgivable, of course, in a new mamma, but not wise. Your rôle isn't easy, but to carry it out successfully you must continue being sweetheart to that man of yours, even though you've become a busy little mother.

We think that if you'd keep the baby in the background of your emotions and your conversation for a bit, you could quickly recapture the old love. And don't put so much hope or energy in the spickness of your household. It's more important to make that man of yours contented, than to keep the house spick and span. We just suspect that you've taken your mother and household duties a little bit at the expense of your man.

Mary Pickford Meets Buddy Rogers When He Lands in West

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Charles [Buddy] Rogers, actor and orchestra leader, arrived here by airplane today, announced he "can't discuss" rumors connecting his name with that of Mary Pickford, then climbed into a limousine in which sat Miss Pickford.

"I'm on my way from Denver to Catalina Island, where my orchestra has an engagement," said Rogers.

Since the divorce of Miss Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks the actress has been seen publicly on numerous occasions with Rogers, but, like Rogers, has refused to answer the question as to whether or not there was a romance.

Adolescence Need Not Be a Dismal Period

Don't Let Its Vagaries Mar Family Life.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Your family ship doesn't have to be storm tossed—beaten upon by wind and waves—while your son or daughter is going through the teens.

Adolescence doesn't have to mean strain and stress. It can be sailed through with sparkling waves and sunny skies, marked chiefly by interest in the weather changes to be witnessed and marred only by occasional upheavals or passing storms.

The way to accomplish this happy progress through an area which is reputed to be full of shoals and rocks and cross currents is to follow the example of any good mariner: Start ahead of time, get your ship in good shape, know your business as a navigator, and get charts and information about the waters you are to sail through.

Or, to put it in plain English:

Adolescence need not be the troublous, often disastrous period that it is for parents or children. The preparations for weathering this interesting and important time in a boy's or girl's life should begin long before the teens loom on the horizon. 'Way back in early childhood you are paving the way for what will happen during adolescence.

What you mean in your child's life, what he means in yours, and how you handle him at each step of the way will bear its good or bad fruit as he approaches manhood. The same is also true, of course, of your daughter as she approaches womanhood. In addition to this "caring and knowing" process every parent should try to learn by keen observation, by looking back to his or her own childhood, or by reading and study just what to expect of the time ahead.

It is not theory but practical experience that makes me recommend to all fathers and mothers the procedure of preparing far ahead of time for adolescence: Be a wise and loving parent at each step of the way and gain some idea of what to do and what not to do during the middle teens of your children.

Many parents have gained help with their young sons and daughters by reading our fully written booklet, "Understanding the Adolescent." It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Complexion Needs Special Care if One Is Reducing

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A correspondent asks if it is possible after one has lost 35 pounds, as she has in the last year, for the skin to become excessively dry.

It's quite possible that the reducing diet will dry out the skin. The lack of fats in the diet will do it. Also, the fact that the low calorie intake requires the body to burn up fats stored in the body. This is exactly why I do advise that some butter and other fats vital to the health and appearance of the skin be retained in the reducing diets.

During reducing courses in which diet figures largely it is imperative to increase the skin care, a fact generally overlooked in the hectic pursuit for the lean silhouette. Immediately one starts cutting down on the fats more lubricant must be supplied to the skin surface. You get this in good creams. In other words, the perfect reducing way is to build up the skin with lubricant and nourishing cream as you tear down the fatty tissue of the body.

It's best to work the two-in-one game at one and the same time, nurturing the skin as you reduce. And special care must be aimed at the chinline. Massage daily with the good cream, patting, and ice or other astringent are the necessary habits so that the reducing work is a real success. Don't wait until the superfluous pounds are all gone, for it is the mischief of a job then to get the face back in shape and to smooth out the chin and throat lines.

And don't reduce too swiftly for the face's sake. Your two pounds a week average will do the least damage to your looks.

Incidently, too, the hair suffers from the strenuous dieting for the same reason the skin suffers. It's the fats in the body that supply oil to the hair without which hair degenerates into a lifeless mess. It's a good idea to give the tresses oil treatments during this time, and by all means give it a daily brushing.

ILLINOIS GIVEN $377,000 TO CURB EROSION OF SOIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Details of the expanded soil erosion control program to be carried on in Illinois out of the 4 billion dollar works relief fund were made public today by H. H. Bennett, chief of the service in the department of agriculture.

The state program calls for establishment of two new demonstration projects in Stephenson and Madison counties and continuation of the existing projects in Mc Lean and Ford counties. An allotment of $377,575 has been set aside for Illinois from the $27,500,000 soil erosion service allotment.

29,000 Acre Project.

The new project in Stephenson county will cover approximately 29,750 acres in the south central section of the county near Freeport.

The work is to be directed by F. A. Fisher, regional director in charge of the existing soil conservation project at Champaign. Each of the two new projects will have a project manager when organization of the field staf is completed.

Experts Map Plans.

In accordance with the works relief act 90 per cent of the labor to be employed will be taken from local relief rolls.

Actual work in each area will include terracing, construction of check dams for gulley control, retirement of slopes, reforestation and other practices.

Plans are being mapped by agronomists, agriculture engineers, soil experts, foresters, and erosion experts.

HORNER TO SEE ILLINOIS TROOPS IN CAMP TODAY

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Seven thousand of the Illinois National Guard troops, the 33d division, tomorrow will be inspected by officers of the United States army and will be reviewed by Gov. Henry Horner. After that the troops will begin to prepare for departure on Saturday.

In the morning the regiments will move into the field with full equipment and pitch shelter tents. Then they will open their packs for inspection.

The governor will arrive at about 10 a. m. and will be met and escorted to headquarters by a troop of the 106th cavalry; an informal recep by Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, who has commanded the division at the encampment.

A divisional review will start at noon. The parade will be led by Gen. Hammond and the divisional staff.

The camp was visited today by Maj. Gen. George Leach, head of the National Guard bureau of the war department. He said he was pleased.

PAIN GREAT BOON TO MAN, RUSSIAN DOCTOR ASSERTS

LENINGRAD, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Dr. L. A. Orbeli of Leningrad today described pain as one of the greatest boons to mankind. A paper, reporting his years of study of the effects of pain, was read to the international physiological congress meeting.

Dr. Orbeli described pain as "a defensive device of such value that it can be credited in a great part for the survival of the species."

He pointed out that pain sets into operation the defensive reactions of the body against forces of destruction. His experiments have been devoted largely to efforts to localize the pain centers in the central nervous system—the control point pulling the strings that set the body to fight off an attack. He described pain as an elusive sensation which, thus far, it has been impossible to localize without an accompanying sensibility to the touch perception.

5 SOUP KITCHEN CLIENTS SENT TO WORK ON FARMS

Five men who have been receiving food at the township soup kitchen in Waukegan were assigned to work on farms yesterday by Harold L. Pillifant, township poormaster. Several days ago Pillifant received complaints from the Illinois Free Employment service that although it could place 25 men on farms, the men preferred to be fed by the township. Pillifant said he investigated the situation and was informed the farmers were not providing proper food for the workers and were not paying them $30 a month as promised. In placing the men yesterday, Pillifant said he had been assured these conditions were remedied. He declared that of the 150 persons being fed at the kitchen, only 15 are physically able to do farm work.

Connors Asks Conference on Arms Registration Bill

State Senator William J. Connors, Democrat from the 29th [Chicago] district, wrote the governor yesterday asking for a conference on his arms regulation bill which he hopes to have passed at a special session of the legislature this fall. The bill failed to pass because of opposition from downstate members who took the position at the last session that registration of guns might interfere with hunting. The Connors bill calls for the registration of all firearms with county clerks and would prohibit the carrying of arms having a barrel less than 20 inches long except by a special license.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Safflower Oil

August 14, 1935.

THE TRIBUNE farms have joined in the search to bring more oil for the paints of America. For years paintmakers have leaned heavily on flaxseed to produce oil mixed with their pigments. More recently soy beans have been supplying some of the oil for paints. The THE TRIBUNE farm near Wheaton men are trying to produce safflower, a plant which produces oil bearing seeds.

The test was first started at the Yorkville farm in 1934. Only a few scrubby plants grew; the test was a failure because of the drouth. This year more safflower seed was planted and the plants have made a fair showing. Last year the interest centered around the flowers with yellow and red petals, sometimes used as a substitute for saffron in coloring and for flavoring. This year men at THE TRIBUNE farm are interested primarily in safflower as a producer of oil bearing seed.

Today most of the blossoms have opened, but the crop is being left undisturbed to allow the seed to develop. Seeds already are beginning to form. They will be gathered and samples will be analyzed to determine how much oil they contain. The plants are being grown in rows. Under field conditions the seed should be sown with a grain drill. Perhaps another year safflower can be tried out at the farm on a field basis.

Governmental authorities find that with a normal season and average rainfall a good average stand of safflower will yield from 20 to 30 bushels to the acre. By irrigation this yield may be doubled. Safflower seed of good quality weigh about 45 pounds a bushel. Analysis shows that seed of good grade yields from 24 to 27 per cent of oil. Soy beans yield in the neighborhood of 20 per cent of oil. Machinery now used in extracting oil from flaxseed may be employed in extracting oil from safflower seed.

Federal experts say that tests made in laboratories and in manufacturing plants indicate that safflower seed oil is a valuable raw material for use in the paint and varnish industry.

On first entering the Wheaton plots visitors notice the resemblance of the safflower plants to asters grown in their gardens.

As a matter of fact, safflower is a hardy annual of the aster family from the old world. It is sometimes grown as a cultivated plant in American gardens for its flowers. Some of the visitors who have seen the plants growing in the tests plots have decided to try raising safflower as a flower in their own gardens.

The flowers should be harvested from day to day if the petals are to be used in coloring or for flavoring. Experts point out that only the florets are collected. They must be removed by hand. Harvesting the florets is slow, tedious, and expensive. The florets must be dried thoroughly in the sun on trays with muslin bottoms. The yield is estimated at 125 to 150 pounds of dry florets per acre. In recent years the dry florets have sold at 40 cents a pound.

The safflower plants at THE TRIBUNE farm are still blooming. If they continue to bloom workers may be able to gather a small sample of the florets before the blooming period ends.

Naming Third Set of Twins Stirs Family Controversy

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Although Mrs. Arthur Samuels, mother of three sets of twins, wanted her latest newborn offspring called Jack and Jill, the father decided that Wilma and Willard would be more appropriate. They settled the controversy by naming the twins Wilma Jane and Willard Jean. The Samuels now have 11 children.

Sign Hangs Many Years, Error Noted; Taken Down

Tuscola, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A sign that had hung over a harness shop here for many years was taken down today. Somebody had noted that it read: "Harnesss Shop."

SLUGGED BY ROBBERS.

The Chicago Lawn police were searching last night for two men who attacked Oscar Hanson, 56 years old, 6516 South Washtenaw avenue, in an alley a block from his home and robbed him of $1.50. The men struck him with blackjacks. Hanson was taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

REMOVAL FACING TEACHERS' GROUP HEAD IN MICHIGAN

Show-Cause Order Won by Directors of Body.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Ernest T. Cameron, executive secretary of the Michigan Education association for 13 years, was confronted with court action today on the part of the association's directors who are seeking to force him to vacate his office.

The board, seeking an injunction to prevent Cameron from carrying on any official duties or occupying the association's building here, obtained from Judge Leland W. Carr of Ingham County Circuit court an a "show cause" order returnable Aug. 27.

Restrained from Using Funds.

Cameron was also temporarily restrained from use or disbursement of association funds or from interference with the other officers in conducting the association's business or inspecting its books and records.

Edith M. Bader, Ann Arbor, president of the association, charged in a bill of complaint that Cameron, anticipating removal procedure, changed locks on the association building so that other officers and directors could be denied access to the structure. He has retained physical control of the building and has insisted on exercising all powers of the executive secretary despite formal notice of his dismissal, the bill charged.

Select Woman Temporarily.

It was explained in the bill that a majority of the board of the association, including in its membership 28,000 teachers, authorized suit against Cameron at a meeting Aug. 8, and at that time selected Miss Christina McDonald to perform his duties temporarily. A general reorganization of the association is contemplated, it was stated, and it is denied that Cameron possesses the qualities of leadership and executive competency required to direct the program.

Dog Near Starvation Is Rescued from Mud Flat

A police dog that apparently had been stranded for ten days on a mud flat in Muddy creek, where it flows past the Bridewell west of the California avenue bridge, was rescued yesterday by Alfred Cipriani of the Illinois Humane society. He put on rubber boots and waded across Muddy creek to the "island" and carried the dog to safety. He explained that the dog had been unable to walk to dry land through the gumbo surrounding the mud flat. The dog was so near starvation that Capriani had little hope of saving the animal's life.

Presented in the Annual Sale

Light-colored, fluffy furs frame the face, oh, so flatteringly, and are most effective against these dark, slim-lined coats. It's extraordinary how successfully these long-haired furs lend themselves to the new draped collars.

The coat at the top uses cross fox, one of the most important furs of the season, to fashion its square shawl collar. Of frise in black, brown, or green. Also to be had with dyed blue fox. 12 to 20. With muff to match, $68.

The coat below has a stunning big collar of wolf, and there's a muff trimmed to match. The coat is of a new patterned fabric in black or green with natural wolf, brown with beige. 12 to 20. $58.

Moderate Price Coats, Fourth Floor.

ALL-STARS PLAN TO TRICK BEARS WITH PASS ATTACK

COLLEGE SQUAD SHOWS POWER IN SCRIMMAGE

Frank Sobrero Is Injured.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-American football team, if you believe the coaches, expects to throw forward passes on the night of Aug. 29 until the Bears are dizzy, and, incidentally are badly beaten. By this means the All-Americans hope to continue the work started last August when the Bears were held to a scoreless tie.

Frank Thomas, head coach, who now is confined to the Passavant hospital with an attack of acute arthritis, was in telephonic communication yesterday with the other coaches who are handling the team. Charles Bachman of Michigan State, who received the second highest number of votes in the coaches poll, is in charge. He is assisted by Edward [Slip] Madigan of St. Mary's, and Dr. C. W. Spears of Wisconsin. And these men, who desire nothing better than a sweeeping triumph over the Bears, have had no end of consultations.

Plays Are Diagrammed.

The offense has been diagrammed in the North Shore hotel these past two evenings and now will be transcribed by the players in their notebooks. Skull practice was the first order yesterday, and for more than an hour the players took down the play numbers and assignments as Coach Bachman placed them on the blackboard in the Dyche stadium squad room.

After this period the players went through a signal drill on the field. So many spectators, including a host of youngsters who wished autographs of the boys, were present that all subsequent practice sessions will be held in the inclosed field. On Tuesday night, which had been scheduled as open to the public, the spectators hindered the practice so much by crowding to the edge of the field that all will be barred from now on.

Sobrero Is Hurt.

The squad participated in another hard workout in the afternoon. Despite the sun the players went through their assignments with a vigor which presaged no good for the Bears.

Frank Sobrero, half back from Santa Clara, suffered a shoulder injury during scrimmage. It was feared at first that he had incurred a fracture, but X-rays showed that no bones were broken, and Trainer Carl Erickson predicted that Sobrero would be back in good condition within a few days.

18 Captains on Squad.

There are 18 college captains on the All-American squad. This number, which includes four captains from the Western conference, is far larger than the number which competed a year ago. These players are:

Hilliard, Texas; Lund, Minnesota; Monahan, Ohio State; Gundlach, Harvard; Kalbaugh, Princeton; Steen, Syracuse; Kawal, Northwestern; Morse, Oregon; Shepherd, Western Maryland; Beynon, Illinois; Borden, Fordham, Fuqua, Southern Methodist; Barclay, North Carolina; Barber, San Francisco; Maddox, Kansas State; Lee, Alabama; Sobrero, Santa Clara, and Blazine, Illinois Wesleyan.

The line is a greater worry to the coaches than the backs. In the host of half backs and full backs the coaches believe they will be able to fashion a splendid attack. The linemen, however, do not appear to measure up to the standard established last year by Ed Krause of Notre Dame and Al Schwammel of Oregon.

FAN DANCES

That fellow you saw doing a jig at the corner of State and Madison yesterday had a good reason for celebrating. His rich uncle had just left him four tickets for the football battle between the college All-Americans and Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field, Aug. 29.

Perhaps YOUR rich uncle is in good health, but don't let that worry you. There are plenty of seats available at $1.65 and $1.10 for this greatest gridiron game of them all.

Just step into the Tribune Public Service office at One South Dearborn street, or visit the lobby of Tribune Tower. Tickets are on sale up until 10 o'clock at night. You'll get a better seat today than you will tomorrow.

Bears to Hold Scrimmage at Camp Today

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 14.—The Chicago Bears will hold their first scrimmage of the year on the St. John's Military academy field tomorrow. Coach George Halas decided on the more rigorous drill today after a checkup revealed only one case of stiffness or discomfort after three days of intensive work.

The single exception was Gene Ronzani, veteran half back, who injured his leg yesterday. Ronzani returned from Milwaukee today, after having been examined by a specialist, and expected to return to practice Sunday. He was ordered to rest his leg and participate only in the lectures, which are held at least once every day.

Squad in Good Condition.

It had originally been planned to hold the first body contact work later in the week and begin scrimmage on Monday. The squad, however, reported in such excellent physical condition last Sunday that the strenuous five hour drill every day has failed to develop the aches and pains customary to early season practice.

Halas was influenced no little in his decision by the desire of the players. Older men on the squad feel scrimmage is the one phase of training that will send them into the Aug. 29 game on an even basis with the All-Stars, who, being younger, shake off the rustiness of a long layoff faster and perfect timing and leverage more quickly.

This is direct about-face from their attitude last year. No one was able to convince them that the All-Stars, fresh out of college, could possibly challenge the strength and ingenuity of the world's professional champions. The game was regarded as a lark and there was a tendency to regard the training schedule after the All-Star game as their real preparation for the league season.

"We were too confident last year," Red Grange, now an assistant to BOBBY PACHO, who was defeated by Tony Canzoneri in a dull bout at Mills stadium several weeks ago, was given whisky between rounds. . . . Attendance and wagering for the first seven days of the Lincoln Fields racing season were 50 per cent higher than for the corresponding period a year ago. . . . Harold Steinman, manager of King Levinsky, says court attachments on his purse for the Louis fight cost him $10,000. . . . Asked how it feels to get hit by Louis, the King said: "You simply get mum all over." . . . George Getz, senior member of the Illinois athletic commission, and Ed White, wrestling manager and promoter for forty years, engaged in a controversy over wrestling in general and personalities in particular at the commission meeting Tuesday. . . . Al Simmons refuses to take the family pooch out for an airing since he has been in a batting slump. . . . The Golf club of Pittsburgh, oldest and most pretentious in the city, has fine squash and tennis courts, a beautiful swimming pool, and an up to date billiard room, but has no golf course. . . .

At Collyer, Kas., not long ago, Pitcher Kurt engaged his cousin, one Connor, in a mound duel. . . . After five hours Kurt won, 4 to 3, on a double and single in the 26th inning. . . . Two players collapsed from the heat and substitutes had to be recruited in a hurry to back up the embattled cousins. . . . Trainer Jack Blackburn takes a half hour to bandage Joe Louis' hands before a workout. . . . Thomas Winter, English boxing champion from 1814 to 1824, changed his name to Spring and defeated every one he met. . . . Curling, not golf, is the national game of Scotland. . . . Three G men are setting the pace for the Tigers—Gehringer, Greenberg, and Goslin. . . . And what about this for an All-American G team: Galan, Cubs, left field; Gelbert, Cardinals, shortstop; Gehringer, Tigers, second base; Greenberg, Tigers, first base; Gehrig, Yankees, third base; Goslin, Tigers, center field; Goodman, Cincinnati, right field; Grace, Pittsburgh, catcher; Grove, Boston, pitcher. . . . You can explain Gehrig, a southpaw, at third base. . . .

Forrest Burmeister, Purdue tackle, is conditioning himself by loading 80 pound blocks of pig iron at a Davenport, Ia., foundry this summer. . . . Bill Sloan, freshman back at Southern California, has received an appointment to West Point. . . . As a back field for the College All-Americans in their game against the Bears, how would you like to see a quartet made up of Munjas, 185 pounds, Pittsburgh, quarter back; Lund, 185 pounds, Minnesota, left half back; Kostka, 225 pounds, Minnesota, full back; Shepherd, 180 pounds, Western Maryland, right half back. . . . All can kick, pass, run, and block. . . . Of course if you don't care for them you could try Salatino, Santa Clara, quarter back; Sobrero, Santa Clara, left half back; Melinkovich, Notre Dame, full back; Purvis or Carter, Purdue, right half back. . . . All have been schooled in the Notre Dame system. . . . Then what would you do with Warburton, Southern California; Wetzel, Ohio State; Borries, Navy; Hilliard, Texas; Regeczi, Michigan; Nichelini, St. Mary's, and Hanley, Notre Dame, who have not been accounted for in the other two lineups? . . . This may give you an idea of the work cut out for Coaches Thomas, Bachman, Spears, and Madigan. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Cranston Holman, 18 year old Californian, won the national junior tennis championship by defeating Harris Coggshell in straight sets. . . . Twenty thousand saw the White Sox beat Ty Cobb's Tigers, 12 to 5. . . . Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, celebrated his 66th birthday. . . . Rogers Hornsby's home run gave the Cardinals a 4 to 2 victory over the Cubs. . . .

U.S. Team for Wightman Cup Series Picked

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The United States will go into the thirteenth Wightman cup tennis series with Great Britain at Forest Hills Friday and Saturday with Helen Jacobs, American champion, and Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, Los Angeles, in the No. 1 and No. 2 singles positions.

Miss Jacobs was named for the No. 1 post in the draw today, with Mrs. Arnold, whose play has been the sensation of the eastern grass court meets this year, picked for the No. 2 spot over Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Brookline, Mass., who was dropped to No. 3.

Helen to Face Miss Stammers.

In the opening match of the two day series Friday Miss Jacobs will meet Katherine Stammers, third ranking English player, who defeated Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in the Kent tournament for the only reversal the former champion has received in her comeback campaign.

Mrs. Arnold will have her work cut out for her Friday, for she must meet the top ranked English player, Miss Dorothy Round. Miss Round defeated Miss Stammers in the Kent tourney final.

Friday's program will be concluded with a doubles engagement, in which Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Fabyan will meet Miss Stammers and Freda James.

Series Ends with Doubles.

Saturday's play will open with a singles engagement between Mrs. Fabyan and Phyllis Mudford King, ranked fourth in England, after which Miss Jacobs will oppose Miss Round and Mrs. Arnold will play Miss Stammers.

The series will end with another doubles match, in which Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., will team with Carolin Babcock, Los Angeles, against the British pair, Nancy Lyle and Evelyn Dearman.

GREYHOUND WINS HAMBLETONIAN IN STRAIGHT HEATS

40,000 See St. Charles Horse Trot to Victory.

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Breaking the hearts of his rivals with as great a stretch drive as ever was seen on an American track, Greyhound, from E. J. Baker's St. Charles, Ill., barns, today won the $33,000 Hambletonian, richest of the light harness horse racing stakes.

Odds-on choice of the crowd of nearly 40,000, the speedy Greyhound carried off the prize of $18,670 in two heats. It was the first time that the race had been won in straight heats since Walter Cox drove Walter Dear to victory in 1929.

For three-quarters of a mile of each heat Greyhound, driven by Indianapolis' master reinsman, Sep Palin, appeared a beaten trotter. Then, with the closing dash for which he has been famous in winning five straight races this year and seven out of ten starts last season, the son of Guy Abbey jumped to the front and won much as he pleased.

New Winner's Record.

With Palin holding a tight rein except for one brief period in the third quarter, Greyhound stepped over the first mile in 2:02¼ to beat Pedro Tipton, owned by H. Stacy Smith of Newark and driven by Will Hodson, by a half length. He came from ten lengths back at the half in what proved to be the final test to finish five lengths clear of Warwell Worthy, an outsider, carrying the silks of Henry F. Warwick, New Hamburg, N. Y., trotting the mile in 2:02¾.

The time for the first mile created a new winner's record for the event, previously held by Spencer at 2:02½, but failed by one second to equal the mark of 2:01¼ made by Hollywood Dennis in taking one heat from The Marchioness in 1932. With the victory worth $18,670, the triumph increased to $27,279.35 the earnings of a colt, which Baker purchased out of an Indianapolis auction for $900 as a yearling.

Split Second Money.

Pedro Tipton and Warwell Worthy split second and third money, amounting to slightly more than $8,000, when the Smith colt could do no better than seventh in the final heat, the same position the latter placed in the opening brush. Lawrence Hanover, flying the silks of the La Salle stable of Chicago with Dr. Hugh M. Parshall, Urbana, O., in the sulky, took fourth money with a fourth in the first mile and third in the last. Then came C. W. Phellis' Tilly Tonka, New York City; E. J. Merkle's Silver King, of Columbus, O., Volo Arion, the one-eyed colt owned by William Stubley of Newburgh, N. Y.; Calumet Finery, representing O. C. Bell of Columbus; Harper Hanover, a stablemate of Lawrence Hanover.

Boston Hands Sox Another Beating, 7-1

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The fighting White Sox, who used to play baseball because they loved the game, took their sixth straight soaking yesterday when the Red Sox beat them again, 7 to 1. The setback made it an even dozen thumpings out of thirteen starts for the embarrassed south siders.

Today is another day, however, and all the hustling Sox have to do to even the current series and the season series with the Bostonese is to keep Lefty Grove from winning his fifteenth victory this afternoon and then give Wes Ferrell a well deserved licking when he goes after his No. 20 tomorrow. These matters attended to, the White Sox will be back in third place as the Athletics open their seven game series here Saturday.

Lucky Seventh? Phooey!

Though the White Sox curled up time and again with runners on bases, the first six innings yesterday presented some interesting and well played baseball. But everything went to pieces in the seventh, in which the Red Sox made five runs. It was the second time in two days that the Bostons had picked out our poor fellows for a five run inning. Yesterday Babe Phelps was the victim.

Werber's 25th base theft of the year was a vital element in the first run of the game which the Red Sox scored after two were out in the second inning. After infield taps had disposed of Cronin and R. Ferrell, Werber walked and stole second. Melillo dribbled a single between Piet and Appling, Werber scoring.

The White Sox tied the score in their half of the second inning and had the bases full when the session ended. Simmons got a double when Almada failed on an attempted shoestring catch. Hayes grounded to Cronin, who made a belated toss to

THREE HURLERS TAKE POUNDING IN FIRST GAME

Cavarretta Knocks Home Run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The Cubs' pennant dream turned into a nightmare today. They cracked wide open under the pressure prevailing in the percentage column and while they were in a state of general collapse the laughable Dodgers carted away the winning end in both games of a double-header. The first affair terminated with a 9 to 5 score and the other with a 3 to 2 count, leaving the dazed Chicagoans three and a half games behind the pacemaking Giants.

The Cubs didn't have the necessary pitching on this occasion and their own hitting leaned toward feebleness, but it wasn't these defects that hurt the most. They were guilty of errors of commission, and also of errors of omission, as was evident by throwing to the wrong bases in tight spots. The latter proved, at least for a day, that youngsters are inclined to play the game backward when the travel becomes tough.

Uses Up Three Starters.

Vice President Grimm, reckless to the extreme, used up three of his starting pitchers in the first game and his reward was a beating. First to appear was Bill Lee. Less than one inning completed his stay, three scoring. The Cubs recovered from that jolt and by the time the fourth inning arrived were in the lead by one run, but the Dodgers refused to be discouraged. They hopped on Larry French, successor of Lee, in the seventh for two runs which were enough to win, but for good measure they gave Charley Root a going over in the eighth, three more coming home. However, the beating went to French, making his ninth against 11 victories.

In the Lee-French-Root exhibition the Cubs had a gay old time as long as Johnny Babich and Leslie Munns were operating, but their conduct against this pair was so strenuous that a change was necessary. That brought William Watson Lefty Clark into the picture at the start of the fifth and from then to the finish the poor Cubs were choked off on an allowance of two singles.

Tex Gets By for While.

A homer by Phil Cavarretta and a triple by Stanley Hack let Tex Carleton carry on a knotted argument for quite a stretch in the second game. He met his downfall in the seventh, although it wasn't entirely his fault. Cavarretta's inexperience induced him to make the wrong play at the right time and with this for a helper the Dodgers proceeded to nudge the winning run around to the plate. It made Carleton's fifth defeat of the year, half as many as he has won.

Casey Stengel, the boss of the local gang, rubbed it in a bit on the Cubs by entrusting the finish of the second battle to a youth who only recently decided he could pitch. Emil Leonard started but was removed for a pinch hitter in the seventh. That gave Old Dazzy Vance a chance, but he fell right into a mess in the eighth and was promptly chased. Then Bob Reis, former infielder and outfielder, stepped in with two on and none out. But the tying run didn't get home because he stopped Herman, Klein, and O'Dea in succession. And he was just as effective in the ninth.

FIRST GAME

Bordagaray is a sort of daffy man on the base lines and only for this Lee's opening inning effort in the first game might have been worse than funny. Frenchy led off in the first with a line drive to right but foolishly tried to make three bases and was nipped. Then Frey beat out a bunt. Bucher singled to right and Klein let the ball roll to the fence. Frey scored and Bucher took third on the error. He scored while Herman was throwing out Leslie. Then there were successive singles by Cuccinello, Taylor and Stripp, the former counting. Out went Lee and in came French to get Lopez for the third out on a liner to Klein.

It required six Brooklyn hits to get three runs in the first, but in the second the Cubs scored the same number on only three safeties. Demaree and Cavarretta nicked Babich for singles and both scored when Hack tripled to left center. A wild pitch let Hack sneak home with the tying run before anybody was out.

More Runs in Third.

The Dodgers were back in the lead in the second, but not for long. Babich doubled and scored on a single by Bordegaray. The Cubs tied it again with a run in the third. Herman singled and went to third on Klein's fluke double through Babich's hands. Munns replaced Babich and Hartnett sent a long fly to center, Herman counting. Before the inning ended a total of seven Cubs had batted, so the dividend of one run wasn't exactly a testimonial to the Chicagoans' power at the plate.

The oversized Munns was very wild in the fourth and this feature as

Robertson Rides Him In by Length.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Those long shot players who are always waiting for a gray coated steed to win a horse race for them had a big afternoon at Lincoln Fields yesterday.

The gray coated steed that made good was Gay Monarch, from the stable of Mose Goldblatt, turf patriarch of Cincinnati. And a thrilling victory it was. The Goldblatt color bearer, like most gray horses, a long shot, wheeled into the stretch far back and apparently soundly beaten.

Gay Monarch probably thought, "What's the use of trying to catch those four horses running so swiftly in front?" His rider, Alfred Robertson, had other ideas, however. He steered Gay Monarch out near the center of the track and made him charge on toward the leaders.

Away He Goes!

Half way down the stretch his task still looked impossible. Robertson was riding like life depended on the outcome, so Gay Monarch soon got into the same mood.

The gray son of Royal Minstrel flew past one horse after another. First he picked up The Pelican and sent him back to the rear guard. In giant-like strides he conquered Isaiah and Cloud d'Or. The favorite Red Wagon now was the only horse between him and victory.

Robertson and Corbett hooked up in a desperate riding duel which lasted just for an instant. Then Gay Monarch said "good-by" to Red Wagon. He was drawing away and a length in front of Red Wagon when it ended. Also charging toward the front from far back was Vicar, the Saratoga Handicap winner and a stable companion of Red Wagon. For an instant it looked as if he might save the day for the Compton-Bedwell forces. But he rushed into third place and stayed there.

Backers Collect 10-1.

Gay Monarch was qualifying for the $5,000 added Francis S. Peabody Memorial Handicap to be run on Saturday. He did it in a fine way. He ran the six furlongs in 1:11 2-5, and the effort no doubt will sharpen him to peak form for the mile struggle on Saturday. His backers yesterday reaped a nice healthy harvest, as he was slightly more than 10 to 1 in the betting.

The Illinois racing commission yesterday adopted the recommendation of the board of stewards at Lincoln Fields race course, ruling Jocky Herbert Bagur of New Orleans off the turf for life. The stewards had acted 24 hours earlier when an electric battery was found in the possession of the jocky in the Lincoln Fields paddock.

Halas, said today. "We thought we were a cinch to win by three touchdowns. But those collegians went by us so fast we never had time to realize we were getting the worst of it. We wondered in the huddles that night and have been wondering ever since whether we were as fast in college as those fellows seemed to be."

It would be a gross injustice, not to mention slightly foolhardy, being cloistered all alone with 33 husky Bears, to say the greatest team in professional football is afraid of the All-Stars. But it is a fact that the Bears are apprehensive. It is the same uneasiness they felt against Detroit last year and against the Giants. They are convinced of their own superiority, but they have been sufficiently chastened in the last 12 months to thoroughly respect the other fellow.

Scrimmage will give the coaches their first line on the all-important quarter back situation. The retirement of Carl Brumbaugh has left only three signal callers on the squad. As matters now stand, the job appears to belong to Bernie Masterson, who substituted for Brumbaugh last year, with the former Nebraska All-American attempting to stave off the bid of John Turley, passing sensation from Ohio Wesleyan, and Bob Dunlap of Oklahoma.

The 500 boy and girl campers, winding up a summer here this week, were treated to a surprise last night when their boxing championship finals were stopped and a headline wrestling bout was staged by McMillen and Richards. Bronko Nagurski, the third headline wrestler on the Bears' roster, refereed. Nagurski called the bout a draw at the end of 15 minutes after both men had attacked him twice. It was big town stuff and was a sensation on the program, even before little Georgie Corbett offered to throw both contestants and the referee.

sisted the Cubs to a run which gave them a 5 to 4 lead. Both Galan and Herman walked with none out and the former took third on Klein's fly to Bucher. Munns tossed a batting practice ball to Hartnett, who clouted it into center for a single, Galan counting. Demaree ended the inning with a force of Gabby at second.

Dodgers Score in Seventh.

French maintained his one run edge until the seventh, when the Dodgers ganged on him with three hits, two scoring. Leslie singled to right with one out and went to third on Cuccinello's single to left. Taylor rolled to Herman, who failed to make the throw to the plate although there was ample time. Instead he threw out Taylor at first and Leslie registered with the tying run. A moment later Stripp singled to left and Cuccinello scored. Stripp was caught overrunning first base.

Root started well enough in the eighth by fanning Lopez, but he walked Clark and the Dodgers immediately went places. Bordagaray singled for his fourth hit and was safe at second when Cavarretta threw wild attempting to force him on Frey's grounder. This filled the bases. Root was yanked and Rookie Shoun stepped into the vacancy. His first pitch was turned into a single to right by Bucher, Clark and Bordagaray scoring and Frey taking third. Frey scored while Leslie was forcing Bucher. Cuccinello popped to Herman.

SECOND GAME

Probably because they figured it might keep the Cubs in a panicky state, the Dodgers opened the second game with a run off Carleton. Frey walked after one was out and Galan flagged a hard line drive by Bucher. Leslie singled over short and Cuccinello singled to right, Frey scoring and Leslie taking third. Carleton emerged from the jam on Koenecke's pop foul to O'Dea. This lone run was retrieved in the second when Cavarretta hoisted homer No. 6 over the right field screen.

A run in the third put the Dodgers back in front, 2 to 1. Bordagaray opened with a single to left and sprinted to second when O'Dea committed a passed ball. Carleton stopped a legitimate hit by Frey and threw him out at first, Bordagaray going to third. Carleton called his mates around him to show that he hurt his hand making the stop, but they refused to take him seriously and he decided to resume pitching. When he did Bucher lined deep to Galan and Bordagaray scored after the catch.

The Cubs tied it up again in the sixth. Galan led off with a three base drive to the wall in left center, but it wasn't necessary for him to stop at third. He crossed the plate because Frey took the throw in and heaved the ball against the grand stand. Herman followed with a double to right. Klein popped foul to Zach Taylor and then Herman foolishly tried to steal third. He was an easy victim. A pass to O'Dea came next. Demaree popped to Stripp for the third out.

The hysteria that led to a Dodger run in the seventh began with Stripp singling to center. Lopez batted for Z. Taylor and poked a slow twisting grounder toward first. Cavarretta scooped up the ball and threw to second with no apparent chance of getting Stripp. This put two on with none out. They moved along on a bunt by Dan Taylor, who batted for Leonard. Galan made a neat catch of a hard deep drive by Bordagaray and Stripp scored. Hack then threw out Frey.

The Cubs were pitiful on offense in the eighth. Old Vance came in to pitch and Hartnett, batting for Carleton, singled to center. Stainback ran for Gabby. Galan was hit by a pitched ball. Vance departed and Reis, the ex-outfielder, came in. Herman bunted and forced Stainback at third. Klein forced Herman at second on a weak tap to Reis and it was almost a double play. O'Dea completed the fadeout by flying to Bordagaray.

WARNEKE PITCHES TODAY

Grove of Red Sox Faces Tietje of White Sox Today

The rejuvenated Lefty Grove will go after his fifteenth victory of the season in this afternoon's clash between the Sox of Boston and the Sox of Chicago. Les Tietje, who pitched a nice game against the Tigers his last time out, will work for the White Sox.

Stanley Loneski, Tony Piet's first sandlot manager, yesterday launched the smoke-up for Piet day, to be celebrated at Comiskey park Sept. 1. There will be a big dance Aug. 24 to raise funds for a nice present for Tony.

Al Simmons was given a light razz when he appeared at bat the first time. The noise turned to cheers when Al doubled and later scored the tying run.

CHICAGOANS WIN LEGION BASEBALL REGIONAL TITLE

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An unearned run today gave the Neighborhood Boys Club of Chicago A 1 to 0 victory over the Aubuchon-Dennison Post Team of St. Louis in the finals of the Regional American Legion junior baseball tournament. The victory entitles the Chicagoans to enter the western sectional championship tourney next week at Stockton, Cal.

Hunthausen, pitching for St. Louis, allowed only two hits but a first inning error doomed him to defeat. Riha, third baseman for the Boys' club, scored the one run of the game.

BOSTON DEFEATS SOX, 7 TO 1; 12TH OUT OF 13 STARTS

Five Runs in Seventh Give Visitors Decision.

Werber in an attempt to spear Simmons. Simmons reached third and Hayes first on the fielder's choice play. Shea sent a long fly to Johnson, Simmons scoring the tying run. Phelps fanned, but Radcliff doubled to center, Hayes stopping at third. Piet walked, filling the bases. Dykes forced Piet to end the inning.

Sox Threat Fades.

The White Sox had runners on third and first with one out in the fourth, but faded out. Hayes opened with a double to left and stayed on second while Werber was throwing out Shea. Phelps lined a single to right, Hayes stopping at third. Radcliff fouled the first pitch to R. Ferrell, and Piet grounded out to Melillo. This gave the Sox a record of seven runners left on base in four innings.

Werber beat out a bunt to Phelps for the second Boston hit to start the fifth inning, but Melillo hit into a double play launched by Appling, and Hayes threw out Dahlgren.

Boston Goes Wild in Seventh.

With one down in the seventh Cronin tripled to the right field wall. After Manager Joe pulled at third, he and Phelps exchanged pleasantries which wound up with a challenge. The players rushed toward each other, but Umpire Summers was fast on his feet and averted trouble. R. Ferrell was given a more or less intentional pass. Werber then doubled over Simmons' head, Cronin scoring and R. Ferrell stopping at third. Melillo was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Dahlgren slammed a single off Piet's glove, R. Ferrell scoring and the bases remaining loaded. Ostermueller was hit by a pitched ball, forcing Werber to score.

Wyatt replaced Phelps and Cooke singled to center, scoring Melillo and Dahlgren. Almada filed to Radcliff. Johnson, who supplied the first out in the inning, also supplied the third. Piet caught his foul just before diving head first into the box seats.

Parker and Shields Win at Newport

Newport, R. I., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The thrills that the critical Newport casino tennis gallery demands were supplied by Frank Shields today, when that top-seeded star put on a two hour battle to qualify for the semi-finals with a 13-11, 6-3, 8-6 triumph over Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J.

Frankie Parker, Milwaukee, Wis., third seeded, was the only other player to reach the semi-finals. Parker had an easy session eliminating Gene Mako, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1. The second seeded Don Budge, Oakland, Cal., pounded away at Enrique Maier's weak backhand to gain a 6-1, 6-1, verdict in a fourth round match, after Roderick Menzel, the Czechoslovakian star, qualified for the quarter-finals with a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Sam Lee, Seattle.

Budge will meet Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., and Menzel probably will be extended to the limit when he plays Bryant Grant, Atlanta, in tomorrow's quarter-finals.

MISS SOUCHEK WINS MATCH IN PARK TOURNEY

Josephine Souchek, young Big Oaks player, marched along in defense of her Illinois women's public parks golf championship yesterday by defeating Mrs. Georgia Light of Evergreen, 6 and 4, in the second round over the Waveland avenue course of the Lincoln Park Golf club.

In today's semi-finals, Miss Souchek will meet Mrs. R. A. Adler of Mid-City, one of the tournament's comedalists, who advanced when her opponent, Mrs. O. F. Burnett of Medinah, defaulted.

The other semi-final today will bring together two Mohawk youngsters—Louise Johnson and Virginia Jensen. The latter won her second round match from Mrs. Mildred Simmons of Indian Head, 4 and 3, while Miss Johnson defeated Mrs. Roy Garland of Medinah, the other co-medalist, 3 and 2.

Winner trained by C. Van Dusen. Went to post at 2:16. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won easily; place driving.

MISS PRUDENCE, away fast and hustled into command, always held LADY MONTROSE safe and, holding on well, increased her advantage rapidly as latter tired in late stages. LADY MONTROSE displayed speed from the start, but tired after five-eighths. CONTINUITY, forced to lose ground much of the race, finished fast in a fine effort.

DON ROMIRO, quick to get going but taken out repeatedly so as not to impede horses, still was racing wide as he came around SKIPPY McGEE entering stretch and weakened after taking a good lead, but lasted. EP, probably best and shuffled back on the turn, came again boldly on inside after reaching fast three-sixteenths. JIRASOL II., never a great distance back, finished well under strong hand riding.

VALERIE JEAN had good speed from the start, saved ground after first five-sixteenths and, holding on stubbornly, outfinished RULE OR RUIN. Latter, raced wide throughout, worked his way to front in stretch and but for swerving in final eighth might have lasted. ELANAC, forced to lose ground, moved up slightly on stretch turn and tired in the drive, but outstayed GRAY ETHEL.

50,868 WATCH GIANTS DIVIDE WITH CARDINALS

New York Wins, 6-4; Then Loses, 3-0.

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Cardinals and the Giants divided their double-header before 50,868 at the Polo Grounds today. The Giants won the first game, 6 to 4, and the Cards took the second, 3 to 0. As a result St. Louis still is three games behind New York.

The Giants mauled Paul Dean, once a bogeyman, for five runs in the first two innings of the opener, clinching the game when Joe Moore drove a home run into the stands with two on in the second. Carl Hubbell yielded eight hits.

Wild Bill Hallahan was touched for ten hits in the second game. He hit the first home run of his long major league career in the second inning.

Al Nettlow, 1935 international Golden Gloves featherweight champion, yesterday agreed to make his professional boxing debut Monday at Marigold Gardens under the management of the Catholic Youth organization. Rain Postpones Bout Between Miller, Bernard

Fish Still Can Fool Sportsmen in Hot Weather

BY BOB BECKER.

The fisherman who goes to northern lakes often has a chance to learn new facts about the habits of game fish during hot weather, because there is much difference in the behavior of bass, muskies or pike early in the season and later when the days are hot.

An interesting fact about fish habits brought out on our recent trip to Fence, Gunlock, Long and Flambeau lakes near Lac du Flambeau, Wis., was the way wall-eyed pike and bass apparently gather around one kind of weed bed or bar in one lake and then refuse to occupy that same kind of bar in another lake.

For example, when we were fishing a certain bar in Fence lake a few days ago it was, of course, a question of going deep to make a connection with the finny tribes. This bar was covered with fine weeds—the kind of place that both wall-eyes and bass prefer to frequent.

But nary a bass did any of us find on this particular bar, although the week before when we were fishing another lake in Wisconsin our party caught small mouthed black bass and wall-eyes from that kind of an underwater habitat. Although we found wall-eyes right among the weeds, they also seemed to loaf around just off the vegetation in deeper water where there was nothing but sand on the bottom of the lake.

In Long lake, another body of water in the Flambeau chain, Ben Poupart, one of the Indian guides, showed us a broad small mouthed bass bar where he had picked up some dandy bronze backs weighing up to four pounds.

As far as we could determine by means of a little hook and line dredging, the vegetation was just about the same as grows on the Fence lake weed bar. But here was a case of bass choosing one of the weed bars and leaving the other pretty much alone—doubtless a choice governed by food supplies as well as other factors of the habitat.

If we must fish in deep water for bass or pike, it's more fun to work a bar with both kinds of fish than just one, because the two species strike differently. The bass quickens your pulse when he grabs a lure because he does such a good job of sprinting, whereas the wall-eye is a slower biter.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 14.—The continued advance of selected public utility and second grade railroad bonds and the unsettlement in the market for United States government loans characterized bond trading today on the New York Stock exchange. The trading pace slowed down somewhat. Transactions amounted to $11,036,600, compared with $12,375,100 on Tuesday.

Some of the federal treasury issues dipped rather sharply during the morning, but subsequent recoveries resulted in the list ending the day with a highly mixed undertone.

Prices Mixed at Close.

Net changes in the treasury group ranged from advances of 1-32 to 5-32 to declines of 1-32 to 7-32. The guaranteed bonds, after early easiness, rallied to close with advances of 1-32 to 3-32.

Interest in government bond circles was centered around the sale today of the additional block of 2¾ per cent bonds by the treasury. It was generally anticipated that total subscriptions, while sufficient to more than take up the entire issue, would fall considerably short of those received in the two previous sales of this issue.

Second Grade Rails Active.

In the meantime the character of the market for high grade corporation bonds remained dull and virtually unchanged. Second grade rail liens continued to absorb the bulk of trading activity, with several of the public utility bonds sharing the demand and recording good-sized gains.

Foreign government bonds moved within a narrow price range in light trades. German Agricultural bank issues were in good demand at prices fractionally to over a point higher. Italian loans were quiet and mixed.

Acme Steel.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me full information about Acme Steel stock?—C. M.

Answer: About 60 per cent of this Chicago steel company's output is consumed in the automobile industry. Earnings, consequently, follow the trend of automobile activity. Hoops and bands are second in importance.

Earnings reached their peak in 1929 [$2,553,000]. They dropped rapidly, hitting bottom in 1932. Since then they have climbed steadily, although second quarter earnings this year were somewhat under those in the second quarter of 1934.

Net income for the first half of 1935 was $935,000, or $2.85 a share, against net of $881,000, or $2.66 a share, for the first half of 1934.

In 1934 the company earned $1,031,000, or $3.01 a share, against $942,000 or $2.75 a share, for 1933. Per share earnings were 6 cents in 1932, $1.08 in 1931, and $2.74 in 1930.

The retirement of $1,035,000 of bonds in June, 1935, partly with treasury cash and partly with bank loans, will save the company a total of about $175,000 in interest.

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1934, including $987,000 cash, totaled $4,260,000, and current liabilities were $826,000. Capitalization now consists solely of 328,108 shares of $25 par capital stock. The stock pays regular quarterly dividends of 50 cents. Two extras of 12½ cents a share have been paid so far this year.

B. F. Keith Corporation.

Investors' Guide: Will you please advise me the standing of B. F. Keith 6s, due 1946?—W. J. M.

Answer: B. F. Keith corporation operates key theaters of the Keith chain. It is an indirect subsidiary of Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, which is in receivership. B. F. Keith, however, has paid interest regularly, although it failed to earn it in full in 1933 and in 1934.

In the first quarter of 1935 net income after all charges was $30,000, against $101,000 for the first quarter of 1934.

Gross revenues for 1934 were $9,355,000, against $8,900,000 for 1933 and $11,252,000 for 1932. In 1934 only 77 per cent of fixed charges was earned. In 1933 only 9 per cent of such charges was earned. Fixed charges in 1932 were earned 1.31 times.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets were $882,000 and current liabilities were $347,000. Funded debt was $9,679,000.

The $6,119,000 first and general 6s, due 1946, are secured by a first mortgage on certain properties and a general mortgage, subject to $3,560,000 senior liens, on the remainder. The bonds are speculative.

SWIFT, GENERAL FOODS ASSAIL NEW TAX PLAN

Stockholders Urged to Make Protest.

Swift & Co., world's largest meat packers, and the General Foods corporation yesterday urged stockholders to ask their congressmen to vote against the proposal for a higher income tax on large corporations than on small ones. The General Foods letter, which also assailed the proposed increase in excess profits taxes and the lowering of exemptions, listed the name of every senator and representative.

G. F. SWIFT.

Both corporations asserted that the measure is unfair in that it effects nothing more than a tax on stockholders. They point out that a small stockholder in a large corporation would suffer while a large shareholder in a small corporation would not be hit.

Consumer to Be Hit.

G. F. Swift, president of the packing company, said that in the case of the packing industry the tax will be a burden on every producer of live stock and every consumer of meat as well as inimical to the interest of the company's 53,000 stockholders.

When the company's taxable income amounts to $15,000,000 Swift said that the total tax burden would be nearly $3,000,000, or almost 50 cents a share. This would fall equally on the 13,000 persons owning less than 10 shares and the 8,000 owning from 101 to 500 shares. He also said 9,700 own 11 to 20 shares, 13,400 from 21 to 50 shares, and 8,600 hold 51 to 100 shares. The average holding is 108 shares.

"To penalize agencies which operate between these two markets simply because they are large, when such agencies must be large if they are to do their work efficiently, seems hardly credible," wrote Swift.

View of General Foods.

"This is part of a tax proposal which in its nature is entirely new in this country," declared Executive Vice President Clarence Francis in the letter to General Foods shareholders. "Its novelty lies in the fact that its avowed purpose is not to raise revenue for the government but to redistribute wealth or property and income of private persons. There could be no clumsier or more futile means of accomplishing such a purpose than a graduated tax on corporation income, for such a tax is an indiscriminate burden on the income of all stockholders whether they be wealthy or comparatively poor."

"The bill is designed not to raise revenue essentially, but to further a program of social evangelism, well exemplified in the President's recent statement to the press—imputing dishonesty and evasion to wealthy individuals investing in tax exempt government securities—only shortly after having approved the issue of and urged investment of private funds in tax exempt 'baby bonds' of the United States treasury.

"It is our opinion that these features of the pending revenue bill are palpably devoid of fairness, equity, and good, sound judgment and we feel that criticism of them can hardly be made too emphatic."

PRINCE ASSAILS SNOOPING OF U. S., EXCESS TAXATION

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Too much government investigation and too many taxes were criticized as principal hindrances to business recovery today by Frederick H. Prince, Boston capitalist and chairman of Armour & Co., just before he sailed for Europe.

"Taxes are all out of proportion to earnings," Prince asserted. "How can the business man expand his business and give employment to more labor if this new-fangled idea of soaking the rich is to be the program?

"All any business man is doing now is looking forward to the time when he can go ahead. These investigations only have the effect of holding back business. I am certain that as soon as congress adjourns things will brighten up.

"It is unfortunate the government is engaged in so much investigation. It already has investigated enough and it is now time for a breathing spell. Let us take stock and see where we are.

"Undoubtedly the time will come for a change for the better. It may not be far off. Certainly we have adjusted ourselves to our losses and the new conditions."

Canadian Growers Place Big Farm Machine Orders

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—Canadian farmers have suddenly invaded implement markets for new machinery to such an extent that implement makers are unable to supply demand, although running plants at 100 per cent capacity. Ontario province particularly, with bumper crops, has surprised manufacturers with its flood of farmer orders. Carloads of new implements routed to Western Canada are being diverted eastward to meet the demand. Implement manufacturers say most of the buying is for cash.

Steel Output Rate Climbs to 49 Per Cent

Steel ingot production is now at the highest level since the third week of February, having risen 2 points over last week to 49 per cent of capacity, the magazine Iron Age announced yesterday. Chicago was among the five districts that showed a gain this week, output here rising 3 points to 57 per cent.

Other district gains include 2 points to 52 per cent in the valleys, 6 points to 34 per cent in the Philadelphia area, 3 points to 78 per cent in the Wheeling district and 5 points to 38 per cent in the south.

Production showed signs of leveling off at Pittsburgh, where the rate remained at 43 per cent, and at Cleveland and Buffalo where production was unchanged at 50 and 38 per cent, respectively. Detroit operations remained at the high rate of 95 per cent.

Miscellaneous Demand Continues.

Miscellaneous demand continues to be the mainstay of the current increase in production, the journal said, as the recent expansion has been in the face of diminished releases from the automobile industry. While a leading motor car maker has resumed full operations after shutting down for two weeks, a number of producers are now idle pending the change over to new models.

Automobile assemblies this month are now expected to exceed 200,000 units, the review says. Automotive steel, however, is expected to move in expanding volume within the next two weeks. Tin plate output in the meantime has shown an unexpected gain from 82 to 85 per cent of capacity, although a recession is expected.

Scrap Prices Rise Again.

Scrap prices continue to advance, with higher prices in Chicago and Pittsburgh raising the Iron Age scrap composite from $11.83 to $12.08 a ton, the highest level since the second week of February. The composite prices for pig iron and finished steel remain steady at $17.84 a ton and 2.124 cents a pound, respectively.

Among orders placed during the week was one for 6,000 tons of rails for the Seaboard Air Line, while Chicago producers have received a number of small rail orders totaling 2,000 tons. The railroad equipment market is devoid of new developments other than the revival of reports that large car purchases may materialize before the end of the year, says the journal.

SENATE APPROVES CONNALLY OIL CONTROL BILL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The senate today approved the Connally oil regulation bill, but acted so quickly that two senators objected and one entered a motion to reconsider the action. This motion by Senator George [Dem., Ga.], was not acted upon today, but it prevented the measure from going to the house. The bill by Senator Connally [Dem., Tex.], was a substitute for a broader plan by Senator Thomas [Dem., Okla.]. A measure similar to the Thomas bill was approved today by the house interstate commerce committee.

The Connally bill contained three points: Congressional consent for the Dallas interstate oil conservation compact, authority for the President, on recommendation of the tarif commission, to so regulate imports as to keep them around the 1932 level—74,494,000 barrels; making permanent the Connally law, which otherwise would expire in June, 1937, prohibiting interstate shipments of "hot oil," —oil produced in excess of amounts regulated by state laws.

Senator McAdoo [Dem., Cal.], one of the objectors, said he expected to receive soon from constituents in California protests that the bill was too liberal in suggesting that imports be allowed up to the 1932 level.

FORCED POTATO OUTPUT CONTROL VOTED BY HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A compulsory production control system for potatoes, similar to those already in effect for cotton and tobacco, was approved by the house today and sent to the senate for concurrence in a minor technical amendment. The senate is expected to agree.

The house also approved minor modifications of the other three points in the AAA amendments in which it was in disagreement with the senate, concerning the purchase of submarginal farm lands for conversion into public parks and game preserves, acquisition and destruction of diseased dairy and beef cattle, and the administration of the tobacco act. The senate is expected to accept these house changes and this would complete congressional action.

AAA officials have expressed opposition to the potato plan, on the ground that it would be impossible to carry out compulsory control. Today's favorable house vote of 174 to 165, came as a surprise; the plan adopted is, in substance, the Warren bill, on which the house never took action. It was added to the AAA amendments by the senate, on motion of Senator Bailey.

Bendix Gives Up Gold Coast Plot on Loan

BY AL CHASE.

An echo of one of Chicago's most spectacular real estate transactions was heard yesterday when Vincent Bendix, millionaire head of the Bendix Aviation corporation and other concerns bearing his name, turned over to the Metropolitan Life Insurance company title to a square block of gold coast property, just south of the Potter Palmer residence.

VINCENT BENDIX.

The land, bounded by Lake Shore drive, Banks street, Ritchie court, and Goethe street, with the exception of the northeast corner of Ritchie and Goethe, was transferred to satisfy a million dollar loan made to Bendix by the insurance company Sept. 24, 1930.

Defaults on Onterest.

The loan was for five years at 5½ per cent. Bendix defaulted on an interest payment of $27,500 due Sept. 1, 1932, and another for the same amount on March 1, 1933. He also owed back taxes amounting to approximately $100,000. According to Nathaniel Rubinkam of Hoyne, O'Connor & Rubinkam, attorneys for Metropolitan, the mortgage and notes were canceled on completion of title.

Orville J. Taylor of Taylor, Miller, Busch & Boyden, attorneys for Bendix, said that with the plans for improving the property forced into the background by the depression, Bendix decided to relinquish the property rather than carry it along with high taxes and interest piling up.

The Metropolitan Life yesterday conveyed the entire property to the Winton Realty company, subsidiary of the Great Lakes Mortgage company, for management. This is the fifth big Chicago property turned over by the life concern to the Winton within a month, according to Robert Wingard, president of Great Lakes.

Bought by Syndicate.

In addition to buying the Potter Palmer brown stone castle in 1928 for a reported $3,000,000, on which he at one time contemplated erecting a 50 story hotel to cost $25,000,000, Bendix was one of the members of a syndicate which bought the property turned back yesterday.

Associated with him at that time were John Holabird, George W. Griffiths, interests identified with S. W. Straus & Co., and others. In August, 1929, Charles Marcus of New York bought the property and the following year Bendix admitted that Marcus took title for him and that he was the sole owner.

He also intimated that a huge hotel improvement similar to the contemplated $25,000,000 Bendix hotel for the Palmer site, might be erected. Neither went ahead. Bendix later refused an offer of $5,000,000 for the Palmer property, but on Jan. 2, 1933, sold it at a reported loss to a syndicate of local business men, who in turn conveyed it back to the Palmers after failing to carry out their plans.

Consolidated Oil Defers Issuance of New Bonds

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—After a meeting of directors of Consolidated Oil corporation today, H. F. Sinclair, chairman of the executive committee, announced that in view of the earnings and cash position of the corporation, the directors decided to defer issuance of new bonds recently authorized by the stockholders. All of the heretofore outstanding bonds of the corporation, amounting to $48,781,700, due in 1937 and 1938, were paid Aug. 12.

COL. ROOSEVELT CALLS NEW DEAL IDIOTIC; ASSAILS AAA THEORY

New York, Aug. 14.—[Special.]—The AAA policies of President Roosevelt's administration are driving American business men into the cotton business in Brazil because of cheaper production costs there which can compete better with southern cotton, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, cousin of the President, asserted tonight. He spoke at a dinner given by the National Republic club, of which he is president, to welcome him home from his recent game hunting trip in Brazil. Col. Roosevelt assailed the President's policies as "idiotic."

"I met many American business men setting up cotton business in Brazil because they could produce cheaper cotton than in the south," said Col. Roosevelt. "This administration has almost ruined our export business in cotton and the business men in Brazil took it away from us just as though we gave it to them. Why it is even so strange that Brazil now ships corn and cottonseed to feed our cattle.

"I met a business man in Brazil who said to me, 'Yes, I saw what Al Smith said about killing Santa Claus. Your President has been a Santa Claus to Brazil.' But I said 'Yes, at the expense of the people of the United States.' I met many business men of our country in Brazil who were being benefited by the folly of the administration in Washington. But I met not one who was not engaged in the business of preparing for absentee voting in 1936 to vote against the administration."

Directors of United States Gypsum company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of the same amount and $1.75 a share on the preferred. The payments will be made on or before Oct. 1 to stockholders of record on Sept. 13.

Climax Molybdenum increased its dividend on common from the 25 cents paid on June 29 to 50 cents a share. The distribution will be made on Sept. 30. R. C. Williams omitted the common dividend now due. On May 1 a payment of 25 cents a share was disbursed.

Directors of the Crown Williamette Paper company declared a dividend of $1 per share on first preferred stock of the company, payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 16. An additional dividend of $1 per share was also declared, payable Sept. 14 to holders of record Aug. 31.

CANADA REPORTS RISE IN OUTPUT OF NEWSPRINT

Montreal, Que., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A sharp rise in production of newsprint in Canada during July was sufficient to overcome the continued decline of United States output below a year ago and was large enough to put the production for both countries for the first seven months of 1935 ahead of the same period last year.

Canadian production totaled 234,266 tons, against 208,238 tons in July last year, an increase of 12.5 per cent. United States production during the same period was only 73,108 tons against 76,184 tons in 1934, a drop of 4.2 per cent.

City to Award School Bond Issue Today

Award of an issue of $5,500,000 of Chicago board of education refunding bonds will be made at 11 o'clock this morning at a special meeting of the board. Bids will be opened by City Controler Robert B. Upham an hour preceding the meeting. The city council ordinance authorizing the issue was passed yesterday.

The new bonds will bear a 3½ per cent interest coupon and will mature Jan. 1, 1955. They are callable Jan. 1, 1945, or on any interest date thereafter prior to maturity. They replace an issue of educational fund bonds of equal amount which paid 4 per cent interest and mature Jan. 1, 1936.

Expects Good Premium.

Frank S. Righeimer, attorney for the school board, yesterday predicted that the issue will bring a "good premium," being in sharp contrast with conditions several years ago, when Chicago educational paper was a drug on the market.

The board of education refunding follows closely upon similar operations of the city last week in which an issue of $9,647,000 in 3½ per cent bonds was sold at a premium of $356,843—a record high in the city's history.

Like the city's issue, that of the board of education is being sold in advance of the maturity of the present bonds to permit a reduction in the 1934 tax levy. This must be accomplished by Sept. 1, because tax levies will be extended soon after that date. The two financing operations will make possible a cut of approximately $15,000,000 in the two levies.

First Interest Payment.

The new 3½ per cent school board issue is to be dated Sept. 1, and the first interest coupon will be made payable in ten months, on July 1, 1936.

The last previous bond sale by the board of education was the $22,500,000 twenty year 4½ per cent issue, secured by loop real estate of the board, which was taken in August of last year by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. This issue later was sold to Chicago banks at a premium by the RFC. Proceeds were used to pay all back salaries of school teachers.

ARMOUR & CO. DICKERING FOR PLANT IN IOWA

Armour & Co. is negotiating for the purchase of Jacob Decker & Sons, Iowa packing concern whose common stock is 99 per cent owned by Adolph Gobel, Inc. It was learned here yesterday that the deal may be closed shortly. Announcement was made in New York by Frederick H. Prince, Armour chairman, that the negotiations were under way.

It was the first admission by Armour officials of the authenticity of recent reports that a deal with Gobel was imminent.

U.S. BUYS YEAR'S SILVER OUTPUT IN SINGLE DAY

Aid Fails to Check Decline in Price.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The purchase today of more than 25,500,000 ounces of silver—last year's estimated domestic production—was announced tonight by secretary Morgenthau. The treasury head hastily called a sunset press conference amid rumblings of discontent on capitol hill over the administration's handling of the silver purchase law, to make this brief statement:

"We bought more silver today than the total domestic production last year." Then he added that 1934's domestic output was estimated at 25,500,000 ounces.

Morgenthau said silver purchases would continue, contrary to rumors in world trading centers that the program had been or would be abandoned. His statement was accepted by treasury observers as a formal reply to these reports.

Price Falls Sharply.

In New York the price of imported silver for domestic commercial use was lowered 1¾ cents to 65¾ cents, the first change since July 15, following a reduction earlier in London of ¾ of a penny to 29 3-16 pence, or 65.46 cents. On a rapid advance last spring silver touched 81 cents an ounce.

The treasury head declined to say whether his announcement had any connection with a proposal earlier in the day by the leader of the senate silver bloc, Senator Thomas [Dem., Okla.], for a congressional inquiry into administration of the silver act. It directed buying until treasury stocks were one-third of the gold supply or the price reached $1.29 an ounce.

When advised of Morgenthau's statement, Thomas said:

"Well, the world price doesn't show it. I'll try to see Secretary Morgenthau tomorrow. I may have something to say then. I haven't introduced my resolution for an investigation yet."

Morgenthau Silent on Total.

Morgenthau declined to give exact figures on the amount bought today in the world market—presumably largely in London—or the extent of aggregate purchases under the silver act. In one quarter, it was estimated total acquisitions from all sources exceeded 500,000,000 ounces and that the treasury's silver supply stood well over a billion ounces.

The treasury's information, according to Morgenthau, was that recent world selling had come largely from India and China, traditional storehouses of the white metal and centers of world speculation in it.

Heavy American buying began several weeks ago after the world price had dropped more than 10 cents.

Claim U. S. Is Routed.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Evening Star said silver speculators this afternoon routed the United States government and caused a slump of three-fourths of a pence in the price of silver, bringing it down to 29 3-16 shillings on a weak market.

The Star says the United States government has been the only recent buyer of silver and when it permitted the price to fall slightly yesterday speculators began pouring in selling orders. Washington, the newspaper continued, at first bought only in small quantities but then attempted to stem the tide with fresh buying, only to give up the task later.

The end of the dealing, the Star said, saw the speculators holding the field in triumph. Dealers estimated turnover exceeded 7,000,000 ounces.

Banks Report Small Units Asking Loans

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Although the total amount of commercial loans remains at low ebb, Chicago bankers report a modest pick up in demand for bank loans from small industries, due to the rather general increase in business activity during the last few weeks.

A number of small manufacturing concerns that have been staying away from the banks for several years have reopened lines of credit with Chicago banks because of need for funds to cover the manufacture of goods to cover increased sales.

To date this demand for loans has not been large, but some Chicagoans view it as the modest beginning of a trend away from the steady contraction of loans that has been in progress since 1929.

Another encouraging development has been the headway toward financial recovery evident in some of the smaller manufacturing concerns in the central west that had previously been regarded as beyond hope.

One such company yesterday informed a loop bank that by the end of this year it would be able to repay its loan in full, due to a substantial increase in sales and earnings. The loan, long overdue, had already been written off by the bank.

Thus business improvement works two ways on the total amount of bank loans outstanding. New loans being made by banks to corporations in need of funds to finance increased sales are being offset by the repayment of old loans made possible by increased sales. Both developments are encouraging but neither shows up in the reported figures for total loans because one offsets the other.

Lest these developments stir up undue optimism, however, bankers are quick to assert that no big increase in commercial loans may be expected until business gets a lot better than it is now. Most of the big corporations still have tremendous surpluses upon which they will draw for a long time before facing the necessity of borrowing from banks.

Interest rates therefore are expected to remain low, especially in view of the fact that the federal government's borrowing and spending is steadily increasing the idle cash reserves of banks—already more than two and one-half billion dollars.

AAA STANDS PAT ON RECORD CORN-HOG PENALTY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Farm administration is standing by the biggest penalty it has assessed for violation of corn-hog contract—The $3,040 penalty ordered levied against W. P. Adams of Odebolt, Ia.—for planting contracted corn acres to wheat last fall. W. O. Fraser, chief of the corn-hog compliance division, announced today a review of the case here had been completed and said "we have no occasion to change our minds."

"The only thing unusual about it," he said, "is the size. Because of that our own representative asked us to check it. Adams has complained to us. We felt it would be proper to make a deduction rather than to cancel the contract. A deduction commensurate with the violation was ordered. That would take away any financial gain which might result from the violation."

Chicagoan Submits Low Bid on Mississippi Dam

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—S. A. Healy, Chicago, who built the Rock Island dam of the upper Mississippi river nine foot channel project, today submitted a low bid of $2,507,138 for construction of dam number eighteen of the channel project to be located seven miles up stream from Burlington. Four bids were received by Lieut. Col. R. A. Wheeler, Rock Island district United States engineer, here this afternoon.

AAA RETREATS FROM PLAN FOR 15% WHEAT CUT

Only 5% Reduction Asked in 1936.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—With the prospect that the country's wheat harvest will fall short of domestic requirements for the third successive year, the Agricultural Adjustment administration today retreated from its plan to ask a 15 per cent reduction in wheat acreage for 1936. Instead of that cut, farmers who have contracted with the government to curtail production will be asked to reduce their plantings only 5 per cent.

The action means that the 1936 wheat acreage will be increased about 5,200,000 above what was previously planned by the AAA.

Find Production Short.

Secretary Wallace told reporters this afternoon that the change was decided upon after the government's Aug. 1 survey of crop conditions indicated that total wheat production this year would amount to only 608 million bushels as compared with domestic requirements of 635 million bushels.

The step was taken, he asserted, to assure ample supplies for domestic consumers. He said that it was expected to place the country in a "strengthened position" in the export market. He added the change in policy will not result in any marked reduction in benefit payment to farmers. He did not say what the exact reductions in the payments would amount to.

Estimate on Contracts.

AAA officials estimated that approximately 52 million acres would be placed under contract this year. They asserted that the government is given "adequate powers" to deal with the situation if a bumper wheat harvest should result in 1936.

The new wheat adjustment contracts provide that adjustments in years subsequent to 1936 may be as much as 25 per cent of the base acreage, which is based on the years 1931-32.

Today's action of the AAA recalls a similiar switch in policy last spring when an order was issued rescinding the reduction previously asked in spring wheat production. Spring wheat producers, however, while able to increase their acreage, retained their right to benefit payments.

Fails to Foresee Damage.

Despite the increase in acreage resulting the AAA did not foresee the heavy damage that the crop was to suffer during July. The damage to the spring wheat crop from black rust during that month was largely responsible for cutting the nation's total crop below the estimated domestic requirements.

American milling interests are already reported to have purchased substantial quantities of Canadian wheat for import and it is indicated that the country will continue to import during the remainder of the season. A cargo of Canadian wheat was unloaded in Milwaukee this week for the Eckhart Milling company of Chicago.

Protest Japanese Sales to Syria and Palestine

GENEVA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Official records showed today that the heavy selling of merchandise by Japan to Syria and Palestine have caused protests to the league of nations mandate commission. The protests were made because these mandated regions sell practically nothing to Japan in return.

ELECTRIC POWER PRODUCTION SETS ANOTHER RECORD

Chicago District Makes Good Showing.

Power output continued to set records last week, reaching the highest level on record for the second week of August, with a total of 1,819,371.000 kilowatt hours. The total for the Chicago area also reached a new high.

The national total, while showing a slightly contraseasonal decline of 0.1 per cent from the preceding week, when a new high for the period was also established, was 9.7 per cent above last year, according to the Edison Electric institute.

Reports Chicago Figures.

In the Chicago area, the total, as reported by the Commonwealth Edison company, was 103,644,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 103,980,000 in the preceding week and 101,574,000 in the corresponding period of 1934.

This was the third consecutive week in which a new high level for the particular period was reached and the increase was attributed to continuation of the extremely hot weather and steady improvement in the amount of power used by industrial customers.

The gain over a year ago, including total output of last year, was 2 per cent, but excluding the amount of power sold to A Century of Progress, the gain over a year ago would have amounted to 3.7 per cent.

Comparative Figures.

Following are the output and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district [000 omitted]:

All major geographical centers of the country shared in the gain over a year ago, giving encouragement to business forecasters.

In New England the output was 7.3 per cent above a year ago, compared with a rise of 8.4 per cent in the preceding week; middle Atlantic states up 7.2 per cent, against 7.5 per cent; central industrial area up 9.8 per cent, against 10.4 per cent; west central up 10.3 per cent, against 11.7 per cent; southern states up 10.4 per cent, against 11.7 per cent; Rocky mountain up 37 per cent, against 33.3 per cent; Pacific coast 5.5 per cent, against 4.8 per cent.

EXPORTS IN JUNE TO EUROPE SHOW FIRST 1935 GAIN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—(AP)—The commerce department reported today that June was the first month this year to show a gain over 1934 in United States exports to Europe.

Europe, although always this country's largest customer, in recent months has been purchasing less American goods proportionately than other sections of the world. The June 1935 total was $69,380,000 compared with $67,614,000 in June 1934, an increase of $1,766,000, but exports to Europe for the first six months of 1935 were still about $60,000,000 below the first six months of 1934.

KEYSTONE STEEL GAINS A POINT IN REBATE SUIT

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 14.—[Special.]—A temporary restraining order against an interstate commerce commission order prohibiting railways from making rebates for plant switching was granted the Keystone Steel and Wire company today by a three judge federal court.

Deferring final action until a later date, Judge George T. Page, retired, from the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and District Judge J. Earl Major decided that the company was entitled to the injunction, but the third member of the court, District Judge Charles G. Briggle, did not agree.

The order, which was signed after a hearing in which the commission attorneys argued for dismissal of the case, supersedes a temporary stay order granted last month without a formal hearing. While it prevents the commission from putting the order into effect, it also provides that Chicago and North Western and Peoria and Pekin Union railways shall not pay the $1.05 per car rebate for switching service performed by Keystone in its plant until the final hearing is held.

WHEAT CLOSES UNCHANGED; CORN GAINS FULL CENT

Crop Damage Reports Aid Yellow Cereal.

Wheat Board Named

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Premier R. B. Bennett today announced the personnel of the new wheat board. The three members will be John I. McFarland, chairman; D. L. Smith, vice chairman, and H. C. Grant. All come from Winnipeg. The board will control Canada's wheat marketing policies, superseding the old pool which pegged prices well above the world level for many months.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

After a day of quiet trading wheat closed in the Chicago market yesterday at the same price at which it ended the preceding day. It was one of those rare occasions in which the final quotations on all futures failed to show a net change of as much as an eighth of a cent a bushel.

In the corn pit prices were bid up a cent a bushel on all contracts on the strength of the news from the western part of the corn belt telling of marked deterioration resulting from excessively hot weather and a dearth of rainfall. The five states in which outlook for the crop is the least promising are Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and South Dakota. Complaints of inadequate rainfall are also coming in from some sections of Iowa.

Illinois Outlook Excellent.

Conditions and prospects for corn throughout Illinois are excellent. The Indiana crop outlook is similarly favorable. The department of agriculture's Aug. 1 estimate of a probable corn harvest of 2,272 million bushels may undergo some change because of the condition in the western part of the belt, according to observers.

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$ .88⅞	$ .88⅞	$ .92⅜
Corn	.56⅜	.55⅝	.59⅜
Oats	.28¼	.28¼	.32⅛
Rye	.43⅞	.43½	.47

Brokers reported a moderate amount of hedging in the wheat pit, but this pressure was offset by speculative buying. The character of the news was not such as to induce a decisive trend in either direction.

Await Canadian Policy.

The trade is now awaiting a clarification of the Canadian wheat marketing policy.

With her big wheat carry over and the unfavorable condition of crops in Argentina and Australia, Canada stands in a strategic position in the export market this season.

Ordinarily, because of the big tariff on imports, the course of Canadian prices would have little effect in this country. This season, however, the United States is likely to draw on Canada for substantial supplies.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Fresh eggs were in fair supply yesterday and the market was steady. Receipts were 9,668 cases. Butter was unchanged to ¼c per lb higher. Receipts were 10,576 tubs. Potato trading was slow with the market steady. Receipts were 40 cars with 161 cars on team track. Live poultry was generally higher. Receipts were 1 car and 24 trucks.

PORK PRICE HERE HITS 5 YEAR TOP; LOINS REACH $30

Hogs Gain in Sympathy; Cattle Mixed.

Pork prices in the Chicago area yesterday rose to the highest levels in five years, and $1 to $2 per hundred pounds over top quotations at the leading distributing points in the east, where consumer agitation against advancing costs of food is holding meat prices in check. Top pork loins sold wholesale here at $30 per hundred pounds, compared with a high of $28 in New York, where the recent boycott of beef originated.

Influenced partly by higher pork prices, but more by the supply situation, the market for hogs here was steady to 10 cents higher yesterday. A larger proportion of the supply reached the $14.45 top, paid for four carloads of six to eight months old hogs averaging 197 to 208 pounds, including the processing tax.

Average Sets New High.

The average for the session at $13.50 set a new high for the last nine years, comparing with $11.55 a month ago and with $9.80 at the opening of the year.

A feature of the trade was the shipment of 132 prime 386 pound butchers from one farm. They made a total weight of over 25 tons and sold to Wilson & Co. at a total of $6,776, including $1,146 in processing taxes.

Further advances of 25 cents were scored in the market for fat steers, while plainer classes dragged at weaker prices, the spread between common and best grades reaching the widest point in several weeks.

Top Steers Sell at $12.60.

Three carloads of 1,230 to 1,254 pound steers reached $12.60, the highest since July 2, while some 1,099 pound averages sold up to $12.40 and 912 pound yearlings reached $12.10.

Best beef cows closed stronger after a weak start. Fed hefers were strong to 25 cents higher, plain grassy kinds meeting slow sale at barely steady rates. Canners and cutters were little changed. Calves sold steady and bulls weak to slightly lower.

Lambs maintained a steady tone, packers and city butchers paying up to $9 for a few lots of closely sorted ewe and wether natives, with the buck lambs going at $8 and under and culls around $7.
